SOLAR POWER

Introduction

Solar energy has been harnessed by humans since ancient times using a range of ever-evolving technologies. Solar energy technologies include solar heating, solar photovoltaic's, solar thermal electricity, solar architecture and artificial photosynthesis, which can make considerable contributions to solving some of the most urgent energy problems the world now faces. By adopting Photovoltaic route which converts solar energy in to electricity that can be used for a myriad purposes such as lighting, pumping and generation of electricity. With its pollution free nature, virtually inexhaustible supply and global distribution - solar energy is very attractive energy resource. According to the report of the International Energy Agency "the development of affordable, inexhaustible and clean solar energy technologies will have huge longer-term benefits. It will increase countries' energy security through reliance on an indigenous, inexhaustible and mostly import-independent resource, enhance sustainability, reduce pollution, lower the costs of mitigating climate change, and keep fossil fuel prices lower than otherwise. These advantages are global. Hence the additional costs of the incentives for early deployment should be considered learning investments; they must be wisely spent and need to be widely shared.

Industry Analysis

With its abundance of sunlight, India has tremendous potential to emerge as one of the leaders in solar power generation. Since the 1980s the government has taken various initiatives for developing of the country's vast indigenous renewable energy resources. According to the Government of India's policy for the solar sector - Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (JNNSM) - a target of 20 GW of solar installations by 2022 has been set. Under the plan, the use of solar-powered equipment and applications would be made compulsory in all government buildings, as well as hospitals and hotels. On 18 November 2009, it was reported that India was ready to launch its National Solar Mission under the National Action Plan on Climate Change, with plans to generate 1,000 MW of power by 2013. In comparison, the hydrocarbon demand growth rate is 0-2% per annum. This high growth rate in solar energy is due to many reasons - increasing cost of petroleum products and the parallel decreasing cost of producing power from solar, and a concern world over on the harmful effects of using fossil fuels. In India, the high GDP growth rate has created a huge demand for energy, but the supply is unable to match the demand. The total installed capacity of power as of January 2012 is 187 GW. The per capita total consumption is 778 kWh. The estimated shortage of power in India is about 20 GW.

Solar Energy Power Plants using Photovoltaic Technology is gathering momentum in India due to deeper penetration in understanding of the Technology and support of the Government policies. The Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (also known as the National Solar Mission) is a major initiative of the Government of India and State Governments to promote ecologically sustainable growth while addressing India's energy security challenges. The Mission is one of the several initiatives that are part of National Action Plan on Climate Change. The program was officially inaugurated by Prime Minister of India. Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) has formulated a scheme on financing of Photovoltaic and Thermal applications as part of the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission (JNNSM). Under the scheme, banks may extend subsidised loans to entrepreneurs at interest rates not exceeding five per cent where refinance of two per cent from Government of India is available.

Blessed with 300 sunny days in a year and receiving an average hourly radiation of 200 MW/Sq km, India's theoretical solar power reception, on only its land area, is about 5 Petawatt-hours per year (PWh/yr) (i.e. 5 trillion kWh/yr or about 600 TW). The daily average solar energy incident over India varies from 4 to 7 kWh/m² with about 1500-2000 sunshine hours per year (depending upon location), which is far more than current total energy consumption.

The total solar power installed capacity in India stands at 1.686 GW as of 31st March 2013 out of a total of 28 GW of renewable power installed capacity (Source MNRE). For the growth of the Solar industry the National Solar Mission (NSM) has laid out an ambitious goal to make India the global leader in solar energy, and plans to develop capacity of 20 GW by 2020.

The government of India is promoting the use of solar energy through various strategies. In the budget for 2010/11, the government has announced an allocation of ₹.10 billion (US$199.5 million) towards the Jawaharlal Nehru National Solar Mission and the establishment of a clean energy fund. This new budget has also encouraged private solar companies by reducing customs duty on solar panels by 5% and exempting excise duty on solar photovoltaic panels. This is expected to reduce the cost of a roof-top solar panel installation by 15-20%. Additionally, the government has initiated a Renewable Energy Certificate (REC) scheme, which is designed to drive investment in low-carbon energy projects. The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) provides 70 percent subsidy on the installation cost of a solar photovoltaic power plant in North-East states and 30 percentage subsidy on other regions. The detailed outlay of the National Solar Mission highlights various targets set by the government to increase solar energy in the country's energy portfolio.

Power Shortage: As the country emerges as a global economic powerhouse, with a growing population expected to reach 1.47 billion by 2030, its energy consumption will increase substantially. Unfortunately, current energy supply cannot keep up with growing demand. Rolling power cuts from energy deficits already reach 9 percent in the electricity sector. This current lack of capacity excludes the 400 million Indians who have no access to modern electricity at all. With rapidly urbanizing cities demanding more power, renewable energy including solar is critical to provide electricity while reducing dependence on imported fuels and combating climate change.

Over 40% of the country's population is yet to receive energy access. Therefore, Rural electrification will be a major thrust area under the Rajiv Gandhi Grameen Viduyutikaran Yojana for rural transmission. The Ministry has planned to cover about 10,000 villages from biomass-based systems and over 1000 villages from solar power up to 2022 thereby offering huge investment opportunity for the investors.

Business Outlook:

The company will continue manufacturing of the solar panels for off-grid application at Hardware Park. However the main focus of the company will be on the installation of Solar Power Projects in different parts of the country depending upon the Solar Policies of different State Governments, JNNSM and under REC Mechanism

Solar Power Projects situated at Charnaka Village, Gujarat is operating Successfully. The Solar Power Project working at Capacity Utilisation Factor (CUF) of 18% and the climatic condition in Gujarat are favourable for solar power generation. The Company is planning to install another project of 5 MW capacity through its subsidiary M/s Surana Solar Systems Private Limited in the state of Andhra Pradesh and also participating in various RFP issued under JNNSM and other State Government Schemes.

WIND POWER GENERATION:

Introduction

The Commercial wind power generation in India began in the 1980s. India is the 3rd largest annual wind power market in the world, and provides great business opportunities for both domestic and foreign investors. Today India is a major player in the Global wind Energy Market. As of 31 March 2013 the installed capacity of wind power in India is 1+0512.50 MW, mainly spread across Tamil Nadu (7154 MW), Maharashtra (2976.00 MW), Gujarat (3093 MW), Karnataka (2113 MW), Rajasthan (2355 MW), Madhya Pradesh (386 MW), Andhra Pradesh (435 MW), Kerala (35.1 MW), Orissa (2MW), West Bengal (1.1 MW) and other states (3.20 MW). It is estimated that 6,000 MW of additional wind power capacity will be installed in India by 2014. Wind power accounts for 6% of India's total installed power capacity, and it generates 1.6% of the country's power. Indian Wind Energy Association has estimated that with the current level of technology, the 'on-shore' potential for utilization of wind energy for electricity generation is of the order of 102 GW. The unexploited resource availability has the potential to sustain the growth of wind energy sector in India in the years to come.

The wind energy sector expects to add 3000 MW in 2013, compared with 840 MW in the first half of last year. The Ministry has decided to permit the installation of a limited number of prototype wind turbines to facilitate indigenization and encourage national industry.

Industry Analysis

According to the report of the Indian Wind Energy Outlook, 2012 despite a slowing global economy, India's electricity demand continued to rise. Electricity shortages are common, and over 40% of the population has no access to modern energy services. Interestingly more than 95 percent of the nation's wind energy development to date is concentrated in just five states in southern and western India – Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Maharashtra, and Gujarat. India's electricity demand is projected to more than triple between 2005 and 2030. In the recently released National Electricity Plan (2012) the Central electricity Authority projected the need for 350-360 GW of total generation capacity by 2022. Despite major capacity additions over recent decades, power supply struggles to keep up with demand. Wind power which has witnessed a phenomenal growth in India. India had another record year of new wind energy installations between January and December 2011, installing more than 3 GW of new capacity for the first time to reach a total of 16,084 MW. . As of march 2012, renewable energy accounted for 12.2 percent of total installed capacity, up from 2 percent in 1995. Wind power accounts for about 70 percent of this installed capacity by the end of August 2012, wind power installations in India had reached 17.9GW1.

Under the New Policies Scenario of the World energy outlook (2011), total power capacity in India would reach 779 GW in 2035. The largest addition per year up to now was nearly 18 GW during fiscal year 2011-2012. During fiscal year 2011-2012 wind energy alone delivered over 3GW to India's new installed capacity, accounting for over 16.5 percent of total new installed capacity. Historically, wind energy has met and often exceeded the targets set for it under both the 10th Plan (2002-2007) and 11th Plan (2007-2012) periods. During the 10th Plan period the target set was of 1,500 MW whereas the actual installations were 5,427 MW. Similarly during the 11th Plan period the revised target was for 9,000 MW and the actual installations were much higher at 10,260 MW. The report of the sub-group for wind power development appointed by the ministry of New and renewable energy to develop the approach paper for the 12th Plan period (April 2012 to march 2017) fixed a reference target of 15,000 MW in new capacity additions, and an aspirational target of 25,000 MW.

However, for India to reach its potential and to boost the necessary investment in renewable energy it will be essential to introduce comprehensive, stable and long-term support policies to ensure that they operate in harmony with existing state level mechanisms so as to avoid reducing their effectiveness. In a positive development the ministry of New and renewable energy (MNRE), has now signed a memorandum of Understanding with the Lawrence Berkeley Lab to collaborate on several issues related to the estimation of wind resource potential and grid integration. The Government is looking to prepare a time-bound action plan for development of offshore wind energy, especially in the coastal states of Andhra Pradesh, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Odisha, Kerala, Karnataka, West Bengal and Tamil Nadu.

Business Outlook

The Company currently has an installed capacity 1.25 MW at Kapatguda in the state of Karnataka. The Company is exploring the possibility of adding further capacity of 20MW through Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV) or Joint Venture (JV) route.

The Company's employee benefits primarily cover provident fund, gratuity and leave encashment

Provident fund is a defined contribution scheme and the company has no further obligation beyond the contribution made to the fund. Contributions are charged to the Profit & Loss account in the year in which they accrue.

Gratuity liability is a defined benefit obligation and is based on the actuarial valuation done by the Life Insurance Corporation of India. The gratuity liability and the net periodic gratuity cost is actually determined after considering discounting rates, expected long term return on plan assets and increase in compensation level. All actuarial gain/losses are immediately charged to the Profit & Loss account and are not deferred.

Green Initiative in Corporate Governance: Go Paper Less

The Ministry of Corporate Affairs has come up with a Green Initiative of permitting the service of documents including Annual Reports to the Shareholders through e-mail or other permissible electronic modes instead of physical mode vide its Circular No. 17/2011 dated 21 April 2011. This is certainly a welcome move for the society at large as this will reduce paper consumption to a great extent and allow all stakeholders to contribute towards a Greener Environment. To support this green initiative, members who have not registered their e-mail addresses, so far, are requested to register their e-mail addresses, in respect of electronic holdings with the Depository through their concerned Depository Participants. Members who hold shares in physical form are requested to fill the appropriate column in the members e-mail registration form and register the same with Karvy Computershare Private Limited.
