MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS*(A) OVERVIEW OF THE INDIAN STEEL INDUSTRY

Indian steel Industry is moving from strength to strength. India is expected to show strong growth in steel consumption in the coming years due to its strong domestic economy, massive infrastructure needs and expansion of industrial production, according to the short-range outlook released by the World Steel Association (worldsteel). India has recorded a growth of over 8.6 %, producing 6.35 MT of steel in March 2011 as against 5.85 MT in the corresponding month in 2010, according to World Steel Association (WSA). WSA also expects India's steel demand to grow at 14.3% in the year 2012

According to the Annual Report 2009-10 by the Ministry of Steel, India has emerged as the fifth largest producer of steel in the world and is likely to become the second largest producer of crude steel by 2015-16. The domestic steel consumption grew by 9.8 per cent to 29.82 MT during April-September 2010 over the year-ago period, Key themes to drive steel demand are Rising urbanization, growth in middle class to drive consumption, investment in infrastructure and automobile industry.

The National Steel Policy 2005 had projected consumption to grow at 7% based on a GDP growth rate of 7-7.5% and production of 110 million tonnes by 2019-2020. It has been assessed that, on a 'most likely scenario' basis, the steel production capacity in the country by the year 2011-2012 will be nearly 124 million tonnes.

Moreover, with the government proactive incentive plans to boost economic growth by injecting funds in various industries, such as construction, infrastructure, automobile, and power will drive the steel industry in future.

(B) OPPORTUNITIES AND CONCERNSOpportunities

The Indian steel sector was the first core sector to be completely freed from the licensing regime and pricing and distribution controls. The economic reforms and the consequent liberalization of the iron and steel sector which started in the early 1990s resulted in substantial growth in the steel industry.

The important policy measures which have been taken over the years as per Ministry of Steel in its 'Outcome of Budget 2011-12' for the growth and development of the Indian iron and steel sector are as under:-

- In the industrial policy announced in July 1991, iron and steel industry was removed from the list of industries reserved for the public sector and also exempted from the provisions of compulsory licensing under the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951.
- With effect from 24th May 1992, iron and steel industry was included in the list of 'high priority' industries for automatic approval for foreign equity investment up to 51%. This limit has since been increased to 100%.
- The import regime for iron and steel has undergone major liberalization moving gradually from a controlled import by way of import licensing, foreign exchange release, canalization and high import tariffs to total freeing of iron and steel imports from licensing, canalization and lowering of import duty levels. Export of iron and steel items has also been freely allowed.
- Duties on raw materials for steel production were reduced. These measures reduced the capital costs and production costs of steel plants.
- Freight equalization Scheme was withdrawn in January, 1992 - with the coming up of new steel plants in different parts of the country, iron and steel products are freely available in the domestic market.
- Levy on account of Steel Development Fund was discontinued from April, 1994 thereby providing greater flexibility to Main Producers to respond to market forces.
- Import duties on key steel-making raw materials, including mineral products and
- ores and concentrates have seen significant reductions in successive budgets in last few years.
- Currently, the import duty on steel items is 5 per cent. The import duty on raw materials like melting scrap, coking coal, metcoke is NIL and between 2% to 5% for other raw materials such as Zinc, Iron Ore and Ferro Alloys. There is no export duty on any steel items
- Excise duty for steel is currently at 10 per cent.

Concerns:

The Indian steel industry has a number of inherent advantages and can take pride in a few highly efficient and competitive firms in Steel manufacturing. However, there is substantial inter and intra sectoral divergence in the performance of the producers in terms of operational efficiency and cost of production. While there are positive factors benefiting the industry's performance, it remains equally constrained by a number of factors such as lack of availability of suitable raw materials, high cost of raw material, infrastructural inadequacy, high cost of capital and other structural impediments like High dependence on low technology EAF/IF route Moreover Raging inflation and consequent monetary tightening also does not augur well for steel demand. Further aggressive monetary policy by RBI to curb inflation and Government in-action and lack of policy initiatives are further overhang on demand growth. Nevertheless, industry remains optimistic that steel demand would improve from H2FY12 onwards. It has been assumed that steel demand growth of 10% for FY12E and 12% FY13E onwards
