Driving Sustainable Energy Solutions for a Resilient Future

India's energy sector stands on the cusp of a historic transformation. Ambitious targets such as 500 GW of non-fossil capacity by 2030, coupled with initiatives like the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS) and Smart Meter National Programme, are reshaping how power is produced, delivered, and consumed. At the heart of this shift lies a commitment to sustainability, self-reliance, and equitable access to energy.

RMC Switchgears has consistently aligned itself with these national priorities, evolving beyond its traditional electrical enclosures business into a holistic, innovation-driven energy solutions provider. We are engineering tomorrow by building capabilities across Solar EPC, innovative infrastructure, advanced electrical products, and backwards-integrated manufacturing. Our integrated solar module and mounting structure facility will add significant resilience and efficiency to our projects. Meanwhile, our innovative, IoT-enabled products are designed to future-proof distribution networks and empower customers with actionable energy insights.

In FY25, we achieved key milestones that validate our strategic approach. From securing prestigious rooftop solar orders and large underground cabling projects in Gujarat to establishing a strong pipeline in transformers and feeder pillars, RMC has demonstrated both its technical strength and market trust. Furthermore, our investments in the Solar Module Manufacturing Plant and the incorporation of new subsidiaries reflect our commitment to vertical integration and value chain resilience, two vital pillars for sustainable growth in a dynamic market.

As we look ahead, our focus will be on scaling our smart grid capabilities, expanding renewable capacity, and developing new-age energy systems that support India's clean energy ambitions. Our profound commitment to good governance, stakeholder inclusivity, and a culture of continuous innovation will underpin this.

We believe that engineering tomorrow is not just about adopting new technologies, but about empowering change and bringing sustainable, intelligent, and impactful energy solutions to communities, industries, and the nation at large. By staying true to these values, RMC Switchgears will continue to be a trusted partner in India's green growth journey, building a future that is cleaner, smarter, and more resilient for generations to come.

Letter from the Chairman's Desk

Reflecting on FY2025 - A Year of Consolidation and Strategic Progress

Mr. Ashok Kumar Agrawal,
Chairman & Managing Director

Dear Shareholders,

I hope this letter finds you in good health and high spirits. As we close the financial year 2024–2025, I take this opportunity to share with you our reflections on the year that has passed, the progress we have made across key business segments, and the direction we are setting for the future. It has been a year of consolidation and capacity building, where strategic intent has taken tangible shape and set the stage for scale, sustainability, and stakeholder value creation.

A Year of Meaningful Growth

FY2025 was marked by significant financial and operational progress. Our consolidated revenues grew 84% year-on-year, reaching ₹318.2 crore, compared to ₹172.6 crore in FY2024. Profit after tax more than doubled, growing 111% to ₹31.5 crore, and Earnings per Share (EPS) rose to ₹30.31, a strong indicator of improved profitability and return potential. While gross margins stood at 29.8% – reflecting a change in revenue mix – EBITDA margin remained healthy at 16.7%, underpinned by better operating leverage and improved cost efficiencies.

We view these numbers not just as a sign of strong demand or project execution, but also as a reflection of a more balanced and strategically diversified business model. FY2025 represented a turning point in RMC's growth trajectory – one where we matured into a full-spectrum, multi-vertical utility infrastructure Company.

Widening Our Horizons – From Enclosures to Energy Solutions

Historically known for our expertise in electrical enclosures, we are now becoming a platform that delivers integrated infrastructure solutions in energy, smart metering, electrification, and clean energy. This evolution is anchored in four operating verticals:

Electrical Products, Electrical EPC, Solar EPC, and Solar Products.

Each vertical has shown promise and delivered milestones this year. On the product side, our meter box and low-voltage enclosure segment continued to expand, aided by policy tailwinds from the national smart meter rollout. On the EPC front, we secured several large orders, including:

- Rooftop solar EPC order worth ₹320 crore, including ₹91 crore of O&M contracts
- ₹108 crore cabling and RMU order from Gujarat
- MAHAGenco's 46+17 MW EPC order under the MSKVY 2.0 scheme

Importantly, we laid the foundation for the next wave of growth with the Bhoomi Poojan of our 1 GW Solar Module Plant and incorporated two key subsidiaries: RMC Solar One Pvt. Ltd. and RMC Green Energy Pvt. Ltd. These moves are not merely expansions – they reflect a shift in how we think about vertical integration, clean energy leadership, and scalable innovation.

A More Resilient Financial Position

Beyond topline expansion, FY2025 was also about fortifying our balance sheet. Our shareholders' equity increased by over ₹46.66 crore, strengthening the financial foundation required for larger projects and upcoming capex. The current ratio stood at 1.77, reflecting healthy liquidity, and our capital efficiency metrics improved across working capital and asset turns.

We continue to exercise prudence in cost control, procurement optimisation, and capital deployment. These principles are critical as we expand into capital-intensive areas, such as solar manufacturing and infrastructure EPC.

Sustainability, Governance, and Purpose

At RMC, growth without purpose is never our goal. We are deeply aware of the responsibility we carry as contributors to India's energy transition and infrastructure development. Our investments in solar capacity, including rooftop, on-grid, and smart hybrid systems, are aligned with India's renewable energy targets and the broader national mission of achieving energy access, efficiency, and electrification.

We also advanced our Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) journey in small but meaningful ways – expanding our solar footprint, incorporating clean-tech subsidiaries, and introducing more responsible practices across procurement and waste handling. Our CSR programme, focused on developing rural schools in Chaksu, continues to grow and positively impact lives in tangible ways.

During the year, we mourned the passing of Mr. Kuljit Singh Popli, who served as an independent director from July 2024 to April 2025. Mr. Popli was a distinguished leader in India's renewable energy sector, bringing deep insight, clarity, and commitment to our Board. His guidance helped shape our early steps into the clean energy space, and his legacy will endure in the vision we carry forward.

Setting the Stage for the Next Phase

Looking ahead, our strategic roadmap is firmly grounded in three key pillars: growth, governance, and green energy. By FY2030, we aim to scale our revenue to ₹5,000 crore – a goal that will be enabled by expanding our solar capacity, participating in large infrastructure bids, and deepening our relationships with utility clients across power and water.

For FY2026, our priorities include commissioning the solar module plant, increasing contributions from EPC orders, and expanding our market share in metering and distribution infrastructure. Our technology investments, especially in IoT-based solutions, smart enclosures, and integrated SCADA systems, will support the long-term goal of becoming a full-stack provider of infrastructure-grade solutions.

None of this would be possible without your support. We remain deeply grateful to our investors, employees, customers, and partners. Thank you for believing in our mission – and walking with us as we reimagine what it means to be a utility infrastructure Company in India.

Warm regards,
Chairman & Managing Director

In conversation with Ankit Agrawal, Wholetime Director & CEO

Mr. Ankit Agrawal,
Whole-time Director & CEO

Q1. RMC has expanded significantly across verticals in recent years. What is the long-term strategic vision for this diversified business model?

Over the last few years, we have evolved from a niche enclosure manufacturer into a vertically integrated infrastructure player serving the electrical, solar, and utility segments. The vision behind this transformation is to future-proof our growth and align ourselves with India's broader infrastructure and energy transition journey. Our goal is to become a one-stop solutions provider for the utility ecosystem – whether that means smart metering infrastructure, solar EPC and modules, or intelligent switchgear and automation. We see enormous synergies across these business lines, especially in engineering, execution and systems integration. Looking ahead, our strategic direction is to strengthen backwards integration, digital capabilities, and product-IP creation, while selectively scaling execution-led verticals. We expect the product business – both electrical and solar – to account for a significant share of our revenue mix by FY2030. However, our EPC business will remain crucial in establishing market reach, building scale and delivering turnkey solutions.

Q2. Could you elaborate on the growth potential and margin profile of each business segment? How do you see this evolving?

Each of our four business verticals offers a unique combination of growth opportunity and margin characteristics. Our electrical products segment, built around enclosures and smart meter housings, is a high-margin and high-volume business, particularly in the context of India's ongoing smart meter rollout. This segment benefits from proprietary tooling, standardisation, and economies of scale.

The solar products segment, led by our upcoming solar module plant, remains in its early stages. However, once operational, we expect it to be margin accretive due to its manufacturing nature, provided we maintain discipline in technology selection, operating efficiency, and market positioning. Our EPC businesses – both solar and electrical – are relatively lower-margin but offer strong growth potential and visibility. They help us gain strategic footholds in utility tenders and build long-term client relationships.

In the next 3–5 years, we anticipate a gradual shift in our revenue composition, with product segments contributing 55–60% of the overall topline, and EPC comprising the rest. This shift is also expected to enhance our blended EBITDA margins.

Q3. The Company has been vocal about its ₹5,000 crore topline vision by FY2030. What are the key building blocks to achieve this?

Indeed, our Vision 2030 centres on achieving a ₹5,000 crore topline while maintaining financial prudence and a disciplined return on capital. To achieve this, we have identified five core levers:

- 1) Capacity expansion in electrical and solar product manufacturing;
- 2) Forward integration into grid and smart infrastructure technologies;
- 3) Deepening presence in utility EPC and strategic infrastructure projects;
- 4) Entry into adjacent sectors like water infrastructure with scalable models;

- 5) Strengthening digital platforms, analytics, and internal governance.

Our growth approach is calibrated. We are investing not just in physical capacity, but in systems, people and partnerships that will help us scale responsibly. The 1 GW solar module plant is one such cornerstone. It not only diversifies our portfolio but also offers recurring product revenue with national and export potential.

Q4. Given the capex cycles and industry shifts, how do you expect the demand environment to evolve for RMC's offerings?

We are structurally positive on the medium- to long-term demand environment. India's infrastructure cycle is now broad-based, covering power, renewables, distribution reforms, and digital utility platforms. All of these require high-quality, scalable solutions – exactly where RMC is positioning itself. For instance, in smart metering, over 220 million meters have already been awarded, and we are seeing increased demand for metering enclosures and AMI-ready solutions. Similarly, state DISCOMs and central agencies are launching integrated tenders involving RMUs, cabling, and energy management – areas where we have a competitive edge. On the solar side, we anticipate continued traction in rooftop and public sector EPC, supported by government programmes like PM-Surya Ghar and MSKVY 2.0. Our solar module plant is also expected to benefit from domestic manufacturing incentives. Across all verticals, customer preference is shifting from lowest-cost vendors to integrated, quality-first players – and that is a long-term tailwind for us.

Q5. What message would you like to give to shareholders?

Our focus remains on delivering quality growth that translates into long-term value creation for our stakeholders. We have scaled from a ₹40 crore company to over ₹300 crore in less than a decade, while maintaining a strong balance sheet and discipline on execution. Along the way, we are investing in people, in governance, and in building an institution that can stand the test of time. We are grateful to our shareholders for their faith in our vision, and we continue to work diligently every day to justify that trust with strategic clarity, financial prudence, and operational excellence.

Our Business Verticals Snapshot

At RMC Switchgears Limited, our diversified business model is built on four complementary verticals, each designed to serve India's growing infrastructure and clean energy needs while creating stakeholder value through innovation, quality, and execution excellence.

Business Verticals

1. Electrical Products

Rooted in our legacy expertise, these vertical manufacturers offer robust electrical enclosures, smart meter boxes, feeder pillars, distribution boxes, and polycarbonate and SMC-based solutions. These products are engineered to meet the demanding industry standards for safety, durability, and performance, serving utilities, smart metering projects, and large EPC contractors across the nation. As India modernises its distribution networks, our products continue to support improved energy access and reliable power delivery.

2. Electrical EPC

Our Electrical EPC vertical provides turnkey solutions for modernising urban and rural power infrastructure. This includes underground cabling, Ring Main Units (RMUs), feeder pillar installation, and complete substation development. With a strong focus on delivering projects under schemes such as the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS) and the Integrated Power Development Scheme (IPDS), this vertical enables RMC to enhance distribution efficiency and reduce transmission losses, thereby directly supporting India's push for reliable and resilient power grids.

3. Solar EPC

Aligned with India's mission to scale non-fossil fuel capacity to 500 GW by 2030, our Solar EPC vertical is emerging as a critical growth engine. We execute grid-connected rooftop and ground-mounted solar projects, as well as solarisation of agricultural feeders under schemes such as PM-KUSUM, and IPP (Independent Power Producer) projects. By combining our execution capabilities with a dedicated project management team, RMC is positioned to deliver integrated renewable energy solutions with maximum impact, including operations and maintenance contracts that ensure long-term performance.

4. Solar Products

Our Solar Products vertical is set to reinforce backwards integration through in-house manufacturing. Marketplace

The market in which we operate

India entered FY26 with strong macroeconomic fundamentals, retaining its position as the fastest-growing major economy in the world. GDP grew by 6.5% in FY25, driven by resilient domestic demand, rural consumption, and infrastructure investment. The Reserve Bank of India projects 6.5% growth for FY26, with quarterly momentum expected between 6.5% and 6.7%. Improved liquidity and robust credit flow to housing, durables, and infrastructure sectors are expected to sustain this pace. Echoing this optimism, the World Bank forecasts India's growth at 6.3% in 2025 and 6.5% in 2026, reinforcing confidence in the country's medium-term economic trajectory.

SMART METER ROLLOUT

Opportunity:

The Government of India's nationwide smart meter rollout is a cornerstone initiative under the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS), aimed at reducing AT&C losses, enabling real-time consumption monitoring, and driving energy efficiency through improved billing accuracy and transparency. As of May 2025, contracts for over 223 million smart meters have been awarded, and more than 30 million meters have already been installed nationwide, making it one of the most extensive smart metering programmes globally.

RMC's Response:

RMC is strategically positioned to support this transformation by ramping up the production of smart meter enclosures—an essential component for safeguarding metering infrastructure in diverse and demanding field conditions. These enclosures ensure not only physical protection but also seamless meter performance in both urban and rural deployments. Through consistent quality, capacity enhancement, and industry-specific design innovation, RMC continues to play a vital role in enabling India's transition to an intelligent and digitally empowered power distribution ecosystem.

TRANSMISSION INFRASTRUCTURE EXPANSION

Opportunity:

India's transmission sector is entering a high-growth phase, catalysed by sustained power demand and the accelerated addition of renewable energy capacity. With annual electricity consumption rising over 7% and the government targeting 450 GW of renewable energy capacity by 2030, transmission infrastructure has become increasingly essential to ensure grid stability and efficiency. This expansion is crucial to meet the increasing energy demands of the industrial, commercial, and residential sectors, as well as to facilitate the seamless integration of renewable sources into the national grid.

RMC's Response:

RMC is aligning its capabilities to capture emerging opportunities in this evolving transmission landscape. The Company is actively participating in tenders for underground cabling, feeder pillars, and related electrical infrastructure that support last-mile connectivity and distribution reliability, essential components of the grid-scale transmission ecosystem. With its expertise in enclosure solutions and electrical EPC execution, RMC is well-positioned to play a significant role in enabling transmission and distribution upgrades, particularly in urban and renewable energy-intensive areas. By combining product innovation with EPC execution capabilities, RMC is ready to contribute to India's grid resilience and energy transition goals.

GREEN ENERGY TRANSITION

Opportunity:

India is rapidly transforming its energy landscape, aiming to balance rising demand with long-term sustainability. As per EY, electricity demand is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.4% through FY2047, with renewable energy poised to make up over 85% of installed capacity by then. Solar energy, in particular, is set to become the dominant source, accounting for nearly 38% of India's power mix. The government's push for electrification across sectors—including transport, industry, and households—along with supportive initiatives in green hydrogen, smart grids, and energy storage, is expected to unlock massive investment and infrastructure opportunities.

RMC's Response:

RMC Switchgears is fully aligned with India's green energy ambitions and is proactively expanding its presence across the solar energy value chain. Through its dedicated verticals in Solar EPC and Solar Product Manufacturing, RMC is developing capabilities to deliver utility-scale, rooftop, and distributed solar infrastructure. The Company has initiated the development of a state-of-the-art solar module manufacturing facility, which will further strengthen backwards integration and reduce supply dependence. With robust execution capabilities, technology adoption, and a proven track record in clean energy projects, RMC is strategically positioned to capitalise on the country's energy transition and contribute meaningfully to its decarbonisation journey.

END-TO-END SOLAR DEPLOYMENT

Opportunity:

India's clean energy transition is gaining unprecedented momentum, with solar energy expected to form the backbone of the future power mix. According to EY, solar energy is expected to account for nearly 38% of India's power capacity by FY2047. The government's continued push through schemes such as PM-KUSUM, RDSS, and rooftop solar programmes has driven strong demand across utility-scale, agricultural, and residential segments. With the electrification of the industry and transportation sectors underway, the need for reliable solar infrastructure is expected to surge, creating sustained opportunities for experienced EPC players.

RMC's Response:

RMC Switchgears has made significant strides in solar EPC over the past year, executing complex, large-scale projects across geographies. The Company was awarded a ₹320 crore rooftop solar EPC contract, one of the largest in the segment, along with a ₹50 crore MAHAGENCO order under the MSKVY 2.0 scheme. With a focus on quality execution, O&M capability, and energy performance optimisation, RMC is building a strong track record in solar EPC. The Company continues to expand its project pipeline by participating in multiple tenders under various government schemes, thereby deepening its presence in this high-growth vertical.

SOLAR MODULE MANUFACTURING

Opportunity:

India's push for energy self-reliance and the rising demand for domestic solar modules have opened up a vast manufacturing opportunity. The sector is supported by policy initiatives, including the Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme and a Basic Customs Duty (BCD) on imported modules. According to government estimates, India needs to add over 30–40 GW of solar capacity annually to stay on track for its 500 GW non-fossil target by 2030, resulting in significant demand for high-quality solar panels, inverters, and balance-of-system components.

RMC's Response:

To support India's manufacturing ambitions and integrate its solar offerings, RMC is setting up a state-of-the-art 1 GW solar module manufacturing facility at Chaksu. The plant will be equipped to produce high-efficiency mono-PERC modules and is expected to commence production in FY26. This backwards integration enhances cost competitiveness and supply chain control while opening new revenue streams. The facility is being developed with scalable infrastructure, allowing expansion into cells and other solar components in future phases. RMC's entry into module manufacturing strengthens its position as a comprehensive, vertically integrated provider of clean energy solutions.

Model

Our business model canvas

At RMC Switchgears Ltd., our business model has undergone significant evolution in response to India's rapid energy transformation and infrastructure development. In this Annual Report, we continue to utilise the globally recognised Business Model Canvas framework, developed by Alexander Osterwalder and Yves Pigneur, to describe our operations and strategic direction. This model encapsulates the synergy between our capabilities, partnerships, innovation focus, and customer-centric execution as we operate across four core business verticals: Electrical Products, Electrical EPC, Solar EPC, and Solar Products.

Key Partners: RMC

Strategic partnerships remain at the core of our success. We work closely with government agencies, power distribution companies (DISCOMs), public sector undertakings, and central nodal bodies under national schemes, including RDSS, PM-KUSUM, and MSKVY. These relationships, built over years of credible project execution, enable us to access large-scale opportunities across both the energy access and renewable segments. Additionally, we collaborate with EPC contractors, utility-scale developers, and emerging technology providers to bring integrated infrastructure solutions to market. In FY25, RMC further reinforced its ecosystem through MoUs with technology-focused international players, reflecting our commitment to long-term capability building.

Key Activities : The core

Our key activities span four integrated domains. The Electrical Products division manufactures high-durability enclosures, meter boxes, and SMC-based systems tailored to India's rugged operational environments. The Electrical EPC vertical is responsible for turnkey delivery of power distribution projects, including underground cabling, RMU-based automation, and smart metering infrastructure. Our Solar EPC business is a fast-growing arm, offering design, installation, and operations of rooftop and ground-mounted solar projects for public and private clients. Complementing this, the Solar Products division—anchored by a 1 GW solar module manufacturing facility under development—will contribute meaningfully from FY26 onward. Beyond these, we have initiated pilots in smart water management infrastructure, signalling a strategic pivot toward IoT-enabled multi-utility solutions.

Key Resources:

Our primary resources include a fully integrated 90,000 sq. m. manufacturing facility in Chaksu, Rajasthan. This plant supports in-house compounding, moulding, metal fabrication, and custom tooling, giving us design flexibility and speed. A significant amount of capital expenditure has been initiated to build solar module lines, enhancing our backwards integration. Our skilled workforce, research teams, and digitised project execution infrastructure are vital resources, supporting both volume scalability and innovation-led growth.

Value Propositions:

RMC's value proposition lies in delivering reliable, high-quality, and field-tested products that meet India's evolving infrastructure demands. Our electrical products are certified for durability and safety, while our EPC execution is defined by timeliness and compliance. The smart metering and solar verticals deliver digital and clean energy solutions that support utilities in reducing technical losses and meeting sustainability goals. Additionally, our solutions are designed for local conditions—resilient against climate, theft, and usage volatility—making them ideal for wide-scale deployment across states.

Customer Relationships:

We maintain strong relationships with clients through performance-linked contracts, long-term operations and maintenance (O&M) agreements, and responsive support. In many projects, we co-develop or customise solutions in consultation with state utilities and departments. This participatory model enhances trust and ensures relevance to on-ground challenges. Moreover, our increasing presence at national forums, such as ELECRAMA, has further strengthened customer engagement.

Channels :

Our product and service delivery is channelled through a hybrid approach. Government orders are primarily secured via competitive bidding and empanelment schemes, while private EPC and solar contracts are obtained through direct engagements and integrator tie-ups. In the electrical products segment, regional dealers and OEM partners help us reach decentralised demand. We also utilise

Customer Segments:

Our customer segments are diverse, including government DISCOMs and PSUs for EPC and smart metering, institutional and industrial clients for solar installations, private OEMs and contractors for enclosure products, and regional water and power departments for infrastructure automation. This multi-segment strategy gives us earnings stability and deepens our exposure to long-cycle infrastructure themes.

Cost Structure:

On the cost side, our expenditures are concentrated on raw materials, skilled workforce, logistics, and technical compliance. With a growing share of EPC and smart product integration, the proportion of competent project management and engineering services has increased. Strategic investments in capital expenditures and automation will also be reflected in our cost base in the coming years.

Revenue Streams:

Our revenues are generated across five key sources: the sale of enclosures and electrical products; execution of electrical EPC projects; installation and O&M of solar systems; supply of solar modules (starting FY26); and the sale of intelligent infrastructure systems, such as meter enclosures and IoT devices. Newer areas, such as water infrastructure and automation, are expected to gain traction over the medium term. With a diversified revenue base and scalable operations, RMC remains well-positioned to capture emerging opportunities across India's utility and infrastructure sectors.

From Boxes to Breakthroughs

How RMC is evolving into an integrated energy solutions company

Over the past three decades, RMC Switchgears Ltd. has charted a path that mirrors India's own infrastructure and energy evolution. What began as a focused enterprise delivering reliable low-voltage enclosures is today transforming into a multifaceted solutions provider for a smarter, greener power ecosystem. FY2025 marked a critical year in this journey – one that reinforced our conviction in vertical integration, infrastructure innovation, and market responsiveness. As we scale across solar EPC, intelligent infrastructure, and clean energy manufacturing, the Company's transformation from a component supplier to a full-spectrum solutions platform is not just a strategic pivot, but a deliberate reinvention of purpose.

Laying the Foundation

The genesis of RMC dates to 1994, when the Company began its operations in a modest 5,000 sq. ft. facility, supplying meter boxes to Original Equipment Manufacturers. Our early orders from state utilities in Rajasthan and Maharashtra paved the way for credibility and scale. By 2008, we had established our Chaksu manufacturing plant and expanded our capabilities to include polycarbonate and SMC enclosures, a move that proved pivotal in increasing our footprint and quality standards.

Over the next decade, RMC deepened its relationship with state distribution companies and began to participate in national electrification programmes. The transition from a supplier to a trusted partner in electrical infrastructure was gradual but intentional. It was this early commitment to safety, reliability, and delivery that earned us the opportunity to participate in the R-APDRP project in Jodhpur in 2014 – our entry point into turnkey execution.

The 2022 Vision Shift

FY2022 marked a turning point in our outlook for the future. The formal adoption of our Vision 2030 – to become a ₹5,000 crore enterprise – was not just about scale but about redefining our role in the national energy narrative. We embedded four verticals into our business model: Electrical Products, Electrical EPC, Solar EPC, and Solar Products. Each of these verticals is anchored in our core strength but designed to meet emerging market demand for integrated, reliable, and scalable energy infrastructure.

From smart meter enclosures and feeder pillars to EPC services for underground cabling and rooftop solar projects, RMC began building a platform, not just a product line. FY2025 saw the execution of marquee projects across sectors, including a ₹320 crore rooftop solar EPC contract and a ₹108 crore underground cabling project from UGVCL. These wins demonstrated not just capability, but institutional trust.

₹320 Cr

Rooftop EPC Order is among the largest in the segment; this order signified market trust in RMC's ability to deliver at scale.

Our Vision 2030 is not only about numbers – it is about becoming indispensable to India's energy transition through vertical integration and capability scale-up.

Backwards integration is not just a cost play – it is a resilience strategy that aligns us with national manufacturing ambitions and long-term energy needs.

The Power of Backwards Integration

The Chaksu plant became the centrepiece of our transformation strategy. With a 90,000 sq. m. footprint and capacity enhancements underway, this facility allowed us to bring compounding, moulding, metal fabrication, and custom tooling under one roof. In FY2025, we took a significant step by performing the Bhoomi Poojan for our 100 crore, 1 GW solar module manufacturing facility – an asset expected to begin operations in FY26.

This move into solar manufacturing aligns us closely with the government's localisation and self-reliance goals under the Production Linked Incentive scheme. It also enables us to secure cost and supply predictability for our EPC operations. More importantly, it places RMC in a unique position to serve both the captive and commercial markets with high-efficiency mono-PERC modules.

Backwards integration into solar manufacturing marks a strategic pivot toward cost control and value chain dominance.

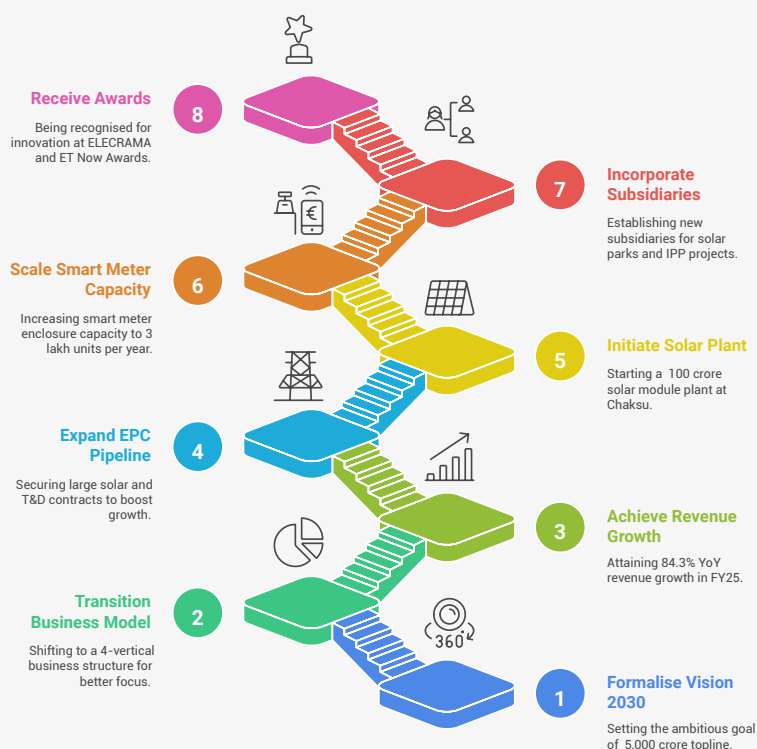

Creating a Platform for the Future

RMC's transition is not about shedding its past but about leveraging it. We are carrying forward our legacy of precision engineering and risk-controlled execution into emerging sectors, including smart metering, intelligent distribution, and green energy deployment. The incorporation of subsidiaries such as RMC Green Energy and RMC Solar One reflects our intention to pursue scale in solar IPPs and advanced infrastructure. FY2025 was also a year of recognition – from participation in ELECRAMA to awards in low-voltage innovation, industry stakeholders validated the direction we are heading in.

As we look to FY2026 and beyond, our focus will be on leveraging our core capabilities to expand margin-accretive product lines, optimise capital allocation, and deepen customer engagement across India's power ecosystem. From boxes to breakthroughs, the journey continues.

We are not reinventing ourselves – we are reapplying our core strengths to a bigger canvas, one that reflects the future of Indian energy.

Smart, Green, and Grounded

Delivering real infrastructure impact across power and energy systems

FY2025 was a year in which national programmes met practical execution, and ambitious energy targets translated into projects on the ground. For RMC Switchgears Ltd., this convergence created opportunities to apply our multi-vertical capabilities to some of India's most urgent infrastructure priorities. Whether it was scaling up the smart metering ecosystem, expanding rooftop solar through record-breaking EPC contracts, or strengthening last-mile power transmission with underground cabling, we stayed focused on delivering systems that work, not just promises. Our strength lies in meeting policy ambitions with practical engineering and timely execution, contributing meaningfully to India's ongoing transition to smarter, greener infrastructure.

We see smart metering as more than hardware – it is about making the infrastructure intelligent, secure, and ready for the next phase of utility reform.

Enabling the Smart Metering Shift

India's power distribution sector is undergoing a quiet but transformative shift, catalysed by the Government's Smart Meter National Programme and Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS). With over 223 million smart meters already contracted and 30 million installed by May 2025, utilities are adopting Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) to reduce losses and improve billing accuracy. However, the shift is not just digital – it is also physical, requiring field-hardened enclosures and infrastructure that can withstand diverse conditions.

This is where RMC has stepped in. Our smart meter enclosures and IoT-enabled LT Distribution Boxes are designed for tamper resistance, network integration, and climate resilience. In FY2025, we expanded our production capacity and secured large orders across key states, including Maharashtra, Uttar Pradesh, and Rajasthan. These products are not peripheral add-ons – they are critical to ensuring the reliability of new digital grid systems.

₹97,631 Cr RDSS Budget

India's largest-ever central investment in power distribution is driving sustained demand for our smart grid solutions.

Expanding Renewable EPC Execution

India's transition to clean energy is gathering pace. Rooftop and decentralised solar systems, once viewed as niche interventions, are now being mainstreamed into state utility operations and agricultural electrification programmes. Under schemes such as PM-KUSUM and MSKVY 2.0, RMC has established itself as a credible EPC partner capable of delivering timely, large-scale execution.

FY2025 saw us secure one of our most prestigious orders to date – a ₹320 crore rooftop solar EPC contract, including a ₹91 crore O&M component. We also executed a 46+17 MW project for MAHAGENCO under MSKVY 2.0. These wins reflect not only the strength of our proposal teams but also the trust placed in us by public sector clients. In each case, our delivery was supported by dedicated project management teams and execution frameworks that ensured safety, quality, and adherence to schedule.

₹320 Cr Rooftop Order Secured

The largest single-value EPC contract in our solar portfolio to date, setting a new benchmark for execution visibility.

Rooftop solar and decentralised energy are no longer pilots – they are critical infrastructure, and we are treating them with the seriousness they deserve.

Strengthening Transmission from the Ground Up

India's transmission infrastructure is being rapidly upgraded to match the rising tide of renewable capacity. With more than 7% annual growth in power demand and the government targeting 450 GW of renewable energy by 2030, the role of underground cabling, RMUs, and feeder automation is now central to grid stability.

RMC's Electrical EPC vertical has kept pace with this shift. A notable achievement in FY2025 was the award of a ₹108 crore project from Uttar Gujarat Vij Company Limited (UGVCL) to modernise its urban distribution network. This included the deployment of Ring Main Units and underground power cabling – both essential for reducing technical losses and improving reliability in densely populated areas.

These projects represent the kind of practical modernisation that must accompany the clean energy transition. Without stable last-mile connectivity, grid-level investments cannot deliver value to the end consumer.

Bridging Policy and Practice

At RMC, we do not view ourselves merely as project executors. We aim to be connectors between policy ambition and engineering implementation. Our deep understanding of government programmes – from RDSS and PM-KUSUM to AMISP model rollouts – helps us tailor proposals and design solutions that meet regulatory, technical, and financial criteria.

FY2025 demonstrated the strength of this approach. Despite complexities in subsidy disbursements, site clearances, and shifting timelines, we delivered consistently. Our growing footprint across state DISCOMs, our alignment with the 'Make in India' mandate through domestic manufacturing, and our increasing participation in technology-led forums like ELECRAMA, all reflect our dual capability – to scale up and to stay grounded.

₹318.16 Cr FY25 Revenue

Reflects strong growth across EPC verticals and sustained conversion of public-sector orders into operational delivery.

Our EPC projects are making the grid not only stronger, but smarter – one feeder, one RMU, and one connection at a time.

What distinguishes us is not just execution capacity, but the ability to understand how policy translates into infrastructure that works – on time and on site.

Manufacturing Strength. Strategic Depth:

Building future-ready infrastructure
through integrated production and design

34.57 sq. m. Plant Area

RMC's flagship facility serves as a fully integrated production hub for its electrical and solar verticals.

Our Chaksu facility is not just a factory – it is a strategic engine designed to integrate innovation, speed, and cost control into every product we deliver.

The Role of PM KUSUM Yojana in Rural Electrification

In a world where speed, resilience, and localisation are defining the future of infrastructure, RMC Switchgears Ltd. has placed manufacturing excellence at the centre of its long-term strategy. Our journey from basic assembly lines to an integrated, precision-driven facility in Chaksu is more than an operational upgrade – it is a foundational shift in how we deliver value. FY2025 was a pivotal year, marked by fresh investments in solar module manufacturing, capacity expansion in key inputs such as SMC, and sharper integration of engineering design and product innovation. At RMC, manufacturing is not just what we do – it is how we scale, adapt, and lead.

Chaksu: The Manufacturing Nucleus

Located near Jaipur, our Chaksu manufacturing facility has evolved into a multi-utility backbone for the Company's electrical and solar verticals. Spanning 90,000 sq. metres, it houses all critical production stages under one roof – from compounding and pultrusion to metal fabrication and custom tooling. This plant is not only large in scale but deeply integrated in function. It enables rapid prototyping, product customisation, and cost efficiencies that enhance both EPC execution and product sales.

In FY2025, we operated the plant at high capacity, with significant output in SMC and polycarbonate enclosures. Strategic capital expenditure was directed towards scaling up SMC production to 15,000 MT per annum by H2 FY2026 – a necessary move as demand from smart meter enclosures, feeder pillars, and solar applications continues to rise. With this scale-up, we are positioning ourselves to serve larger OEMs and government contracts while maintaining control over material quality and delivery timelines.

Backwards Integration with a Forward View

FY2025 marked the formal launch of our ₹100 crore investment into a state-of-the-art, 1 GW solar module and mounting structure manufacturing plant. Located adjacent to our existing Chaksu facility, this new unit is central to our strategy of backwards integration in the clean energy value chain. The plant will produce high-efficiency mono-PERC modules and mounting components that support both our captive EPC requirements and third-party market demand.

Beyond production capability, the new solar manufacturing plant reflects our intent to gain better cost control, reduce import dependency, and participate in the government's Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme. It is also a step toward long-term margin improvement in Solar EPC, where component costs can significantly impact project viability.

Vertical integration is more than an efficiency tool – it is our bridge to value-chain resilience, pricing power, and long-term growth in solar infrastructure.

Designed with scalability in mind, the facility can potentially expand into upstream components such as cells and wafers in future phases, creating room for vertical integration across the entire photovoltaic ecosystem.

1 GW Solar Module Capacity

Engineering Precision for Smart Infrastructure

RMC's legacy in manufacturing rests not just on volume, but on the precision and reliability required in field-deployed infrastructure. Whether it is smart meter enclosures used in dense urban areas, or feeder pillars deployed in harsh rural climates, our design process integrates customer feedback, regulatory standards, and ruggedisation needs into every mould and panel.

A key enabler of this is our in-house die and tooling division, which allows for faster turnaround and greater design flexibility. In FY2025, we continued to expand our portfolio of IoT-enabled products, including LT Distribution Boxes and metering enclosures compatible with AMI standards. This capacity to adapt form factors, connectivity modules, and power configurations in-house is a differentiator in a sector moving rapidly towards digitisation.

We also adopted lean manufacturing practices and strengthened our QA processes to maintain consistency across scale. As demand from smart metering and solar EPC accelerates, our ability to maintain product reliability across thousands of installations is becoming a strategic advantage.

Precision manufacturing is what converts innovation into infrastructure – our ability to adapt design to application is what gives us the edge.

3 Lakh Smart Enclosures/Year

RMC's annual production capacity reinforces its lead in India's smart metering infrastructure buildout.

Skilled Hands, Systematic Growth

Behind every mould and machine is a team of engineers, operators, and technicians who form the core of our manufacturing excellence. FY2025 saw a renewed focus on workforce training, cross-functional coordination, and operational discipline. Our ERP-led manufacturing flow and digitised QA documentation have reduced rework, enhanced throughput, and ensured compliance with evolving sectoral standards.

As we head into FY2026, the full integration of solar manufacturing into our operational stack, coupled with capacity expansion in electrical products, will demand further agility. Our roadmap includes investments in automation, data-led process control, and modular production lines that can adapt quickly to order-specific configurations.

Manufacturing is as much about people as it is about machines – and we are investing in both to scale sustainably and deliver consistently.

Management Discussion and Analysis

A) Macroeconomic & Policy Backdrop

Global GDP expanded by a measured 2.8% during the year, marking the third consecutive year of below-trend growth.

I) Global Economic Overview

The global economy in 2024 displayed modest resilience amid a backdrop of persistent geopolitical tensions, elevated interest rates, and subdued trade dynamics. Global GDP expanded by a measured 2.8% during the year, marking the third consecutive year of below-trend growth. This was notably lower than the pre-pandemic decade average of 3.1%, reflecting continued global fragilities and macroeconomic tightening across regions. Inflation pressures persisted into the early part of 2024, especially in advanced economies. However, global inflation decelerated steadily throughout the year, falling to an estimated 3.8% by year-end, down from 5.2% at the start. Key contributors to this moderation included easing commodity prices, supply chain normalisation, and cautious monetary policies.

Geopolitical disruptions, including ongoing conflicts in Eastern Europe and the Middle East, as well as trade policy uncertainties, have dampened investor confidence and disrupted global supply chains, particularly in the energy and semiconductor sectors. These risks continued to create downward pressure on global output and capital flows.

As 2025 commenced, signs of a cautiously improving outlook emerged. Inflation declined further, encouraging several major central banks, including the U.S. Federal Reserve and the European Central Bank, to pivot from aggressive rate hikes to more neutral or easing stances. The global average policy rate, which peaked at 5.1% in 2024, declined marginally in Q1 2025 as monetary conditions began to normalise in key economies.

According to the World Bank, the global economy is projected to expand by 2.3% in 2025, compared to 2.8% growth in 2024, but still below the long-term average. This modest acceleration is underpinned by easing inflation, a gradual pivot in monetary policy by major central banks and slightly improving trade and investment flows. While advanced economies are expected to see stable but subdued growth, emerging and developing economies are likely to drive global expansion, supported by rising domestic demand, policy reforms, and targeted investments in infrastructure and green energy. However, downside risks remain significant, including geopolitical tensions, policy uncertainty, and potential financial market volatility, which could weigh on the pace of recovery.

II) Indian Economic Overview

India's economy entered FY26 on a firm footing, maintaining its position as the world's fastest-growing major economy. Real GDP expanded by 6.5% in FY25, marginally softer than the post-pandemic peak but still ahead of most global peers. Growth momentum was supported by robust domestic demand, strong rural consumption, and rising fixed investment across infrastructure and manufacturing sectors.

Inflationary pressures eased significantly during the fiscal year. Retail inflation declined to a six-year low of 2.82% in May 2025, well within the RBI's 4% target band. Food inflation softened due to a favourable monsoon and declining commodity prices, providing room for an accommodative monetary policy.

Reflecting the improvement in price stability, the RBI's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) enacted a 50-bps repo rate cut in early June, bringing the key rate to 5.5%, and reduced the Cash Reserve Ratio by 100 bps. While serving as a stimulus to spur growth, the MPC also shifted its stance to "neutral," acknowledging limited headroom for further monetary policy easing amid global uncertainties.

India achieved record exports of US$824.9 billion in FY 2024-25, marking a 6.0% year-on-year growth from US$778.1 billion in the previous year. This surge was primarily led by services exports, which increased 13.6% to US$387.5 billion, driven by strong demand in IT, telecommunications, transportation, travel, and financial services. This strong external trade performance enhances India's economic resilience by strengthening its current account, supporting the rupee, and expanding its role in the global value chain - factors that further underpin domestic growth opportunities.

Looking ahead to FY26, the RBI has retained its growth projection at 6.5%, with Q1-Q4 growth outlook ranging between 6.5% and 6.7%. Credit and investment dynamics, particularly in sectors such as housing, consumer durables, and infrastructure, will be key drivers of growth, supported by improved liquidity conditions. Echoing the same confidence in the Indian economy, the World Bank has also projected India's growth at 6.3% for 2025 and 6.5% for 2026.

However, India remains exposed to several external vulnerabilities. Global trade tensions, geopolitical instability, and volatility in commodity prices could threaten the recovery. Domestically, rising household debt and slowing savings warrant close monitoring, especially as the economy seeks private-sector-led growth.

III) Fiscal and Monetary Stimulus

The Union Budget 2025-26 lays down a strong foundation for inclusive and investment-led growth. Capital expenditure remains a cornerstone of fiscal policy, with the central government budgeting an effective capital outlay of ₹15.5 lakh crore, representing a robust increase from ₹13.2 lakh crore in FY25 (RE). This sustained capex push is expected to generate a multiplier effect on private investment, job creation, and demand. A key initiative includes ₹1.5 lakh crore in interest-free loans to states for capital projects, further amplifying infrastructure development at the sub-national level.

Complementing this are reforms such as a new manufacturing mission for MSMEs, rationalised credit criteria for start-ups, expanded credit guarantees, and tax rationalisation aimed at improving ease of doing business. Notably, the government has announced a significant overhaul of personal income tax to support middle-class spending, as well as a streamlined customs tariff structure to bolster the 'Make in India' initiative.

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has transitioned to a growth-supportive monetary policy stance. Between February and June 2025, the policy repo rate was cut by a cumulative 100 basis points to 5.50%, while the Cash Reserve Ratio (CRR) was set to be reduced in phases, releasing approximately ₹2.5 lakh crore of primary liquidity into the banking system by December 2025. Together, these fiscal and monetary interventions are positioned to accelerate the Indian economy towards its FY26 growth target of 6.5%, anchored in domestic demand, policy certainty, and resilient macroeconomic fundamentals.

B) Industry Landscape

Global GDP expanded by a measured 2.8% during the year, marking the third consecutive year of below-trend growth.

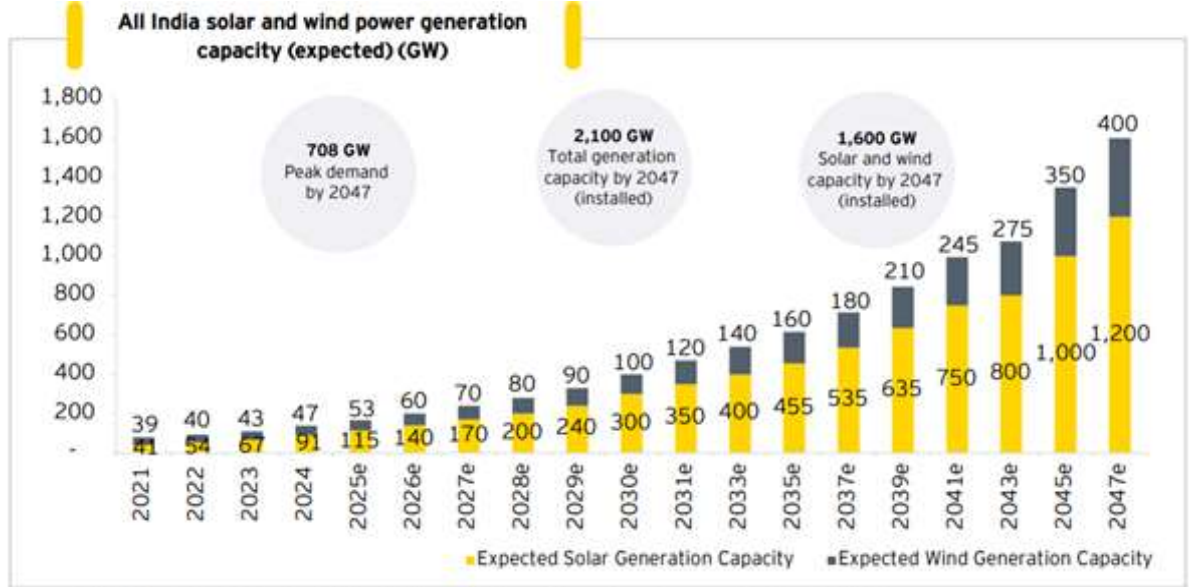

II) India's Green Energy Roadmap

India is poised to play a central role in the global energy transition, balancing the dual imperatives of meeting rapidly growing energy demand and achieving long-term decarbonisation goals. As the third-largest energy consumer in the world, India's transition strategy centres around three interconnected pillars: expanding renewable energy capacity, deepening electrification, and enhancing energy efficiency.

According to EY, India's total energy demand is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.7% between FY2022 and FY2047.

According to EY, India's total energy demand is expected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 4.7% between FY2022 and FY2047. During the same period, electricity demand is expected to grow at a faster compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.4%, reflecting the country's increasing reliance on electrified solutions across transportation, industry, and residential sectors. By FY2047, electricity is expected to meet 43% of final energy demand, up from just 19% in FY2022.

A transformative scale-up in renewable energy deployment underpins this shift. Non-fossil fuel capacity is projected to account for over 85% of total installed power generation capacity by FY2047, up from approximately 42% in FY2022. Solar energy will be the cornerstone of this transformation, making up 38% of the power mix by FY2047, followed by wind (19%), hydro (18%), and nuclear (10%). The share of coal is expected to decline from 51% to just 11% over this period, signifying a dramatic reshaping of India's power sector.

Non-fossil fuels are expected to account for more than 85% of power capacity by FY2047.

On the demand side, sectors such as industry and transport will lead the electrification wave. Industrial electricity consumption is expected to grow nearly fourfold by FY2047, driven by the adoption of electric heating technologies and the increasing electrification of industrial processes. In transport, electric vehicles (EVs) are projected to contribute over 40% of total vehicle kilometres by FY2047, supported by falling battery costs and supportive policy initiatives.

Additionally, the deployment of green hydrogen is expected to become commercially viable within the decade. It will serve as a critical vector for decarbonising hard-to-abate sectors such as steel, fertilisers, and long-haul transport. The report also identifies energy storage and smart grid technologies as essential enablers of India's transition, ensuring flexibility and reliability in an increasingly renewable-heavy grid.

India requires over USD 160 billion in annual energy investments by FY2047.

EY underscores that to achieve this ambitious vision, India will require annual investments of over USD 160 billion in the energy sector by FY2047, a significant increase from the current yearly outlay of USD 70–80 billion. This calls for proactive policy reform, robust grid infrastructure, and strengthened domestic manufacturing to reduce import dependencies in clean technologies.

II) India's Transmission Sector Outlook

India's transmission sector is poised for a transformative growth phase, driven by the country's increasing power demand and a rapid push toward integrating renewable energy. According to Jefferies, India's combined power generation and transmission sectors are expected to grow 2.2 times over FY24–FY30, reaching a cumulative investment size of USD 280 billion, compared to the investments made during FY17–FY23.

This anticipated scale-up comes in response to sustained power consumption growth exceeding 7% annually, which, if not supported by infrastructure, could risk triggering supply shortages. With power demand projected to rise across industrial, commercial, and residential segments, a commensurate expansion in transmission capacity has become critical.

Central to this expansion is the aggressive buildout of India's renewable energy ecosystem. The government aims to install 450 GW of renewable energy capacity by 2030, necessitating significant transmission connectivity. To enable this, the transmission bid pipeline has seen a seven-fold surge in just three years, growing from under ₹150 billion in February 2021 to over ₹1 trillion in active bids today. This reflects a decisive policy focus on creating evacuation infrastructure ahead of capacity addition.

The government aims to install 450 GW of renewable energy capacity by 2030, necessitating significant transmission connectivity.

Importantly, the new transmission infrastructure is being designed not just for traditional connectivity, but to support emerging energy demands—including grid-scale battery storage, green hydrogen hubs, EV charging networks, and data centres. This signals a shift toward a more flexible, future-ready grid that can support India's net-zero ambitions and its broader energy transition.

According to Jefferies, India's power and transmission sectors are expected to grow 2.2 times by FY2030, with USD 280 billion in investments.

III) India's Smart Metering Market:

India is undergoing a paradigm shift in power distribution, with smart metering emerging as a central pillar of its reform agenda. To reduce high distribution losses, increase billing accuracy, and provide consumers with real-time usage insights, the Government of India has launched an ambitious programme through the Smart Meter National Programme (SMNP) and the Revamped Distribution Sector Scheme (RDSS). The scale of this initiative is unprecedented, targeting the installation of 250 million smart meters by FY28, representing a transformative $20 billion opportunity for players across the metering and digital infrastructure value chain.

As of May 2025, contracts for over 223 million smart meters have been awarded, with more than 30 million already installed across India. States like Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, Rajasthan, and Assam have made significant strides, while Maharashtra has unveiled one of the largest deployments through MSEDCL, valued at over ₹6,200 crore. These installations mark more than just a shift from analogue to digital—they signal a move toward intelligent, data-driven grids.

Despite steady progress, the pace of smart meter installations remains slower than anticipated, with approximately two crore meters installed as of January 2025. According to CARE Edge Ratings, project awards under the Advanced Metering Infrastructure Service Provider (AMISP) model are expected to grow at a robust CAGR of 30–40% in the coming years. However, actual installations are likely to achieve only about 25% of the 25-crore target by March 2026, suggesting a shortfall relative to the government's ambitious rollout timeline.

Smart meters, equipped with Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI), enable two-way communication between utilities and consumers, facilitating automated billing, remote operations, and the implementation of dynamic tariffs. By leveraging technologies such as RF, PLC, and cellular networks, these systems provide utilities with real-time visibility and control, enabling them to detect outages, manage peak loads, and forecast demand more accurately. For consumers, these devices offer usage insights, alerts, and better cost management.

Impact on the ground is already visible. In areas with dense deployment, Aggregate Technical and Commercial (AT&C) losses have declined from over 22% to between 12% and 15%. Utilities are witnessing improvements in collection efficiency and revenue assurance, strengthening the case for faster nationwide implementation.

The smart meter market itself is on a high-growth trajectory. As per IMARC Group estimates, the Indian market was valued at USD 288.3 million in 2024 and is projected to reach USD 1.014 billion by 2033, growing at a CAGR of 15%. Backed by the RDSS's ₹97,631 crore allocation—India's largest ever central investment in power distribution—this programme is not only modernising infrastructure but also creating strong downstream opportunities for companies in manufacturing, integration, and data solutions.

According to IMARC Group, the Smart Metering Market is set to grow at a 15% CAGR, reaching over USD 1 billion by 2033.

For companies like RMC, which are aligned with this digital infrastructure shift, the smart metering revolution offers a critical avenue for expansion and impact in India's evolving power ecosystem.

According to CARE Edge Ratings, AMISP project awards are expected to grow at a CAGR of 30–40%

IV) India Electrical Enclosure Market:

The Indian electrical enclosure market is undergoing a significant transformation, driven by rapid infrastructure development, increased industrial automation, and a growing emphasis on energy reliability and safety. According to IMARC Group, the market reached USD 7.7 billion in 2024 and is projected to grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.9% between 2025 and 2033, ultimately reaching USD 13.6 billion by the end of the forecast period.

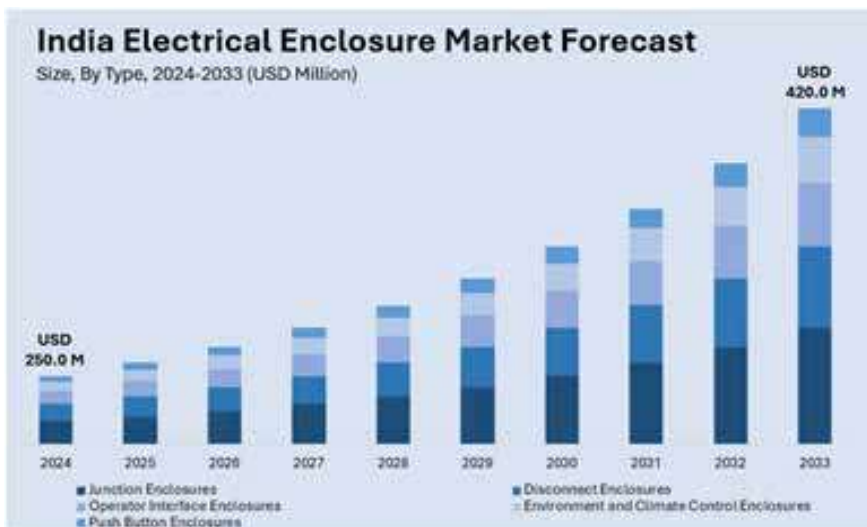

According to IMARC Group, the Indian Electrical Enclosure Market is projected to grow at a 5.9% CAGR, reaching USD 13.6 billion by 2033.

Several structural factors underpin this growth. India's ongoing push for industrialisation, expansion of the manufacturing base, and proliferation of data centres and urban infrastructure projects are creating strong demand for reliable electrical enclosures. These enclosures are crucial in protecting sensitive electrical and electronic equipment from dust, moisture, and other environmental hazards, thereby ensuring uninterrupted operations and safety.

A major contributor to this surge in demand is the increasing investment in energy and renewable infrastructure. As India accelerates its shift toward renewable energy, large-scale solar parks, wind installations, and energy distribution networks require a variety of outdoor enclosures, including junction boxes, ring main units (RMUs), and floor-mounted panels, designed to withstand extreme climatic conditions. Non-metallic enclosures, owing to their corrosion resistance and lightweight properties, are becoming increasingly preferred across applications.

The Indian market is also witnessing a shift in preferences toward modular and prefabricated designs, which offer scalability and ease of maintenance. Floor-mounted or free-standing enclosures are gaining popularity, particularly in power generation and heavy industrial applications, where larger capacities and robustness are essential.

India's share in the Asia-Pacific electrical enclosure market—estimated at over 36% in 2024—is poised to increase as infrastructure modernisation accelerates through Smart Cities projects, smart grid initiatives, and urban electrification programmes. In this evolving landscape, companies like RMC Switchgears stand to benefit considerably. With a diversified product portfolio spanning electrical enclosures, RMUs, metering infrastructure, and solar EPC, RMC is strategically positioned to tap into this growing demand by offering integrated, scalable, and cost-effective solutions tailored to India's infrastructure ambitions.

As of May 2025, contracts for over 223 million smart meters have been awarded, with more than 30 million already installed across India.

C) Business Overview

I) About RMC Switchgears

RMC Switchgears Limited has undergone a significant transformation from a traditional manufacturer of electrical enclosures into a comprehensive energy solutions provider. What began as a focused operation in the manufacturing of LV panels and enclosures has strategically evolved to encompass a broad suite of offerings across the solar and electrical infrastructure value chains.

RMC Switchgears Limited operates through four integrated business verticals, each strategically aligned with India's evolving energy and infrastructure landscape:

- 1. Electrical Products: This vertical includes the design and manufacture of smart meter enclosures, feeder pillars, distribution boxes, and electrical panels. These products are integral to modern power distribution systems, supporting DISCOMs and infrastructure developers in achieving energy efficiency and safety.

- 2. Electrical EPC: This division undertakes turnkey projects in transmission and distribution (T&D) infrastructure, substation automation, and the deployment of smart grids. It plays a critical role in India's mission to modernise and expand its power delivery network under government-led schemes such as RDSS.

- 3. Solar EPC: Focused on engineering, procurement, and construction of renewable energy projects, this vertical includes ground-mounted solar installations, rooftop solar systems, and solar pump deployments. RMC has a successful execution track record of over 200 MWp and continues to scale in both public and private sector markets.

- 4. Solar Products: Under this vertical, RMC is developing backwards-integrated manufacturing capabilities for solar modules and mounting structures. The upcoming 1 GW solar module manufacturing facility in Jaipur underlines the Company's commitment to vertical integration and 'Make in India' strategy.

RMC Switchgears' business verticals span product to project focus.

II) Key Milestones and Strategic Developments

FY25 was a defining year in RMC Switchgears' growth trajectory, marked by landmark project wins, infrastructure expansion, and growing industry recognition.

A significant breakthrough came in the rooftop solar segment, where the Company secured a ₹320 crore Letter of Award (LOA) for EPC execution, including a ₹91 crore long-term Operations & Maintenance (O&M) component. This marked one of the largest single-value orders for RMC from RREC and significantly enhanced visibility in the renewable EPC space.

In parallel, RMC secured a 46 MW + 17 MW order from MAHAGENCO under the MSKVY 2.0 scheme, further strengthening its position in government-backed distributed solar and diversified EPC markets. Strengthening its foothold in the power distribution vertical, the Company was awarded a ₹108 crore project by Uttar Gujarat Vij Company Limited (UGVCL) for underground cabling and RMU system deployment—an area of strategic focus for urban electrification and smart infrastructure development.

FY25 also marked a turning point in RMC's backwards integration strategy. The Company performed the Bhoomi Poojan for its state-of-the-art 1 GW Solar Module Manufacturing Plant in Jaipur. This ₹100 crore facility will support both internal EPC needs and external demand under the government's Production Linked Incentive (PLI) and 'Make in India' mandates.

Additionally, the Company increased its equity stake in RMC Green Energy Pvt. Ltd. to 99.46%, thereby gaining greater operational control and facilitating enhanced collaboration in the execution of solar parks.

Industry recognition followed suit—RMC was honoured at the ET Now "Gems of Rajasthan" Awards for its innovation in Low Voltage (LV) electrical solutions. The Company also made its mark at ELECRAMA 2025, India's premier electrical exhibition, showcasing its expanding product suite and technology leadership to a global audience.

project deliveries. However, execution capabilities in Solar EPC are expected to take off from Q1FY26, which may drive growth levels to a new high.

Despite the surge in topline, gross profit increased at a slower pace of 22.50%, moving from ₹77.33 crore in FY24 to ₹94.73 crore in FY25. As a result, gross margins declined significantly by 1502 basis points, from 44.80% to 29.77%. The margin compression can be attributed to increased expenses for establishing a foundation to develop a team for Solar EPC and Segment, where revenues have yet to be generated.

EBITDA rose by 55.98% year-on-year to ₹53.22 crore in FY25 from ₹34.12 crore in FY24, driven by increased execution activity. However, the EBITDA margin declined by 304 basis points to 16.73%, primarily due to higher input costs, including increased salaries in the Solar segment, as well as a growing share of lower-margin business lines.

On the profitability front, the Company delivered a strong performance. Profit Before Tax (PBT) rose by 81.64% to ₹42.65 crore, and Profit After Tax (PAT) more than doubled, growing by 111.14% to ₹31.46 crore from ₹14.90 crore. This was supported by operating leverage, improved collection efficiency, and adequate cost controls. Notably, PAT margins expanded by 126 basis points to 9.89%, indicating better bottom-line efficiency even amid margin headwinds at the gross level. Earnings per share (EPS) more than doubled to ₹30.31, reflecting strong shareholder value creation and profit scalability.

RMC Switchgears reported a robust 84.30% year-on-year growth in revenue from operations, reaching ₹318.16 crore in FY25 compared to ₹172.63 crore in FY24. This sharp growth reflects improved execution in the Electrical EPC and Electrical Products segments, driven by higher order intake and timely

Strong and Resilient Balance Sheet

RMC Switchgears closed FY25 with a robust balance sheet, marked by a 77% YoY increase in shareholders' funds to ₹106.99 crore, driven by strong profitability and earnings retention. The rise in reserves from ₹50.09 crore in FY24 to ₹96.43 crore reflects the Company's disciplined capital allocation.

Total assets increased to ₹268.50 crore, up 73% from ₹155.13 crore, driven by higher investments in tangible assets and capital work-in-progress related to the expansion of new manufacturing capacity. Trade receivables and inventories increased in line with execution activity, with current assets reaching ₹217.05 crore.

Despite an increase in borrowings to fund growth, the Company maintained a healthy current ratio of 1.52 times, indicating strong liquidity and financial flexibility. This solid foundation positions RMC well to support its scale-up across solar, electrical, and smart metering verticals.

D. Governance, Risk & Sustainability

I) Risk Management Framework

RMC Switchgears Limited maintains a proactive and structured risk management approach that is embedded across its strategic, operational, and compliance functions. The Company recognises that risks are inherent to its diversified operations, especially as it scales new verticals, such as Solar EPC and Manufacturing. Through periodic assessments, internal audits, and management reviews, RMC identifies, evaluates, and addresses risks that could potentially impact its ability to meet business objectives. A resolute internal team, supported by the Audit Committee and the Board, ensures that controls are continually monitored and refined to respond to evolving internal and external environments. The Company's risk management framework ensures agility in execution while safeguarding stakeholder value.

Risk Category	Risk Description	Risk Mitigation Strategy
Execution Risk	The timely delivery of large-scale EPC projects, especially those under government schemes, may be impacted by delays in approvals, site access, or supply chain disruptions.	Detailed project planning, strengthened vendor base, and deployment of experienced project management teams to ensure time-bound execution.
Regulatory & Policy Risk	Dependence on government schemes such as RDSS and PM-KUSUM exposes the Company to policy shifts, procedural delays, or funding bottlenecks.	Continuous engagement with stakeholders, diversification across sectors, and careful evaluation before committing resources to specific schemes.
Working Capital Risk	A high working capital cycle, especially in EPC contracts, can strain liquidity and delay cash flows.	Tight monitoring of receivables, milestone-based billing, and structured financial planning to manage fund requirements efficiently.
Supply Chain Risk	Disruption in the availability or price volatility of key inputs, such as solar modules and steel, may affect costs and timelines.	Backwards integration into module and structure manufacturing, and long-term procurement planning to reduce dependence on external suppliers.
Technology Risk	Failure to adopt or integrate evolving technologies in smart metering and electrical infrastructure may affect competitiveness.	Continued investments in R&D and collaborations to enhance product innovation and ensure technological relevance.
Credit Risk	Exposure to government utilities and public sector clients increases counterparty risk and delays in collections.	Rigorous due diligence, conservative provisioning, and active follow-up mechanisms to manage receivables and minimise bad debt exposure.

II) Internal Controls and Systems

The Company maintains a robust internal control framework aligned with the scale, complexity, and nature of its operations. The Audit Committee periodically assesses the effectiveness and efficiency of this framework to ensure optimal resource utilisation, accurate and timely financial reporting, statutory compliance, and the safeguarding of assets from unauthorised access.

In addition to overseeing financial controls, the Audit Committee also monitors the implementation of audit findings, including improvements to risk management policies and practices. The Company remains committed to structured operations and has implemented appropriate safeguards to ensure reliable authorisation, documentation, and transaction reporting.

Internal controls form an integral part of the Company's governance and day-to-day operations, aimed at ensuring orderly business conduct, compliance with internal policies, protection of assets, prevention of errors and fraud, and reliability of financial information.

The Internal Audit function independently assesses the adequacy and effectiveness of risk management, internal controls, and governance processes. It also recommends improvements in operational and systemic efficiencies and monitors the implementation of Audit Committee recommendations.

Comprehensive internal audit reports are submitted regularly to the management and the Audit Committee. The Committee evaluates the scope and effectiveness of the internal audit function in consultation with the Internal Auditor. It also seeks feedback to strengthen the internal control environment and identify areas for improvement.

III) Sustainability, ESG & CSR

At RMC Switchgears, sustainability is embedded in our strategic and operational philosophy. We believe that long-term business value can only be created by integrating environmental, social, and governance (ESG) considerations into every aspect of our functioning. Our diversified portfolio—spanning Solar EPC, solar product manufacturing, and electrical infrastructure—naturally aligns with India's decarbonisation goals and global climate action commitments.

Our proactive participation in clean energy infrastructure, including rooftop and ground-mounted solar EPC projects, positions us at the forefront of India's energy transition. These initiatives directly contribute to ESG objectives by reducing carbon footprints and supporting grid decarbonisation.

Beyond business, our social responsibility efforts reflect our commitment to inclusive and equitable growth. In FY25, we undertook developmental support for a government school in Chaksu, Rajasthan, as part of our CSR initiatives. This project aimed to enhance access to quality education and infrastructure for underprivileged students, aligning with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), particularly those related to education and community development. Our CSR framework is guided by transparency, impact measurement, and a commitment to making a tangible difference in the communities we serve.

On the governance front, we uphold the highest standards of ethical conduct, regulatory compliance, and board accountability. The Company has established internal mechanisms to regularly assess its ESG performance, and we are working toward broader disclosures and sustainability metrics that will enhance transparency for stakeholders.

As we advance, we aim to further integrate ESG principles into our procurement, operations, and project design, while expanding our CSR footprint through impactful programs in education, health, and rural development. Sustainability at RMC is not a standalone initiative—it is a cornerstone of our business purpose and a guiding principle for future growth.

E. Future Outlook

RMC Switchgears is on a transformative path, guided by an aspirational vision, to scale its topline to ₹5,000 crore by FY2030. This vision is anchored in strategic diversification, vertical integration, and a sharp focus on sectors aligned with India's long-term infrastructure and clean energy priorities. While aspirational, this target reflects the management's confidence in the evolving market landscape and RMC's readiness to lead in next-generation energy and electrical solutions.

For FY26, our directional expectations are calibrated for strong momentum. Building on the execution strength demonstrated in FY25, the Company is strategically positioned to sustain high double-digit revenue growth. With a visible order book, active participation in high-value tenders, and the addition of new market segments, including solar products and intelligent electrical infrastructure, the topline trajectory is well supported. Furthermore, the anticipated improvement in the smart metering ecosystem and project clearances under RDSS augur well for business continuity and scale.

One of the core pillars of our growth strategy is vertical integration. The upcoming 1 GW solar module manufacturing facility is not only expected to support internal EPC needs but also open avenues for third-party supply, thereby boosting margins and operational resilience.

In parallel, the expansion of our smart product portfolio—particularly IoT-enabled LT Distribution Boxes and other intelligent enclosures—is aimed at tapping emerging demand for digitised and automated electrical infrastructure. This forward-looking diversification is supported by disciplined capital allocation and an asset-light development model, which mitigates risk while capturing market potential.

We remain committed to delivering consistent value to all stakeholders—customers, shareholders, employees, and the broader community. Our approach blends innovation with operational rigour, ensuring that RMC continues to scale responsibly, adapt to future technologies, and contribute meaningfully to India's sustainable growth ambitions.

Key Audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the standalone financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. We have determined the matters described below to be the key audit matters to be communicated in our report.

Information other than the Standalone Financial Statements and Auditor's report thereon

The Company's management and Board of Directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Director's Report, Corporate Governance Report, Company's annual report and other information, but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon. In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance, and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the accounting Standards specified under section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate implementation and maintenance of accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. The Board of Directors is also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements. As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone annual financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion through a separate report on the complete set of financial statements on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures in the standalone financial statements made by the Management and Board of Directors.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of the Management and Board of Directors use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the appropriateness of this assumption. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the standalone annual financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone annual financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone annual financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatement in the standalone financial statements that individually or in aggregate makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the standalone financial statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the statements of our work and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the standalone financial statements

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on the Internal Financial Control under clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the Internal Financial Control over Financial Reporting of RMC SWITCHGEARS LIMITED ("the Company") as on 31st March 2025 in conjunction with our audit of the financial statements of the company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India ('ICAI'). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing, issued by ICAI and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both applicable to an audit of Internal Financial Controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operate defectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial control system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Company's internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Control over Financial Reporting

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding their liability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

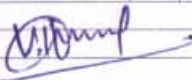

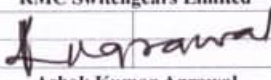

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at 31st March 2025, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India.

Accounting policies have been consistently applied by the company except where a newly issued Accounting Standard is initially adopted or a revision to an existing Standard required a change in accounting policy hitherto in use.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the results of operations during the reporting period. Although these estimates are based upon management's best knowledge of current events and actions, actual results could differ from these estimates. The company's financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees, which is its functional currency and all values are rounded to the nearest lakhs, except when otherwise indicated.

An impairment loss is recognized wherever the carrying amount of asset exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the greater of the assets' net selling price and its value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using weighted average cost of capital.

Information other than the Consolidated Financial Statements and Auditor's report thereon

The Holding Company's management and Board of Directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Director's Report, Corporate Governance Report, annual report and other information, but does not include the consolidated financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

The Holding Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view of the consolidated financial position, consolidated financial performance, and consolidated cash flows of the Group in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the accounting Standards specified under section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Group and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate implementation and maintenance of accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the consolidated financial statement that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which has been used for the purpose of presentation of the consolidated financial statements by the Directors of the Holding Company, as aforesaid.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the respective board of directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for assessing the ability of their respective company to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. Those respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are also responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of their respective company.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements. As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated annual financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion through a separate report on the complete set of financial statements on whether the holding company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures in the consolidated financial results made by the Management and Board of Directors.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of the Management and Board of Directors use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the appropriateness of this assumption. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated annual financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated annual financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated annual financial statement represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group and its associates of which we are the independent auditors and whose financial information we have audited, to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the financial statements of such entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors. For the other entities included in the consolidated financial statements, which have been audited by other auditors, such other auditors remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Holding Company and such other entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Other Matters

We did not audit the financial statements and other financial information, in respect of 4 subsidiaries, whose financial statements reflects total assets of Rs.51.81 Lacs, and total revenue from operation of Rs.185.54 Lacs, total net profit after tax of Rs.5.44 Lacs for the year ended on that date, as considered in the consolidated financial statements. Auditor’s Responsibility for the Audit of the Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) and the Standards on Auditing, both, issued by Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, and deemed to be prescribed under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls. A company's internal financial controls with reference to financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of consolidated financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with Reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.
