Performance Overview

Mr. R. S. Jalan,
Managing Director

"Despite the persistent softness in global soda ash prices driven by an oversupply situation, particularly from international markets like US, Europe and now China, GHCL has demonstrated remarkable resilience. While realisations have faced pressure, our strategic focus on operational efficiencies, cost optimization, and a strong domestic demand base, has enabled us to protect our margins and sustain profitability. We anticipate macro uncertainty to impact the global soda ash markets and prices may remain volatile. We remain firmly committed to leveraging India's robust long-term demand growth, including from emerging applications like solar glass, lithium carbonate for EV batteries, as we progress with our diversification and growth initiatives."

Bromine plant construction progressing rapidly; to be commissioned by H2 FY26. Evaluating opportunities in bromine derivatives

Relentless focus on cost optimization and best-in-class productivity, solidifying operational leadership

Soda Ash plant running at industry leading utilization levels with deep focus on operational efficiency and process innovation amid a soft pricing environment

- Indian industry is impacted with increased imports and softer realizations. This has adversely impacted our revenues for the quarter.
- Better operating leverage combined with operational excellence has helped to maintain healthy EBITDA margins.
- The Minimum Import Price (MIP) which was initially imposed until June 30, 2025, has now been extended until December 31, 2025. This indicates Government's continued focus on protecting the domestic industry
