Transforming Energy Management with Digitisation

'The only constant in life is a change' might be an old cliché but continues to be relevant even today, especially in the world of the new normal – a world more dynamic and complex than it was a few months ago. We believe that major sectors of the economy are all undergoing transformations that will fundamentally change the way people will live, work, and play.

In the complex world of today, connectivity and energy are the new constants to ensure that 'Life Is On'. These helps us access to education, access to our network, access to our business and professional network leading to a decent and better life. Of course, the demands for these new elixirs of life are itself going through a sea change. The demand is for clean, sustainable energy. The demand is to generate energy in a highly efficient way. The demand is for reliable connectivity. Importantly, the requirement for reliable, clean and sustainable energy and connectivity is coming from individuals, companies, communities and even nations.

Even as the demand is on continuous growth trajectory, technology is playing a key role and is being continuously adopted and adapted to achieve individual, business and environmental goals. Further, we continue to witness the astounding productivity gains and cost savings when technology aligns with business.

To achieve reliable, clean and sustainable energy, we have to start thinking of new ways about energy management and industrial automation. Electricity is currently one of the best options for decarbonisation, while automation technologies can bring tremendous efficiency opportunities. Therefore, the only truly sustainable future will be both digital and electric.

Digitisation allows us to remove the human factor from hazardous situations, as well as safeguards us in emergencies. This dramatic improvement in reliability allows us to produce at capacity or more while still reducing carbon footprints. Beyond having a significant impact on carbon footprint, digitisation is reinventing the way we produce, distribute and use energy and is driving benefits in CapEx, OpEx and beyond. Technological innovations in energy management is bringing about a paradigm shift and shape a new world, where energy is more stable, accessible and cost-effective.

The digital transformation movement in energy management is accelerating globally and this needs to reflect in the Indian utility sector and other heavy power consuming segment including transportation, metals, minerals, commercial buildings, etc. Technological advancement in the energy management space with advanced analytics systems, coupled with the access to real-time analytical data, is strengthening the march of digitisation amongst the power distribution companies and heavy power users. Digitisation is playing a major role at both the operational and consumer level, which has led to companies like us to invent a complete portfolio of smart, connected products. At Schneider Electric, we have developed new technologies that enable distributed and connected energy that will redefine the way we live. We have created products which aid in the interconnection of Information Technology (IT) and Operational Technology (OT) to produce actionable information for better business results. We help sustain customer resources, reduce CO₂ emissions and better manage and ensure more livable environments. We build and deliver safe, reliable products and solutions — from the simplest of switches to complex operational ecosystems. All this with a simple objective... we support our customers' journey to achieve better energy and process efficiency in their cities, businesses, plants, buildings and homes with solutions that are simpler to use.

A Statement from Chairman Vinod Kumar Dhall

Dear Shareholders,

I am happy to present to you our Annual Report for the financial year 2019-2020 (FY2020).

With the global outbreak of COVID-19 pandemic and its impact on India, the last few months have been extremely challenging for almost everyone.

I hope all of you and your family members are healthy and safe, and are following government healthcare guidelines to emerge from these critical times.

FY2020 began on a cautious note as the country was heading for a general election even as a continuing undercurrent of the crisis around Non-Banking Financial Companies still prevailed. Your Company performance was further stressed due to flooding in our Vadodara plant impacting the operations of our switchgear factory in the city. It took us nearly a month to get the plant running and able to execute many orders and projects. Your Company has to remain prepared in the face of continuing uncertainty arising from the virus. While we did see a glimmer of positiveness in the economy for Q3 and beginning Q4, the spread of COVID-19, the black swan event from mid-Q4 onwards left individuals, companies and governments across the globe scrambling and this hit, every stakeholder, hard. The financial year ended with the economy performing at 4.2% as India's economic growth hit an eleven-year low. The Indian government has announced several measures to meet the economic, health and social impact of the crisis. Your Company was impacted by slow economic growth and COVID-19 resulted in flat revenues.

However, despite the poor performance of the economy, there was a silver lining - the energy demand for FY2020 was higher by 1.2% year-on-year. Further, the installed capacity saw an increase by 3.9% to close the year at 370 Gigawatt (GW) capacity. It is equally interesting to see that renewables continued to post strong growth numbers. An Institute for Energy Economics and Financial Analysis report mentioned that renewable energy delivered more than two-thirds, or 9.4 GW of India's new generating capacity additions in FY2020, while new thermal power plants delivered 4.3 GW, net of the 2.5 GW removed due to end-of-life plant closures.

This is a paradigm shift that we are witnessing in the Indian power sector. While the government is continuously supporting the country's move towards clean and green energy, another important reason which will ensure the continuous growth of renewables is the availability of domestic and global finance. It is clear that renewables will lead the charge in creating energy and therefore 'connectivity' across the country.

This fundamental change will imply a complete transition of the power industry and its infrastructure and we are ready to help Indian utilities navigate this challenging transition especially in turbulent times. With our commitment to the 'New World of Energy', we continue to lay emphasis on the need to Decentralise, Digitise and Decarbonise and support them to attain an energy infrastructure which is more efficient, sustainable, reliable and connected.

Globally, we continue to invest heavily in key areas like Internet of Things, Artificial Intelligence, Data Centers and Big Data Analytics among others and in India, we are working extensively with customers to offer them optimal solutions based on EcoStruxure™, our next generation of active energy management and automation architecture innovations, to help them do a seamless switch in their digital journey in the energy management space.

FY2021 has begun on a challenging note, however, we have started the year with a healthy pipeline with order book position of around ₹ 9,000 million. Further, we are sharply focussed on the good cost and bad cost to ensure that we sail through the current 'new normal' financial year. However, my team and I are confident that we shall overcome this 'new normal' and find many opportunities where others find challenges.

I remain hopeful that government, organisations and individuals working together can and will overcome this great challenge to humanity.

I would like to sincerely thank all our shareholders, customers, suppliers, communities and other stakeholders for their continued and unstinted support to the Company during the year.

I would also like to thank all the employees and my colleagues on the Board of Directors, for their tireless commitment to enhancing the performance and health of the Company.

Discussion on Indian energy management, digitisation, creating new supply chain and SEIL

Featuring Bruno Bernard Dercle, Managing Director & Chief Executive Officer and Arnab Roy, Whole-Time Director & Chief Financial Officer

Energy accessibility has greatly improved over the last decade in India. Energy management, though, has to go a long way. How do you view energy management evolve over the next three-five years, in India?

Bruno: In the past few years, we have started seeing the process automation and digitisation in the energy management space in India and I don't see any reasons for a slowdown in this in the coming years. I see all energy management equipment will be connected products and further aid in automation and digitisation. Further, I do not see any particular segment taking a lead in the digitisation like power distribution utilities but it will evenly pan out in practically all segments including buildings, metro, airports... any place where power is used.

The second big trend I see, which is an outcome of the automation and digitisation, is remote availability. Given the COVID-19 pandemic experience, we are realising the importance and the dire need of remote accessibility of our networks. While our customers have been asking for connected products and solutions, I think the pandemic will further accelerate the demand for them to ensure that they are in control of their networks, even if they are facing a lockdown situation.

Power is an essential requirement for each one of us. In fact, I don't think we can think of economic growth if individuals and companies do not have access to competitive, reliable and efficient electricity. So the opportunities in India are tremendous. Looking at the next 3-5 years, I see demand for connected energy management products coming from the traditional segments like real estate, transportation (metro, railways, highways, airports), power distribution, metal, cement, steel and also new segments like data centers, e-commerce players and cloud service providers.

What are the inherent incentives do such frameworks bring for various stakeholders?

Bruno: I think there are enough examples coming out of the current lockdown which are good case studies for investing in digitisation and automation. It has been seen that Discoms, which have deployed smart meters have seen a billing efficiency of 95% through the use of smart meters during the lockdown, resulting in a 15-20% average increase in monthly revenue per consumer. Imagine the discoms who did not invest in such automation and digitisation initiatives would have lost so much cash as they could not invoice their customers.

Another example and closer to home is our investment in creating a virtual Factory Acceptance Test (FAT). We sell really complex machines with several stages of design and equipment being manufactured in our multiple factories. At the end of the entire process, the equipment has to be tested in the presence of the customer. During the lockdown, as the customers could not come to test the equipment, we created the virtual FAT where we can showcase the entire process virtually. This has helped us generate positive customer engagement.

Given the rapid strides being made by India on renewables, how do you see the renewables changing the paradigm in the power sector?

Bruno: I agree that renewables are making strong inroads in the Indian power sector. I see three major themes emerging in the Indian power sector. First, there is a clear shift from thermal to renewables and this is evident in the numbers of FY2020 where we see that the growth in the power generation in India has been led by the renewables segment. The next theme emerging from the renewables is the nature of the distribution. Unlike traditional power generation where we have a single point of generation, of course renewables will see a single point of generation due to the mega projects. However, the big difference will be the availability of distributed generation as we see individuals and companies setting up rooftop solar units. And this leads to the other theme in the segment. We are seeing the new types of players (individuals, large land owners, private equity, entrepreneurs, etc.) in the market and this will impact the entire decision-making process and the rationale for setting up the power generation unit.

Global supply chains witnessed its first major disruption of nearly two decades, in 2020. How has this impacted the Company? What changes/realignments do you foresee taking place in the supply chain, going forward?

Bruno: I think the trend of regionalisation was already there before the COVID-19 crisis. Regionalisation of the supply chain has been taking roots for some time now as companies are understanding the importance of having a flexible, regional supply chain. COVID-19 has only further strengthened this, given our dependence on a single country and the consequent impact we are witnessing today. Looking forward, I think we will see a higher migration by companies building flexibility in the supply chain as the shift towards regionalisation continues.

Arnab: While the global supply has seen massive disruption in recent times due to COVID-19, the Indian supply chain has seen an additional impact due to the prevailing geopolitical situation. We saw the impact of COVID-19 as early as January 2020 with the lockdown in China. Even as China recovered, we saw the pandemic spread to India and the subsequent lockdown. So in the last quarter of the FY2020, we started seeing delay of 4-6 weeks in the arrival of our raw material, impacting the Company significantly.

However, even as the supply chain disruption continued, we saw an added impact in the past few months due to the geopolitical situation which added to the woes in the supply chain. The Government of India has given directions for its tenders like disclosing the source, but it is still a wait and watch situation for us as we are trying to understand the various government directives.

I agree with the flexibility in the supply chain trend mentioned by Bruno. Infact, I see the shift happening within the country as well. For example, earlier we were dependent on the Nashik region in Maharashtra for some of our raw material but now we are developing newer sources across India.

The new normal is the buzzword these days. How do you view your operating landscape changing with the new normal?

Bruno: The new normal has created a different acceptable behaviour for all of us. In the new normal, we are finding new ways of working and interacting with our customers. Today, we have accepted that you do not have to be physically present in the office to do an efficient work; customers are understanding that we can connect with them virtually and the show will go on. Infact, we have done many webinars, virtual presentations for a small group or a large audience. We have organised webinars for over 200 members of our community including partners, distributors and specific customers. Again, the new normal will require investment in automation and digitisation.

Arnab: With the new normal, I think we are questioning traditional wisdom about the need for square feet office space. I see companies having compact footprint in terms of office space as an outcome of the new normal. A lot of work areas like customer interactions, office space, physical presence in the office, increased usage of virtual technologies and higher investment in related technologies, are getting redefined with the new normal.

How has SEIL's journey in India progressed since going public? Where do you see the opportunities for the Company?

Arnab: The energy management market has had an interesting trajectory. If you look a few years back, the segment was largely dependent on the government utility, steel companies, etc. Hence our dependence was extremely high on government-led customers and few private customers. This led us to a situation where we had large receivables on our books. So in early 2017, we decided to provision around ₹ 2,000 million and in a way restarted our journey in India. Since then, we have focussed on building a distributed portfolio and today we cater to multiple segments including mobility, oil and gas, data centers, etc, either directly or through our partners.

Bruno: Beyond the diversification of our customer portfolio, we have changed the way we do business. Earlier, we would be focused on selling equipment. Given the technology play in the energy management

In the past few years, we have started seeing the process automation and digitisation in the energy management space in India and I don't see any reasons for a slowdown in this in the coming years. I see all energy management equipment will be connected products and further aid in automation and digitisation. Further, I do not see any particular segment taking a lead in the digitisation like power distribution utilities but it will evenly pan out in practically all segments including buildings, metro, airports... any place where power is used.

space, we have restructured our business as we now focus on solutions and services. To take the complete benefit of our equipment, it is important to customise as per the specific customer requirement and hence our shift towards service.

Arnab already mentioned about the new segments we cater to. One of the important things to consider from the opportunity aspect is the number of private players entering either new areas or even the traditional businesses like power distribution. I think the new players appreciate the advantages of technology and are willing to make a higher investment in technology for better customer experience and higher returns. Importantly, this raises the expectation level and will put pressure on the public sector utilities to invest in technology for an equal play in the sectors.

How significant does India appear in the global scheme of things for the parent, Schneider Electric?

Bruno: Let me be absolutely clear that for Schneider Group, India is one of the most important markets. This is not only from the perspective of large market potential, but also from the skill sets available, technology and manufacturing, in the country. I had spoken about bringing in flexibility in the supply chain and our Indian operation is emerging as an important element of our global supply chain. Today, the operation is a manufacturing hub for many products like Medium Voltage Switches which are being exported to South East Asia, Africa, etc.

What do SEIL's key stakeholders expect from the Company in the coming years?

Arnab: The key message to all our stakeholders is that we are committed to the overall vision of the Company and have a clear strategy and milestones in place to achieve the vision. Since 2017, we have refocussed and now are in a steady recovery. It is imperative to understand that we are in the long-cycle recovery business and working towards the recovery in a structured way. We have made good progress in various aspects like portfolio rebalancing, offering the latest and most advanced technology in energy management to our customers, focusing on pruning our fixed costs and ensuring high employee motivation. If you look at the FY2020 where we saw two abnormal events like the flooding of our plant and the COVID-19 pandemic and normalise these quarters, you will realise that we are moving ahead in the promised direction. The effects of some of these initiatives are already visible in some areas of business and others will be visible as we go ahead in the next 12-18 months.

From our customer perspective, we are committed to bring in the best-in-class connected technology, products and services, backed by our global Research & Development powerhouse. Importantly, given our understanding of technology, we are confident that our offerings are safest, secure in all dimensions including the Cyber security.

The Group has a strong lineage of 184 years! We have been continuously setting new benchmarks for all aspects of our business. Based on the leading industrial manufacturing processes, we have achieved high levels of standardisation and ensured faster deliveries. In creating this, we aim to transform the conventional MV business model from Engineered to Order (ETO) to Made to Order (MTO) or Configured to Order (CTO) business model.

During the financial year, we continued to focus on developing efficient profitable go-to-model through partners. 'Accelerate growth through partners, our most profitable GTM model' is one of the key strategic pillars in our pursuit of repositioning the business to a profitable and service driven business. Given the varied market segments we cater to, including Power and Grid companies, CIBs, MMM, etc, we have built different, efficient partner models for our go-to market strategies. Our partners range from large EPC vendor, to contractors / integrators and partners/ distributors who help us in our transactional model where we sell component and core component. Over the years, we have built a strong base of such partners across all domains.

During the year, we have made good progress on our Life Sponsor programme and the Core Component Partner programme. We launched new offers of license for the MV and signed two licenses. We had two additional DX Avenue license cases. We had several best-in-class partners onboarded during the year including the following:

Sudhir Power Ltd.

An industry leader in the field of power generation providing complete turnkey electrical solutions from generation, distribution to electrification.

Tricolite Electrical Industries Ltd.

Market leaders in manufacturing from small home use electrical equipment to custom build switchboards and turnkey solutions.

Amara Raja Power Systems Ltd.

An industry veteran with a presence in the automotive battery business, packaged foods and beverages, electronics products manufacturing, infrastructure sector, power system production and fabrication of sheet metal products and fasteners.

PSR Pvt. Ltd.

Manufacturer and exporter of Special Purpose Machines, Induction Furnace and Equipments, Epoxy Mouldings, Current Transformer (C/T) and Potential Transformer (P/T), Welding Automations, Hydraulic Power Pack, APG Machines and more.

During the year, we continued to work on our channel strategy, given that the Indian Power and Grid market is still highly fragmented, and therefore inefficient throughout the entire supply chain from designing the product to delivery to maintenance.

Based on our global learnings, we have developed technical tools, best practices and case studies to support our partners and distributors as we join hands together to bring a digital transformation for our customers. As part of our strategy, we strive to improve interactions across the value chain and bring all partners on to one open platform. We have the best-in-class tools to simplify the capex phase. We continue to support in terms of offering the best solution/product at the best price creating the best value for our partners and customers.

All in all, the year ended with our continued focus on establishing a strong, robust distribution channel working hand in hand with our existing channel partners even as we widened our network by bringing more like-minded partners and distributors.

Partner Express

With Partner Express, our partners get simple selection, off-the-shelf ordering, personalised support as well as quick quotation prices and fixed delivery times. It's everything they need to keep their business agile, manage their time more efficiently and improve their productivity. During the year, our teams worked to ensure that we address all pain points of our partner community including Specifiers, Panel Builders, Contractors and Distributors.

After detailed feedback from our partners, we reworked on the order flow process to increase their productivity by digitising and simplifying the entire workflow. For example, our partners had to wait for nearly 1-2 weeks to just get an offer. Today with the 'Ecoreal Express', we have created the best offers in the system giving our partners instant access along with the peace of mind as they have the right information along with the right support. Further, they can now do an online booking on 'mySE', our customised portal for the partners. We continued to work on enhancing the user experience by offering intuitive and simple interface. Our commitment for our partners has helped us to reduce the Partner Express' order flow processing time from over 12 weeks to nearly 6-8 weeks.

Leveraging market trends & Government policies creating opportunities

The industrial revolution brought in a new era in our development, we saw the rise of industrialisation across the globe and its subsequent effects on urbanisation, and more recently, on digitisation. These three continue to be an inevitable part of our lives. These megatrends have continued to pose challenges and also offer new opportunities for the Company.

With governments across the globe, aiming to raise the standard of lives have been focusing to offer reliable power, they have added another goal - connectivity. In India, the central government and various state governments have put in policies to ensure high standards of power reliability and safety requirements. Further, additional initiatives like 'Make in India', Digital India, etc in conjunction with other policies like Ujjwal DISCOM Assurance Yojana (UDAY), Integrated Power Development Scheme (IPDS), Smart Cities, etc. are creating significant opportunities for growth. These new electrification paradigms are posing new challenges for the power system as every major producer looking at sustainability, reliability, higher efficiency, and flexibility... creation of new age power infrastructure. Given such dynamism, we have focused on specific segments like Utilities, Renewables, Oil & Gas, MMM, Data Centres and Transport by developing specific EcoStruxure™ in solutions to suit the unique requirement in each segment.

Mega Trends

Overhead to undercover lines

Increasingly power and grid companies are investing in underground cables for electricity distribution. And not without good reasons. Overhead lines are prone to blackouts and there is a continuous requirement for observation and maintenance. There is a high requirement of manpower to be ready and work on the lines as and when the fault occurs. A big reason for blackouts is due to damage caused by severe weather conditions such as lightning, hurricanes, cyclones, typhoons, tornados and freezing.

Unlike overhead lines, underground cables are protected against the vagaries of nature reducing aggregate technical and commercial losses for the utilities. Another big advantage, especially in a country like India, is that underground cables prevent illegal connections. Further, underground cables are more suitable for network expansion as they require a minimum clearances such as wildlife and forest clearances, which often delays transmission projects.

We provide a complete range of connected and sensor-based Ring Main Units (RMUs) for the smart grid to reduce outage time by detecting faults early and automatically reconfiguring the network afterward. Our products also integrate intermittent and distributed generation smoothly to maintain energy quality and stability.

The Era of Smart Metering

In a country like India, smart meters can help the Discoms reduce technical and commercial losses, improve their financial health, incentivise energy conservation, enhance ease of bill payments and ensure billing accuracy by getting rid of manual errors in meter reading.

The state-owned Energy Efficiency Services Limited (EESL) has been facing huge electricity distribution losses. Your Company has decided to put up five million smart meters in Bihar and Andhra Pradesh.

EESL worked with your Company to create a smart meter architecture to minimise human intervention in metering, billing and collection process and help in reducing theft by identifying loss pockets. We rolled an 'Edge Control' solution based on our EcoStruxure™ Advance Metering Operations. The solution helped EESL to establish two-way communication with the smart meters, acquire the data and enable remote meter reconfiguration, among other things. With the Edge Control deployment, EESL can now connect its entire network to enable it to have near real-time gathering and transfer of energy usage information.

With the solution, EESL gained multiple benefits including...

- Improved billing efficiency,
- Sustainable increase in its revenues,
- Peak load optimisation via demand side management,
- Increased network reliability and efficiency, and
- Optimisation of power procurement cost.

The importance of deploying smart meters for Discoms has come to the fore during the COVID-19 lockdown. It has been seen that Discoms, which have deployed smart meters, have seen a billing efficiency of 95% through the use of smart meters during the lockdown, resulting in a 15-20% average increase in monthly revenue per consumer.

Microgrids

In the new energy landscape, there is a high pressure on government and utilities to supply reliable, clean and guaranteed power to consumers. Hence, the way energy is being produced, bought and managed is witnessing a massive change. And microgrids and the benefits they offer are poised to play a starring role in this new, changing energy landscape.

Microgrids represent a paradigm shift from the traditional remote centralised nature of power generation and distribution to a localised, distributed generation. This makes the microgrids more resilient to mitigate grid disturbances as they can operate even when the main grid is down. Energy solutions like advanced microgrids are a natural extension of our 100-year legacy in the power distribution and energy management business.

Ranked as an industry leader by Navigant for best-in-class microgrid technology and solutions, we have successfully designed, built and maintained over hundreds of advanced microgrid and controls projects across the globe. By developing new microgrid technologies, financing models, and partnerships, we continue to help customers optimise their distributed energy resources and accelerates business performance.

During the year, we signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with battery leaders Amara Raja Power Systems Limited to study the desirability and feasibility of a collaboration in the field of Microgrids with energy storage. This will help us bring our international products and solutions in this area, along with global best practices to help solve India's electricity woes.

Creating a smarter electricity grid

Given the increasing climate changes consequences on all of us, organisations and individuals are relooking at their power requirement. There is a sharp outcry to reduce carbon and given that thermal mode of power generation is one of the biggest carbon emitters, power generation companies are looking at renewable sources of energy. In recent times, we have seen a large number of the new generation of power companies focussing solely on renewable sources. With further push and support from the government, in India and across the globe, there is an increased requirement to look at renewable sources of energy and move away from thermal usage. This is expected to pose a tremendous challenge to the existing generation, transmission, and distribution model. Currently, our model implies a centralised power generation, and the electricity grid is used to distribute the power to factories, homes, buildings, etc. Renewable energy generation and distribution are by nature intermittent and variable and this requires a new kind of distribution grid. Large scale integration of renewable generation requires special balancing mechanisms to deal with the uncertainty and variability to maintain grid stability and security. To address these issues and bring efficiency and seamless integration of emerging technologies in the field of monitoring, automation, control, communication and IT systems is the clarion call for the industry. Adding to the woes of the power Transmission & Distribution companies, the infrastructure and the grid have aged leading to overloading and frequent tripping. Companies have the option of continuing with the heavy maintenance in the aging system without having a guarantee of reliability, safety and increasing efficiency or invest in the creation of smart grids –the network which can easily adapt to changing and complex environments.

Smart grids integrate 21st century technology with the 20th century electrical grid and has the potential to revolutionise the electricity delivery system and provide access to electricity for all. A smart grid constitutes smarter supply (the efficient integration of renewable energy sources, flexible distribution) via a smart network, smarter demand (energy-efficient sites and homes, connected to the grid) and demand response to balance the two along with surveillance systems, facility management system, mobile systems and common control centre for an integrated management system. Schneider Electric is a pivotal organisation contributing to all these domains.

Case Study

Advanced Distribution Management System (ADMS)

Around the globe, and especially in India, power and grid companies are facing a multitude of challenges. There is a growing regulatory and customer pressure for increased reliability. For most traditional thermal-based plants, there is a continued outcry to reduce carbon emissions and decrease the carbon footprint, even as they face competitive challenges from new renewable players. There is increased pressure on them to invest in renewable energy and this means the adoption of distributed generation and energy storage, even as they have to continuously invest large capital in their own aging infrastructure. Of course, if they have to minimise distribution loss, they have to look at additional investments in smart meters and gear up for the entire data integration challenges. Not to mention the issues they face due to outages from severe weather and grid operation complexity.

Increasingly, utilities are looking at deploying ADMS to tackle many of the above highlighted issues.

Our own EcoStruxure™ ADMS is used by 75 utility companies that serve 70 million end-customers around the world and is an industry benchmark. Leading experts continue to recognise our ADMS for its unmatched outage response, optimised grid operations and Distributed Energy Resource (DER) management among others. We provide the most comprehensive network management solution, including monitoring, analysis, control, optimisation, planning, and training tools that all function on a common representation of the entire electric distribution network. By merging Distribution Management System (DMS), Outage Management System (OMS), and Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA) systems into one secure, unified solution with more than 50 advanced functions, it can maximise the benefits possible from a growing foundation of intelligent grid devices, distributed renewable energy, advanced metering creating a smart grid.

Gartner has recognised Schneider Electric as a leader in the 2017 Magic Quadrant for ADMS and received the highest scores for all three targeted use cases: improved outage response, optimised grid operations and DER management, in Gartner's Critical Capabilities for ADMS.

During the financial year, we partnered with the Kerala State Electricity Board (KSEB) to deliver an integrated and smart electrical distribution system to the cities of Thiruvananthapuram, Ernakulam and Kozhikode.

The state of Kerala has unique challenges including crisis caused by extreme rainfall and flash floods that disrupt power supply. With the EcoStruxure™ SCADA/DMS architecture, we will help in providing reliable and quality power at competitive cost and bringing down distribution losses.

We aim to work with our IoT enabled platform at three levels:

- Layer 1: 51 Nos of 33/11KV Substations monitored by RTUs, 305 Ring Main Units monitored by Feeder RTUs, 550 Fault Passage Indicators (FPI) installed on overhead lines
- Layer 2: ADMS and Geographical mapping of Distribution Network
- Layer 3: Command Control Centre and Disaster Recovery Centre

Driving the world's digital energy transition

Digitisation is the new paradigm for the energy sector as it shifts rapidly towards decentralised and intermittent renewable power from a centralised and pre-dominant thermal power generation. We believe that global energy consumption is expected to increase by 40% over the next two decades. In such a situation, there is a pressing need for Indian utilities to embark on the technological advancements in the sector, to trim operational inefficiencies and create a more agile organisation. With our commitment to the 'New World of Energy', we are emphasising the need to Decentralise, Digitise and Decarbonise to navigate through the turbulent times being faced by the Indian utilities. This will help in attaining an energy infrastructure that is more efficient, sustainable, reliable, and connected.

We have developed microgrid solutions, which inherently bring new levels of flexibility to the grid. Our innovative, advanced digital solutions and services enable utilities to operate and maintain more reliable, resilient and efficient grids, enabling the smooth integration and management of distributed energy resources into the power networks. Further, our open IoT-enabled framework for the digital transformation of distribution utilities, the EcoStruxure™ platform leverages the IT/OT convergence, ensuring high efficiency in grid operations, optimal asset management and enables an overall digital transformation.

Stakeholder Focus

Enhancing Customer Experience

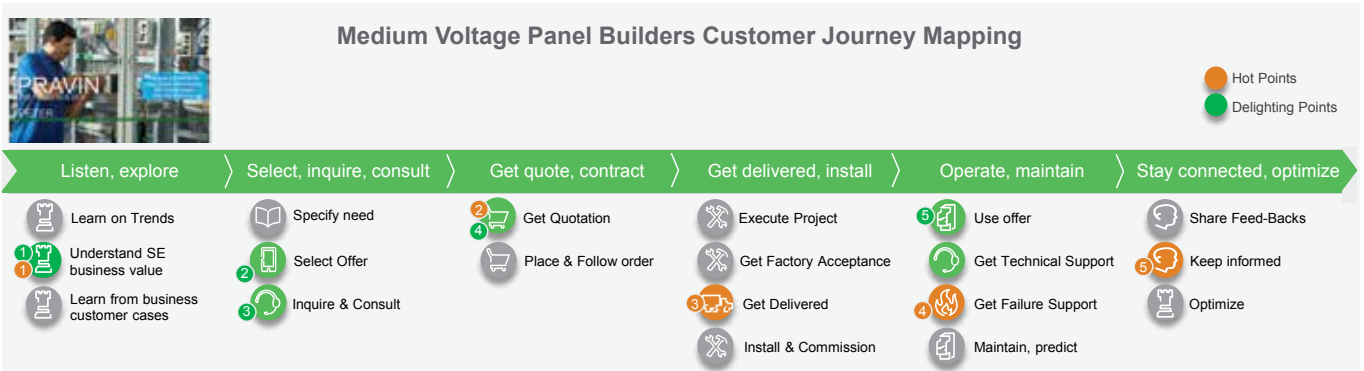

'Customer First' is a core value at Schneider Electric and customer satisfaction continues to be at the heart of our growth strategy. For everyone at the Company, 'Customer First' means being 'Above' and 'Beyond' for our customers.

Year 2018 saw a renewed focus of our customer experience transformation journey and we continued to take initiatives in FY2020 to further cement our foundation to strengthen the customer experience. During the year, we undertook a large-scale project on Panel Builder segment through 'Customer Journey Mapping'. A cross functional team interacted with some of our key partners in Q2 of FY2020 to understand their experience with Schneider across all touch points – Select Offer, Get Quotation, Get Delivered, Get Solution Delivered, Get Tech Support and Get Failure Support. Based on the feedback from our partners, we are working on furthering their experience in delivery improvement and failure support. We have started six sigma projects across and our teams have worked on completing the projects and we are confident that our partners will see a dramatic improvement in their experience in the mentioned areas in the current financial year.

With a continuing focus on customer experience transformation, we have set in motion actions to improve the customer care experience for our customers. We are improving our skill sets across commercial and technical support, simplifying the processes and doing customer communication for change management.

These actions during the financial year have helped us speed up our journey towards customer experience excellence and increasing customer loyalty for our products and solutions.

Customer Connect

As part of living the 'Customer First' value, we want to surprise and delight our customers. This means that each one of the employees are continuously thinking and anticipating the needs of our customers to ensure that we can go the distance to go that extra mile which will have a positive impact on the customer's experience.

Employees

People – employees, customers, partners, investors, etc – form the bedrock for the success of your Company. Our mission is to do a great job for our customers by creating the best product and solutions and simplifying the customer experience. We believe to engage with the other stakeholders, our employees are the key. Our simple yet powerful philosophy of ‘Great People will make Schneider Electric a great company’ lays down the guiding principle behind everything we do at the Company. Therefore, for Schneider, Human Resources (HR) is viewed as a strategic business partner aligned with the business requirements and plays an important role in managing, guiding and motivating the Company’s workforce. Our HR philosophy, policies and strategy are structured to attract and retain the best talent that encourages innovation and creates a healthy work environment. This is in line with our ultimate ambition to generate high performance and employee engagement through world-class people practices.

To support our 2020 vision of leading “...the new digitised energy world, offering our Customers and Partners, innovative connected products & solutions, ready for the then power distribution’s elevated expectations”, we created ‘Step Up’, a company wide initiative around people’s transformation. This is our Employee Value Proposition (EVP), our commitment to engage with existing and future talent. This combined with our core values - ‘Customer First’, ‘Dare to Disrupt’, ‘Embrace Different’, ‘Learn Every Day’ and ‘Act Like Owners’- help define the way we work together.

During the year, we decided to update our People Vision in order to accelerate the transformation of our Culture and Leadership. In order to uphold the values of ethical conduct and compliance with our principles of responsibility, we ensure all employees follow a detailed training and awareness programme to familiarise themselves with the standards and expectations of ethics.

Well-Being

We are now living a COVID-19 work and even if this is over soon, the pandemic has changed our concept of safety and well-being. We believe that for the business to thrive, we need people who have a feeling of high well-being. Well-Being creates performance and performance generates well-being. This, in turn, ensures engaged and positive employees and these works together to lead to the overall business growth of an organisation.

Our well-being programmes aim to give employees incentives, social support, tools and strategies to adopt and maintain healthy behaviours. We holistically look at well-being and have gone beyond just fitness programs as our Well-Being initiative revolves around Physical Well-Being, Social Well-Being, Mental Well-Being and Emotional Well-Being. Some of the activities under these pillars include...

- Ensuring overall Health and Wellness of our employees through regular health camps, onsite yoga and revised insurance policies;
- Well-Being labs to encourage teams to experiment and brainstorm new actions and take steps to implement those into reality;
- Leadership involvement to demonstrating their care about well-being of our employees;

We encourage our employees to attend various global and local training programmes (in person or via webinar) to gain better insights towards topics including Mindfulness, Neuroscience of Change, Positive Psychology at Work and realising your Strengths. A robust IT platform helps us to offer the wealth of documented knowledge easily anytime and anywhere.

Encourage individuals and teams to experiment actions to take care of their well-being

The most impactful well-being team experiments will be recognised every 6 months and the member's will be awaited

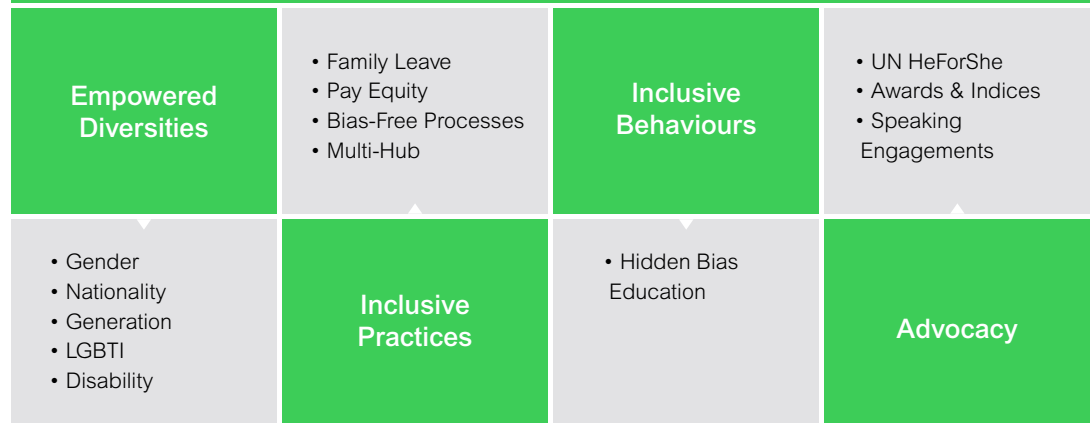

Diversity & Inclusion

Diversity and Inclusion (D&I) is an integral part of Schneider Electric's history, culture and identity. Over the years, we have been making progress to improve different aspects of our D&I practice. Our ambition is to provide equal opportunities to everyone, everywhere and we achieve this ambition through a number of strategies:

- Provide global job opportunities to employees via the introduction of multi-hub model and enhancement of international mobility policy;
- Promote an inclusive work environment by implementing a Global Family Leave policy, offering work schedule flexibility and initiating Pay Equity reviews;
- Develop inclusive leadership through the deployment of Hidden Bias Education workshops.

Diversity & Inclusion go hand in hand. Diversity is about having the 'right mix' and Inclusion about 'making the mix work'

Learning and Development

Development of people continues to be a key area of strategic focus for us and our learning and development initiatives during the year are based on the 3Es approach viz 'Education, Experience and Exposure'. Thus, all organised training programmes are based on development reviews held by managers addressing real and critical needs for the organisation. This not only includes technical skill-building training but also interventions and workshops of change management, culture-building and leadership.

To ensure that people managers are skilled to manage their respective teams effectively, they are offered training on 'Great Feedback and Performance Coaching'. During the year, a new module on 'Hidden Bias' was imparted to all people managers. Further, we continue to identify internal mentors and coaches to help our young professionals to hone their skills and apply their knowledge effectively.

Our internal trainer policy continues to attract people across the organisation allowing them to leverage the knowledge and experience inside Schneider in a planned and structured manner. It also helps in our stated objective of employee development.

We continue to build a culture of continuous learning, especially leveraging digital learning. We have created Champions who drive this process, resulting in a tremendous improvement in the productivity and efficiency of employees.

Sales and Marketing Assessment Workshop was conducted to gauge the development needs of all sales & marketing employees basis required competency levels and offer knowledge. Various initiatives and sessions have been planned since then with the right blend of technical knowledge, EcoStruxure™ modules, soft skills/behavioural development.

Development programs like Champions Club, Ojas, Urja, Transforming Schneider Leadership helped develop employees/leaders who can be role models for the future.

Leadership

With the launch of New People Vision, our Leadership Expectations acts as a ready reckoner for our leaders on 'How do I Lead @ Schneider Electric'. Our Leadership Expectations and core values form the foundation of our culture and every employee is expected to live by them. Our leaders are expected to not just deliver the business results but also to be a role model for our leadership expectations namely Shape our Future, Build the Best Team, Deliver the Results, Free up Energy and Use your Judgement.

Leadership Expectation

Bruno Brenard Dercle,

Managing Director & Chief Executive Officer

"Ethical Behaviour and Transparency are the most prized values that I am looking for and expecting from my business partners, be it my leadership team, our customers, our partners, all our supporting teams, and of course myself. We go faster, in an ever-changing environment, when we trust the stakeholders, and when they know they can trust you. And we need to go faster in the power systems industry when we see all the constraints our customers are facing with the development of new technologies and drastic changes in their business models."

Arnab Roy,

Whole-Time Director & Chief Financial Officer

"Let's come together and be a part of the transformational journey and built a future together."

Piyush Pandey,

Whole-Time Director

"It is during the tough times when the 'hero' within us is revealed. In this scrimmage of 'Uncertainties vs Human Spirit.' It is fascinating to see how Schneider employees and associates are surmounting challenges every single day with Agility, Solidarity and Discipline. Schneider Electric's advancement in cutting edge digital technologies is effectively solving total customer concerns, be it on-site support or high quality virtual inspection (V-FAT). We also need to continue good momentum in integrating existing and new partners in our value chain efficiently."

Leadership and Employee engagement: Periodic connect of Senior leadership including the MD and CFO with employees happens throughout the year. We have created multiple platforms like workshops with the leadership team, multi-dimensional activities, etc. to ensure a continuous two-way communication process.

Talent

One of our key initiatives under the 'Talent' pillar has been the deployment of Employer Value Proposition (EVP) in its true sense. These are core differentiators for us to attract and engage both internal and external talent, making Schneider Electric their employer of choice.

MEANINGFUL

We empower all to make the most of their energy and resources, ensuring Life Is On everywhere, for everyone, at every moment. Our mission is to provide energy and automation digital solutions for efficiency and sustainability. We adhere to the highest standards of governance and ethics.

INCLUSIVE

We want to be the most diverse, inclusive and equitable company, globally. We value differences, and welcome people from all walks of life. We believe in equal opportunities for everyone, everywhere.

EMPOWERED

Freedom breeds innovation. We believe that empowerment generates high performance, personal fulfillment and fun. We empower our people to use their judgement, do the best for our customers, and make the most of their energy.

Our Employee mobility processes provide opportunities to all people to gain lateral and/or vertical movements across different geographies, departments, businesses and help them grow and unleash their potential. There are various engagement activities carried out throughout the year including townhalls by leaders and regular leadership communications to update business strategies.

High Performance

Our firm belief in the High-Performance philosophy has helped create a culture where we have continuous feedback and helped to spur the business growth. We believe that employees should be responsible for their growth and have created a system that encourages ownership of each employee and manager for their respective development. We believe that contributes deeply to preserve the DNA of high-performance culture.

Performance and Rewards differentiation has been reinforced at each department and function, aiming to create a culture of recognition and celebrating performance at multiple levels across the organisation for individuals and teams.

Environment

Our plants continue to work to support in conserving the environment. During the financial year, we planted 250 plus mango trees on the factory campus. We put solar roof top panel, continued on our rainwater harvesting initiatives and ensured that the plants continue to be a zero discharge facility. Water conservation continued to be a top priority for us as we used the rejected RO water in our canteens for utensil cleaning and washrooms. Similarly, we used the Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) treated water for gardening

Plant

Safety continued to be an important theme at our plants. Across the plants, we conducted awareness programme on safety throughout the year. Multiple programmes were conducted, led by the plant senior management, to ensure high participation from plant employees. These included 'Enhance Safety and Health Performance by use of Advanced Technologies' where employees were briefed on the importance of safety opportunity reporting through Enablon application and encouraged digital reporting of observations. Other initiatives included detailed training on Safety Strategy 2020, SAFE First, Top 5 Hazard, 5 Guiding Principles and Safety Golden Rules; mock drills on safety, etc.

Beyond Safety, Customer Satisfaction and Quality were also the main focus area for the Vadodara Plant. In the two-day workshop conducted by key business segment leaders, they shared feedback on warranty service, CNPS and related feedback with the plant employees, along with the best practices and way forward for the year ahead.

As part of the well-being pillar, we conducted periodic medical check-up for plant employees. Further, a cancer awareness and screening camp was organised for women employees. The programme sensitised women regarding two major cancers - breast cancer and cervical cancer. Further, there was a discussion around prevention and cure and factors that contribute to cancer generation. The initiative also saw physical screening and preliminary diagnostic procedure for breast cancer. The plant also conducted workshop on Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) where we sensitised people managers on how and why it is important to maintain a healthy and harassment-free work environment for women.

Our plant team continued to show their awareness and commitment towards clean environment. The employees planted more than 250 plants inside factory premises and distributed plants to employees so they could nurture them at home, as well, as they took a pledge to look after these plants as their own children. Another initiative to spread awareness about clean and safe environment was done by using environment cart where environmental-related songs were played, and employee were encouraged to give ideas to enhance awareness pertaining to environment.

We continued to provide an environment which nurtures the innovative spirit of our employees in the plant. One example was the manufacture of the battery-operated three-wheeler truck for carrying waste bins. Earlier, the housekeeping employees would have to push the bins manually and was a tiring process from them. It was also impacting the 5S process of the external area of the plant. With the manufacture of the battery-operated truck, it is not only helping the employees but also resulted in an improved 5S peripheral saving of ₹ 0.5 million per year.

Resilience in time of Pandemic

As soon as we became aware of the COVID-19 pandemic, we immediately took precautions to ensure that employees remain safe from the dreaded virus. We implemented a seven-step plan to effectively safeguard our employees.

- We restricted all unnecessary visitors and discouraged such visitors from visiting the plant.
- We installed wash basin at the entrance gate of the plant and asked all outsiders to enter the dock only after washing their hands. Awareness campaign across the plant was done to showcase the importance of hand washing and maintaining hygiene. We used videos to explain this in various batches at the shop floor.
- We installed hand sanitiser dispensers inside the factory at different locations. Common touch points were cleaned thoroughly with disinfectant liquid and the entire plant was fumigated. To ensure social distancing, we changed the canteen seating arrangement.
- Beyond the hand washing videos, we created further awareness amongst employees by distributing soaps. To have employee participation, we encouraged employees to draw posters on COVID-19 and these were displayed inside the plant.

- We ensured that the temperature of all employees was taken twice in a day.
- We encouraged work from home for few functions and also conducted daily health survey.
- A mock drill was conducted to identify the gaps and clear actions identified for more robust action deployment.

Operating Environment (economy and industry – megatrends and company strategy)

Economy

Indian economy began on a strong footing for Financial Year (FY) 2019-2020. The economy closed FY2018-2019 registering a growth of 6.7%, with a higher growth expectation for the subsequent year. However, the forecast was far removed from the realities faced by the countries during the year.

The FY began with the general elections and generally saw a lull in the economic activity during the first quarter of the FY. While the non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) liquidity crisis had been brewing for some time, it came to the fore during the year as the crisis led to choking the flow of credit to the economy, especially the MSME sector which was already suffering from the twin blows of demonetisation and the goods and services tax. Along with corporate and environmental regulatory uncertainty and poor consumer sentiment, the growth rate started slowing down leading to a downgrade by global and Indian agencies to lower the growth rate to 5.8% (IMF) for the year. To tackle the slowdown, the central bank eased policy and the government widened budget deficit goals to spur economic growth.

While the country started seeing green shoots in the 3rd quarter of the year, 4th quarter saw the spread of COVID-19 and the subsequent lockdown across the country and killing hopes of economic recovery. It is now estimated that India will grow 4.8% to 5% for the FY.

Power sector

Energy continues to be one of the key drivers of any economy and India is no exception. Further, the respective government's commitment to providing its citizen with easy access to electricity saw the country implement a range of energy market reforms and schemes like Deendayal Upadhyaya Gram Jyoti Yojana or the Pradhan Mantri Sahaj Bijli Har Ghar Yojana.

It has carried out a huge amount of renewable electricity deployment, notably in solar energy. Even as the country is making great strides towards affordable, secure, and cleaner energy for all its citizens. According to a report released by the International Energy Agency, in association with NITI Aayog, India has seen a strong growth of renewables which accounts for almost 23% of the country's total installed capacity. The report also found that energy efficiency improvements in India avoided 15% of additional energy demand, oil and gas imports, and air pollution as well as 300 million tonnes of CO₂ emissions between 2000 and 2018.

All India installed capacity status and growth in 2019-2020

For the financial year in review, the installed capacity across all segments grew by 3.9%, slightly higher than its previous year's growth of 3.5%. As of March-end 2020, the total installed capacity of power stations in India stood at 370 Gigawatt (GW) up from 356 GW as of March-end 2019. Renewables continue to lead the segments as it added nearly 9.4 GW to the total installed capacity even as the government has set a target to produce 175 GW by 2022.

All India installed capacity status and growth in 2019-2020

| Installed Capacity | Thermal | Nuclear | Hydro | RES* | Total |
|--------------------|---------|---------|--------|--------|--------|
| March-2019(MW) | 226279 | 6780 | 45399 | 77642 | 356100 |
| March-2020(MW) | 230600 | 6780 | 45,699 | 87,028 | 370107 |
| Y0Y (% change) | 2% | 0% | 1% | 12% | 3.9% |

While Thermal continues to be the dominant form of electricity generation in India constituting about 62% of the total installed capacity, the country is still highly dependent on coal-based generation with 54% of the installed capacity. Renewable has been slowly and steadily inching up its share from 20% in 2018 to nearly 24% in 2020. Clearly, with the government support and falling solar cost, investments in renewable energy are outpacing spending on fossil fuel power generation, a sign that India is seriously committed to shifting its coal-heavy economy toward cleaner power.

Private sector's investment in the industry as it inched up its installed capacity share in the country to 47% by March ending 2020, a shade up from 46% a year earlier.

Successive governments in India continue to identify the power sector as a key sector of focus to promote sustained industrial growth. Over the past few years, the country has made rapid strides in this segment as the country's rank jumped to 24 in 2018 from 137 in 2014 on World Bank's Ease of doing business - "Getting Electricity" ranking.

Further, the investments in new plants and increasing efficiency in existing plants along with upgrading the T&D infrastructure has seen the country reducing its energy deficit to 0.5% in FY2020 from 8.7% in FY2013. Further, the country distributed over 353 million LED bulbs to consumers under Unnati Jyoti by Affordable LEDs for All (UJALA) as of July 08, 2019.

The country continues to attract investment in this sector. Some of the key announcements in recent times include...

NTPC announced an investment of ₹ 5 lakh million (US$ 7.26 billion) to add 10GW solar energy capacity by 2022.

Brookfield to invest US$ 800 million in ReNew Power.

In September 2019, Adani Transmission planned to acquire the entire stake in Bikaner Khetri Transmission.

Government plans to establish a renewable energy capacity of 500 GW by 2030.

The Union Budget 2020-2021 has allocated ₹ 158,750 million (US$ 2.27 billion) to the Ministry of Power and ₹ 55,000 million (US$ 786.95 million) towards the DeenDayal Upadhyay Gram Jyoti Yojana (DDUGJY).

On its part, the government is focussed on the power sector. Few initiatives by the Government of India to boost the Indian power sector includes...

ReNew Power and Shapoorji Pallonji will invest nearly ₹ 7,500 million (US$ 0.11 billion) in a 150 megawatt (MW) floating solar power project in Uttar Pradesh.

The Government of India is expected to offer nearly 20 power transmission projects worth ₹ 160,000 million (US$ 2.22 billion) for bidding in 2019.

Ujjwal DISCOM Assurance Yojana (UDAY) was launched by the Government of India to encourage operational and financial turnaround of State-owned Power Distribution Companies (DISCOMS), with an aim to reduce Aggregate Technical & Commercial (AT&C) losses to 15 % by FY2019.

The Government of India has released its roadmap to achieve 175 GW capacity in renewable energy by 2022, which includes 100 GW of solar power and 60 GW of wind power. The Union Government of India is preparing a 'rent a roof' policy for supporting its target of generating 40 GW of power through solar rooftop projects by 2022.

Company Performance

Mining, Minerals and Metals (MMM)

With a clear commitment of the MMM segment to lead the digital future, drive profitable growth and increase the Company's leadership in end-user segments, the division has continuously invested to build account management excellence and creating unique value propositions for our customers.

During the year, the segment targeted key cement and steel companies with its EcoStruxure™ campaign. We reached out to companies like JSW Steel, Tata Steel, SAIL, Saint Gobain, Penna, Ultratech, Holcim, Vedanta and Hindalco among other companies. Given its earlier success with Tata Steel, Dalmia, JSW Steel and RINL, the Company reached out to other targeted companies by sharing the EcoStruxure™ success story in these companies. During the year, the MMM business saw significant wins including JK Cement for the integrated one-stop solution of its greenfield cement plant, Rourkela Steel plant for the design based-turnkey project for setting the 33 KV GIS solution in its Captive Power Plant. The team was able to demonstrate that the Company could create differentiation by value-added engineering like beam cutting instead of considering dummy panels.

While the business saw good gains during the first three quarters of the financial year, the spread of COVID-19 and the subsequent countrywide lockdown from March 25, 2020, significantly impacted the business' ability to service orders and close the financial year.

Financial Review

The last quarter of the FY saw a major impact effecting the annual results. While COVID-19 lockdown in India happened in late March 2020, the disruption had started earlier beginning from late January. This resulted in a de-growth of about 20% in Q4 sales and had a direct impact on the FY2020 result as we closed the year with a sales of ₹ 13,844 million as compared to ₹ 13,903 million for FY2019. This also impacted the bottom line which closed at a loss of ₹ 296 million against the previous year loss of ₹ 244 million.

Risk Review

Vadodara Flood

Vadodara, in the state of Gujarat, saw heavy rains in July–August 2019. On July 31, 2019, the city saw nearly 50 cm of rainfall within 12 hours. As a result, the nearby dam overflowed and flooded the city.

This impacted the operations of our Switchgear factory in the city and it took us time to stabilise the operations. We lost nearly two weeks due to shut down of the plant and another two weeks to normalise the situation. This impacted our Q2 sales as we could not execute many orders and projects. Consequently, we filed two claims for property damage claim and business interruption of ₹ 224 million.

COVID-19

While India saw the lockdown due to COVID-19 from March 25, 2020 businesses across the country saw the impact from the beginning of the month. However, your Company started seeing the impact of the China lock down from the January 2020 itself as they started a wait and watch approach. We saw a complete lull in our business in the month of March 2020 which continues to date. While it will impact our full year revenues as March is usually the month where we close large volumes of our orders due to closing of the financial year. Also the limping back on normalcy can have a significant impact to our business in India.

In this time of uncertainty, our focus was to create a trusted source and a one stop for reliable information for all employees. During the crisis, the leaders stepped forward to communicate clearly and compassionately with our people. As part of an effective communication practice, our actions included—all employee communication and site-specific communication; messaging around engagement and well-being; learning and COVID-19 related developments; and regular COVID-19 updates on SPICE India. Acknowledging our heroes and highlighting customer wins, were part of our actions to encourage and inspire our employees.

Our efforts to nurture dialogue, provide resilience and establish trust with our people yielded positive results. At territory level, we added 62K+ learning hours through 467 virtual sessions and MLL playlists, including 1031 sales people trained. Conducted 233 external webinars; engaged 2349 partners and customers; and 19,000+ participants (customers and channels) attended digital training and webinar sessions.

Internal Control and Risk Management Policy

This information is covered as part of Board's Report which forms part of this Annual Report.

Outlook

Post the COVID-19 pandemic, India along with the other countries across the globe will see a crushing blow on their respective economies. While, as of date, India is slowly allowing some economic activity, experts estimate that getting the economy moving will take some time. Companies will have to get their entire supply chain started and this will hurt the companies' growth outlook along with that of the country. The International Monetary Fund (IMF) has warned that the repercussion of COVID-19 will be akin to the "worst recession since the Great Depression" and will dwarf the economic damage caused by the global financial crisis a decade back. However, the silver lining was that India and China would be the only two major economies likely to register growth, with all others contracting. Nevertheless, IMF along with other rating agencies have sharply slashed India's growth estimate for FY2021 to 1.9% from 5.8% estimated in January. As companies grapple with the twin shocks of a health crisis and a global recession, they will look at conserving 'cash' and this is expected to lead to a decline in fresh investments.

Across the globe, governments are putting in place stimulus packages to support companies in their countries. India has also announced an ₹ 2 million crore stimulus package in May 2020 in a bid to spur domestic demand and boost the economy. The combined package works out to roughly 10% of the GDP, making it among the most substantial in the world after the financial packages announced by the United States (13%) and Japan (21%). The stimulus package focuses on tax breaks for small businesses as well as incentives for domestic manufacturing. Further, proposals such as giving full tax exemption to companies making new investment of a minimum threshold in sectors such as medical devices, electronics, telecom equipment and capital goods was said to be under consideration of the government. Investments in infrastructure may also form part of the package.

We hope that the heavy spends on public relief and fighting the pandemic does not limit the ability of the government to spend heavily on Capex. Nevertheless, we feel that segments like MMM, Electric companies, Automotive and Transportation are likely to be under pressure in FY2021.

Events

Elecrama

We showcased our portfolio of sustainable and digital solutions for the new world of electricity at the 14th edition of ELECRAMA 2020, the largest congregation of power sector ecosystem in the country. Committed towards powering and digitising the economy, the company had showcased its state-of-the-art technologies across various electro-intensive and electro-sensitive market segments such as Connected Grid, Smart City, MMM, Transportation, Residential, Real Estate, Data Centre, Hotels, Healthcare, WWW, Manufacturing and Services.

For the very first time, as a part of ELECRAMA 2020, Schneider Electric had also organised a Thought Leadership Theatre (TLT), with TED-style talks and panel discussions. The TLT showcased discussions with Schneider Electric global and India leaders along with industry experts around critical issues including Cybersecurity, Circular Economy, Digital Buildings, Sustainability, SF6-Free technology and more. Through these sessions, the Company aimed to provide insights into emerging technologies, innovation, climate crisis. It also helped in understanding the impact of digitisation on the economy and the new world of electricity.

Schneider Electric won the first prize for the 'Best Stall Design' for booths across all the businesses exhibiting at Elecrama.

On the Day 4, at the TLT, the Company kicked off with a discussion between Frederic Godemel, EVP, Power Systems, Schneider Electric & Ponniah Sankarakumar, Director, Power Systems, Schneider Electric India on a new world of energy, decarbonisation, and what the future holds in terms of efficient energy use and consumption.

They shared their insights into how our industry is transforming, and environmental concern is at the heart of this sector. Being one of the powerful GHGs that contributes to global warming, at Schneider Electric, we have developed SF6-free switchgear for medium voltage. With our pledge to go SF6-free completely by 2025, we are making a cause towards green energy, efficiency and sustainability.

Introducing the SF6-free medium-voltage switching technology in India

SulfurHexafluoride (SF6) is one of the most potent greenhouse gas and we have been working on creating alternative to SF6 in our switching technology. Our R&D has been working on creating SF6-free products and have achieved major technology breakthrough in creating the switchgears of the future.

These new switchgears are sustainable and digital as they use pure air instead of SF6 gas and allow users to take full advantage of digital features to unlock the value of data. Our products have an innovative shunt vacuum interruption technology associated with pure air insulation. The combination enables the replacement of SF6 while maintaining a small footprint and cost-effectiveness.

Importantly, the new SF6-free medium-voltage switching technology achieves a level of cost efficiency that is crucial for the industry and vital for the widespread adoption of more sustainable equipment in the field.

In our journey to bring sustainability in our products, we have started deploying SF6 free medium voltage switching technology across the globe, including India.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the Ind AS financial statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs), as specified under section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the 'Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Ind AS Financial Statements' section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the 'Code of Ethics' issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Ind AS financial statements.

Material Uncertainty Related to Going Concern

We draw attention to Note 43 in the Ind AS financial statements which, indicate that the Company has accumulated losses and its net worth has been substantially eroded, the Company has incurred a net loss during the current and previous years. These conditions, along with other matters set forth in Note 43, indicate the existence of a material uncertainty that may cast significant doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. Our opinion is not qualified in respect of this matter.

Emphasis of Matter

We draw attention to Note 40 to the accompanying Ind AS financial statements, which describes the management's assessment of the impact of uncertainties related to COVID 19 and its consequential effects on the business operations of the Company. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Ind AS financial statements for the financial year ended March 31, 2020. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the Ind AS financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters. For each matter below, our description of how our audit addressed the matter is provided in that context.

In addition to the matter described in the 'Material Uncertainty Related to Going Concern' section, we have determined the matters described below to be the key audit matters to be communicated in our report. We have fulfilled the responsibilities described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the Ind AS financial statements section of our report, including in relation to these matters. Accordingly, our audit included the performance of procedures designed to respond to our assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS financial statements. The results of our audit procedures, including the procedures performed to address the matters below, provide the basis for our audit opinion on the accompanying Ind AS financial statements.

Key audit mattersHow our audit addressed the key audit matter*Tax Litigations (as described in Note 33 of the Ind AS financial statements)

The Company is subject to number of significant tax litigations. The total contingent liabilities as of March 31, 2020, in relation to tax matters are ₹ 1,581.21 Million.

Due to complexity of cases, significant amount involved and timescales for resolution, significant judgement and estimates are required by the management to assess the impact of these litigations on the financial positions, results of operations and cash flows and thus there is a risk that such litigations may not be adequately provided for or disclosed in the Ind AS financial statements. Accordingly, tax litigations have been identified as a key audit matter in our audit of the Ind AS financial statements.

Our audit procedures included the following:

- Obtained an understanding of the process of identification of tax litigations and related contingent liabilities and tested the operating effectiveness of management's key controls over recognition and disclosures of tax provisions and contingencies.
- Obtained the details of the tax litigations of the Company and discussed with the management to understand the detail of the underlying matters and basis for management's judgement and estimates on both the probability of success in significant cases, and the magnitude of any potential loss.
- Obtained confirmation, where appropriate, from relevant third-party legal counsel. Evaluated the objectivity, competence and relevant experience of third-party legal counsel.
- Engaged tax specialists to assess management's application and interpretation of tax legislation affecting the Company, and to consider the quantification of exposures and settlements arising from disputes with tax authorities in the various tax jurisdictions.
- Assessed the relevant disclosures made within the Ind AS financial statements.

Revenue Recognition

For the year ended March 31, 2020 the Company has recognized revenue from contracts with customers of ₹ 13,809.31 Million.

Revenue from contracts with customers is recognized when control of the goods or services are transferred to the customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services.

The Company has concluded that as principal, it typically controls the goods or services before transferring them to the customers. The variety of terms that define when control is transferred to the customer, give rise to the risk that revenue is not recognized in the correct period.

Revenue is also an important element of how the Company measures its performance. The Company focuses on revenue as a key performance measure, which could create an incentive for revenue to be recognized before the controls have been transferred.

Accordingly, due to the significant risk associated with revenue recognition in accordance with terms of Ind AS 115 'Revenue from contracts with customers', it has been determined a key audit matter in our audit of the Ind AS financial statements.

Our audit procedures included the following:

- Evaluated the Company's revenue recognition accounting policies and its compliance in terms of Ind AS 115 'Revenue from contracts with customers'.
- Obtained an understanding of management's internal controls over the revenue recognition process and evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of key controls.
- Performed sales transactions testing based on a representative sampling of sales to check recording of related revenues and trade receivables taking into consideration the terms and conditions of the agreements with customers including the shipping terms.
- Tested sales transactions made near the year end by agreeing a sample of sales transactions occurring around the year end to supporting documentation including customer confirmation of receipt of goods to establish that sales and corresponding trade receivables are properly recorded in the correct period.
- Performed monthly analytical reviews to identify any unusual sales trends.
- Assessed the relevant disclosures made within the Ind AS financial statements.

Key audit mattersHow our audit addressed the key audit matter*Impairment – Trade Receivables (as described in Note 5 and 8 of the Ind AS financial statements)

Trade receivables represent a significant portion of the total assets of the Company as at March 31, 2020. The Company has trade receivables of ₹ 4,257.26 Million as at March 31, 2020.

The Company is required to regularly assess the recoverability of its trade receivables. Management has designed and adopted the expected credit loss (ECL) model for creating impairment allowance. In assessing the recoverability of trade receivables, management has further considered the specific provision on customer to customer basis and accounted the impairment if recoverability of outstanding amount is considered doubtful.

In assessing the recoverability of trade receivables, management also exercised significant judgements to evaluate the collectability from individual customers after considering their creditworthiness, whether they have financial difficulties, experience of default or delinquency in payments, and aging analysis. The judgements applied by management have a significant impact on the level of provision required for trade receivables.

The recoverability assessment of trade receivables was significant to our audit and accordingly, this matter has been determined to be a key audit matter in our audit of the Ind AS financial statements.

Our audit procedures included the following:

- Obtained an understanding of the process of recoverability assessment of outstanding amount from customers and evaluated the design and tested the operating effectiveness of key controls.
- Evaluated the assumptions used to calculate the expected credit loss (ECL) model to create impairment allowance for doubtful debts.
- Tested the aging of trade receivables for a sample of transactions with customers and discussed with the management for their assessment of receivables which were due for more than their respective credit periods.
- Circulated the balance confirmation letter to the customers and analysed the responses in balance confirmation letter obtained from the customers.
- We evaluated management's continuous assessment of their assumptions used in the impairment assessment of trade receivables. These considerations include whether there are regular receipts from the customers, past collection history as well as an assessment of the customers' credit ability to make payments and various communications with the customers.
- Assessed the relevant disclosures made within the Ind AS financial statements.

Recoverability of carrying value of property plant and equipment, capital work in progress, right-of-use assets and intangible assets (as described in Note 3, 4 and 32 of the Ind AS financial statements)

The Company has incurred losses in the recent years and loss for the year inclusive of other comprehensive income amounts to ₹ 392.24 Million and as at March 31, 2020 accumulated losses of the Company aggregates to ₹ 3,587.10 Million. As a result, there is risk that carrying value of property, plant and equipment may be higher than their recoverable amount. As at March 31, 2020, the carrying value of property, plant and equipment and capital work in progress including right of use assets and intangible assets are ₹ 3,169.96 Million which represents a significant portion of the total assets of the Company.

Our audit focused on this area because the assessment of recoverable value of property, plant and equipment requires the management of the Company to make a number of key judgements and estimates with respect to the future performance and profitability of the Company, including judgment and estimate on future growth rate and the impact of the general economic environment in the sector in which it operates. The assessment of the recoverable amount also involves significant judgements about the future cash flow forecasts and the discount rate that is applied.

Our audit procedures included the following:

- Understood management and board's controls over the assessment of the carrying value of property, plant and equipment, capital work in progress, right to use assets and intangible assets to determine whether any asset impairment was required.
- Assessed management's forecasting accuracy by comparing prior year forecasts to actual results and assessing the potential impact of any variances.
- Tested the adequacy of the weighted average cost of capital used to discount the impairment model through engaging valuation experts.
- Tested the integrity of the models together with their clerical accuracy.
- Assessed the relevant disclosures made within the Ind AS financial statements.

Other Information

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the Director's Report, Secretarial Audit Report, Management Discussion and Analysis (but does not include the Ind AS financial statements and our auditor's report thereon), which we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report.

Our opinion on the Ind AS financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the Ind AS financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether such other information is materially inconsistent with the Ind AS financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management for the Ind AS Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view of the financial position, financial performance including other comprehensive income, cash flows and changes in equity of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the Ind AS financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the Ind AS financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Board of Directors are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Ind AS Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Ind AS financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these Ind AS financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Ind AS financial statements, whether due to fraud or error; design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the Company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Ind AS financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Ind AS financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the Ind AS financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the Ind AS financial statements for the financial year ended March 31, 2020 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

ANNEXURE 2 TO THE INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT OF EVEN DATE ON THE IND AS FINANCIAL STATEMENTS OF SCHNEIDER ELECTRIC INFRASTRUCTURE LIMITED

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act")

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Schneider Electric Infrastructure Limited ("the Company") as of March 31, 2020, in conjunction with our audit of the Ind AS financial statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management's Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the Company's policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Companies Act, 2013.

Auditor's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the "Guidance Note") and the Standards on Auditing as specified under section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls and, both issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified audit opinion on the internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting with reference to these Ind AS Financial Statements

A company's internal financial control over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal financial control over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of Ind AS financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting with reference to these Ind AS Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Qualified Opinion

According to the information and explanations given to us and based on our audit, the following material weaknesses have been identified in the operating effectiveness of the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements as at March 31, 2020:

1. The Company's internal control system for procurement to payment function was not operating effectively, since there were material weaknesses in approval of purchase orders and processing and recording of invoices. This could potentially result in material misstatement in Trade Payables. This has also caused us to qualify our opinion in the earlier year.
2. The Company's internal control system for financial statement closure process particularly for review of month end journal entries was not operating effectively. This could potentially result in material misstatement in the Company's financial statements. This has also caused us to qualify our opinion in the earlier year.

A 'material weakness' is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal financial control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the company's annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis.

In our opinion, the Company has, in all material respects, maintained adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements as of March 31, 2020, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, and except for the possible effects of the material weakness described above on the achievement of the objectives of the control criteria, the Company's internal financial controls over financial reporting with reference to these Ind AS financial statements were operating effectively as of March 31, 2020.

Explanatory paragraph

We also have audited, in accordance with the Standards on Auditing issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India, as specified under Section 143(10) of the Act, the Ind AS financial statements of Schneider Electric Infrastructure Limited, which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2020, the Statement of Profit and Loss, including the statement of Other Comprehensive Income, the Cash Flow Statement and the Statement of Changes in Equity for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information. This material weakness was considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of audit tests applied in our audit of the March 31, 2020 Ind AS financial statements of Schneider Electric Infrastructure Limited and this report does not affect our report dated June 16, 2020, which expressed an unqualified opinion on those Ind AS financial statements.

Notes to Financial Statements

1 CORPORATE INFORMATION

Schneider Electric Infrastructure Limited was incorporated on March 12, 2011. It is a public Company domiciled in India and incorporated under the provisions of the Companies Act, 1956. Its shares are listed on two stock exchanges in India. The registered office of the company is located at Milestone 87, Vadodara, Gujarat. The Company is engaged in the business of manufacturing, designing, building and servicing technologically advanced products and systems for electricity distribution including products such as distribution transformers, medium voltage switchgears, medium and low voltage protection relays and electricity distribution and automation equipment.

These financial statements were approved for issue in accordance with a resolution of the Board of Directors on June 16, 2020.

2 SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

2.01 Basis of preparation

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with Indian Accounting Standards (IND AS) notified under the section 133 of the Companies Act 2013 (the Act) read with Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rule 2015 (as amended from time to time) and other relevant provision of the Act. The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except for the following assets and liabilities:

- i) Certain financial assets and liabilities that is measured at fair value
- ii) Defined benefit plans-plan assets measured at fair value

The financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees ('INR') and all values are rounded to nearest million upto two decimal places, except when otherwise indicated.

2.02 Current versus non-current classification

The Company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current/non-current classification. An asset is treated as current when it is:

- Expected to be realized or intended to be sold or consumed in normal operating cycle
- Held primarily for purpose of trading

- Expected to be realized within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

- It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle
- It is held primarily for purpose of trading
- It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period, or
- There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period

All other liabilities are classified as non-current.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

The operating cycle is the time between the acquisition of assets for processing and their realization in cash and cash equivalents. The Company has identified twelve months as its operating cycle.

2.03 Property, plant and equipment

Property, Plant and equipment including capital work in progress are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses, if any. The cost comprises of purchase price, taxes, duties, freight and other incidental expenses directly attributable and related to acquisition and installation of the concerned assets and are further adjusted by the amount of tax credit availed wherever applicable. The Company identifies and determines cost of each component/ part of the asset separately, if the component/ part have a cost which is significant to the total cost of the asset and has useful life that is materially different from that of the remaining asset. Similarly, when significant parts of plant and equipment are required to be replaced at intervals or when a major inspection/overhauling is required to be performed, such cost of replacement or inspection is capitalised (if the recognition criteria is satisfied) in the carrying amount of plant and equipment as a replacement cost or cost of major inspection/overhauling, as the case may be and depreciated separately based on their specific useful life. Likewise, when a major inspection is performed, its cost is recognised in the carrying amount of the plant and equipment as a replacement if the recognition criteria are satisfied. All other repair and maintenance costs are recognised in statement of profit and loss as incurred. The present value of the expected cost for the decommissioning of an asset after its use is included in the cost of the respective asset if the recognition criteria for a provision are met.

Subsequent expenditure related to an item of fixed asset is added to its book value only if it increases the future benefits from the existing asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. All other expenses on existing fixed assets, including day-to-day repair and maintenance expenditure and cost of replacing parts, are charged to the statement of profit and loss for the period during which such expenses are incurred.

Items of stores and spares that meet the definition of property, plant and equipment are capitalized at cost and depreciated over their useful life. Otherwise, such items are classified as inventories.

An item of property, plant and equipment and any significant part initially recognised is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss arising on derecognition of the asset (calculated as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset) is included in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognised.

The residual values, useful lives and methods of depreciation of property, plant and equipment are reviewed at each financial year end and adjusted prospectively, if appropriate.

Property, plant and equipment held for sale is valued at lower of their carrying amount and net realizable value. Any write-down is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Depreciation on property, plant and equipment is provided on pro-rata basis on straight-line method using the useful lives of the assets estimated by management based on technical evaluation; these lives are in certain cases differ from the lives prescribed under Schedule II of the Act. The Company has used the following useful lives to provide depreciation:

| Assets | Useful life (in years) |
|---|------------------------|
| Building | 10 and 40 |
| Plant and Equipment | 1,3,5, 6.5 ,8 and 10 |
| Furniture and Fixtures (including office equipment) | 4 and 10 |
| Motor Vehicles | 4 and 8 |
| EDP Equipment | 3 and 4 |

Leasehold Land and Leasehold Improvements are depreciated over the primary period of lease. An asset below ₹ 5,000 is fully depreciated in the year of capitalization.

2.04 Intangible assets

Intangible assets acquired separately are measured on initial recognition at cost. The cost of intangible assets acquired in an amalgamation in the nature of purchase is their fair value as at the date of amalgamation. Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses, if any. Internally generated intangible assets, excluding capitalized development costs, are not capitalized and expenditure is reflected in the statement of profit and loss in the year in which the expenditure is incurred.

Intangible assets are amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful economic life. The company uses a rebuttable presumption that the useful life of an intangible asset will not exceed ten years from the date when the asset is available for use. If the persuasive evidence exists to the affect that useful life of an intangible asset exceeds ten years, the company amortizes the intangible asset over the best estimate of its useful life. Such intangible assets and intangible assets not yet available for use are tested for impairment annually, at the cash-generating unit level. All other intangible assets are assessed for impairment whenever there is an indication that the intangible asset may be impaired.

Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of an intangible asset are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognised in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is derecognised.

Intangible assets are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful life as under:

| Assets | Useful Life (in years) |
|-------------------|------------------------|
| Computer Software | 5 |

2.05 Impairment of non- financial assets

The Company assesses, at each reporting date, whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or cash-generating unit's (CGU) fair value less costs of disposal and its value in use. Recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or group of assets. Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount.

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining fair value less costs of disposal, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

Impairment losses including impairment on inventories, are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life. These calculations are corroborated by valuation multiples, quoted share prices for publicly traded companies or other available fair value indicators.

The Company bases its impairment calculation on detailed budgets and forecast calculations, which are prepared separately for each of the Company's CGUs to which the individual assets are allocated. These budgets and forecast calculations generally cover a period of five years. For longer periods, a long-term growth rate is calculated and applied to project future cash flows after the fifth year. To estimate cash flow projections beyond periods covered by the most recent budgets/forecasts, the Company extrapolates cash flow projections in the budget using a steady or declining growth rate for subsequent years, unless an increasing rate can be justified. In any case, this growth rate does not exceed the long-term average growth rate for the products, industries, or country or countries in which the entity operates, or for the market in which the asset is used.

Impairment losses of continuing operations, including impairment on inventories, are recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

2.06 Financial instruments

A financial instrument is any contract that gives rise to a financial asset of one entity and a financial liability or equity instrument of another entity.

i. Financial Assets

The Company classifies its financial assets in the following measurement categories:

- Those to be measured subsequently at fair value (either through other comprehensive income, or through profit or loss)
- Those measured at amortized cost

Initial recognition and measurement

All financial assets are recognised initially at fair value plus, in the case of financial assets not recorded at fair value through profit or loss, transaction costs that are attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset. Purchases or sales of financial assets that require delivery of assets within a time frame established by regulation or convention in the market place (regular way trades) are recognised on the trade date, i.e., the date that the company commits to purchase or sell the asset.

Subsequent measurement

For purposes of subsequent measurement financial assets are classified in following categories:

- Debt instruments at fair value through profit and loss (FVTPL)
- Debt instruments at fair value through other comprehensive income (FVTOCI)
- Debt instruments at amortized cost
- Equity instruments

Where assets are measured at fair value, gains and losses are either recognised entirely in the statement of profit and loss (i.e. fair value through profit or loss) or recognised in other comprehensive income (i.e. fair value through other comprehensive income). For investment in debt instruments, this will depend on the business model in which the investment is held. For investment in equity instruments, this will depend on whether the Company has made an irrevocable election at the time of initial recognition to account for equity instruments at FVTOCI.

Debt instruments at amortized cost

A Debt instrument is measured at amortized cost if both the following conditions are met:

- Business Model Test: The financial asset is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets for collecting contractual cash flows, (rather than to sell the instrument prior to contractual maturity to realize its fair value changes) and

- Cash flow characteristics test: The Contractual terms of the asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest (SPPI) on the principal amount outstanding.

This category is most relevant to the Company. After initial measurement, such financial assets are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest rate (EIR) method. Amortised cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of EIR. EIR is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash receipts over the expected life of the financial instrument or a shorter period, where appropriate, to the gross carrying amount of the financial asset. When calculating the effective interest rate, the Company estimates the expected cash flows by considering all the contractual terms of the financial instrument but does not consider the expected credit losses. The EIR amortization is included in finance income in profit or loss. The losses arising from impairment are recognised in the profit or loss. This category generally applies to trade and other receivables.

Debt instruments at fair value through OCI

A Debt instrument is measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if following criteria are met:

- Business Model Test: The objective of financial instrument is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and for selling financial assets.
- Cash flow characteristics test: The contractual terms of the Debt instrument give rise on specific dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on principal amount outstanding.

Debt instrument included within the FVTOCI category are measured initially as well as at each reporting date at fair value. Fair value movements are recognised in the other comprehensive income (OCI), except for the recognition of interest income, impairment gains or losses and foreign exchange gains or losses which are recognised in statement of profit and loss. On derecognition of asset, cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in OCI is reclassified from the equity to statement of profit and loss. Interest earned whilst holding FVTOCI financial asset is reported as interest income using the EIR method.

Debt instruments at FVTPL

FVTPL is a residual category for financial instruments. Any financial instrument, which does not meet the criteria for amortized cost or FVTOCI, is classified as at FVTPL. In addition, the company may elect to designate a debt instrument, which otherwise meets amortized cost or FVTOCI criteria, as at FVTPL. However, such election is allowed only if doing so reduces or eliminates a measurement or recognition inconsistency (referred to as 'accounting mismatch'). The company has not designated any debt instrument as at FVTPL.

Debt instruments included within the FVTPL category are measured at fair value with all changes recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Derecognition A financial asset (or, where applicable, a part of a financial asset or part of a Company of similar financial assets) is primarily derecognised (i.e. removed from the Company's statement of financial position) when:

- The rights to receive cash flows from the asset have expired, or
- the Company has transferred its rights to receive cash flows from the asset or has assumed an obligation to pay the received cash flows in full without material delay to a third party under a "pass through" arrangement and either;
- the Company has transferred the rights to receive cash flows from the financial assets or
- the Company has retained the contractual right to receive the cash flows of the financial asset but assumes a contractual obligation to pay the cash flows to one or more recipients.

Where the Company has transferred an asset, the Company evaluates whether it has transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the ownership of the financial assets. In such cases, the financial asset is derecognised. Where the entity has not transferred substantially all the risks and rewards of the ownership of the financial assets, the financial asset is not derecognised.

Where the Company has neither transferred a financial asset nor retains substantially all risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset, the financial asset is derecognised if the Company has not retained control of the financial asset. Where the Company retains control of the financial asset, the asset is continued to be recognised to the extent of continuing involvement in the financial asset.

Impairment of financial assets

In accordance with IND AS 109, the Company applies expected credit losses (ECL) model for measurement and recognition of impairment loss on the following financial asset and credit risk exposure:

- Financial assets measured at amortized cost;
- Financial assets measured at fair value through other comprehensive income(FVTOCI);

The Company follows “simplified approach” for recognition of impairment loss allowance on:

- Trade receivables or contract revenue receivables;
- All lease receivables resulting from the transactions within the scope of Ind AS 116, Leases.

Under the simplified approach, the Company does not track changes in credit risk. Rather, it recognizes impairment loss allowance based on lifetime ECLs at each reporting date, right from its initial recognition. The Company uses a provision matrix to determine impairment loss allowance on the portfolio of trade receivables. The provision matrix is based on its historically observed default rates over the expected life of trade receivable and is adjusted for forward looking estimates. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are analysed.

For recognition of impairment loss on other financial assets and risk exposure, the Company determines whether there has been a significant increase in the credit risk since initial recognition. If credit risk has not increased significantly, 12-month ECL is used to provide for impairment loss. However, if credit risk has increased significantly, lifetime ECL is used. If, in subsequent period, credit quality of the instrument improves such that there is no longer a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, then the Company reverts to recognizing impairment loss allowance based on 12- months ECL.

ii. Financial liabilities:

Initial recognition and measurement

Financial liabilities are classified at initial recognition as financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, loans and borrowings, and payables, net of directly attributable transaction costs. The Company financial liabilities include loans and borrowings including bank overdraft, trade payables, trade deposits, retention money, and liabilities towards services, sales incentive and other payables.

Subsequent Measurement

For the purpose of subsequent measurement, financial liabilities are classified in two categories:

- Financial Liabilities at fair value through profit or loss
- Financial Liabilities at amortised cost (loan and borrowings)

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include financial liabilities held for trading and financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition as at fair value through profit or loss. Financial liabilities are classified as held for trading if they are incurred for the purpose of repurchasing in the near term.

Gains or losses on liabilities held for trading are recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Financial liabilities designated upon initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss are designated as such at the initial date of recognition, and only if the criteria in IND AS 109 are satisfied. For liabilities designated as FVTPL, fair value gains/ losses attributable to changes in own credit risk are recognised in OCI. These gains/ losses are not subsequently transferred to profit and loss. However, the Company may transfer the cumulative gain or loss within equity. All other changes in fair value of such liability are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The Company has not designated any financial liability as at fair value through profit and loss.

Financial liabilities at amortised cost (Loans and borrowings)

Borrowings are initially recognised at fair value, net of transaction cost incurred. After initial recognition, interest-bearing loans and borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the EIR method. Gains and losses are recognised in statement of profit and loss when the liabilities are derecognised as well as through the EIR amortization process. Amortized cost is calculated by taking into account any discount or premium on acquisition and fees or costs that are an integral part of the EIR. The EIR amortization is included as finance costs in the statement of profit and loss.

Trade Payables

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Company prior to the end of financial year which are unpaid. Trade and other payables are presented as current liabilities unless payment is not due within 12 months after the reporting period. They are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortized cost using EIR method.

Derecognition

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation under the liability is discharged or cancelled or expires. When an existing financial liability is replaced by another from the same lender on substantially different terms, or the terms of an existing liability are substantially modified, such an exchange or modification is treated as the derecognition of the original liability and the recognition of a new liability. The difference in the respective carrying amounts is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Embedded derivatives

An embedded derivative is a component of a hybrid (combined) instrument that also includes a non-derivative host contract with the effect that some of the cash flows of the combined instrument vary in a way similar to a standalone derivative. An embedded derivative causes some or all of the cash flows that otherwise would be required by the contract to be modified according to a specified interest rate, financial instrument price, commodity price, foreign exchange rate, index of prices or rates, credit rating or credit index, or other variable, provided in the case of a non-financial variable that the variable is not specific to a party to the contract. Reassessment only occurs if there is either a change in the terms of the contract that significantly modifies the cash flows that would otherwise be required or a reclassification of a financial asset out of the fair value through profit or loss.

If the hybrid contract contains a host that is a financial asset within the scope of Ind AS 109, the Company does not separate embedded derivatives. Rather, it applies the classification requirements contained in Ind AS 109 to the entire hybrid contract. Derivatives embedded in all other host contracts are accounted for as separate derivatives and recorded at fair value if their economic characteristics and risks are not closely related to those of the host contracts and the host contracts are not held for trading or designated at fair value through profit or loss. These embedded derivatives are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognised in profit or loss, unless designated as effective hedging instruments.

Offsetting of financial instruments:

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realize the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

Reclassification of financial assets:

The Company determines classification of financial assets and liabilities on initial recognition. After initial recognition, no reclassification is made for financial assets which are equity instruments and financial liabilities. For financial assets which are debt instruments, a reclassification is made only if there is a change in the business model for managing those assets. Changes to the business model are expected to be infrequent. The Company's senior management determines change in the business model as a result of external or internal changes which are significant to the Company's operations. Such changes are evident to external parties. A change in the business model occurs when the Company either begins or ceases to perform an activity that is significant to its operations. If the Company reclassifies financial assets, it applies the reclassification prospectively from the reclassification date which is the first day of the immediately next reporting period following the change in business model. The Company does not restate any previously recognised gains, losses (including impairment gains or losses) or interest.

The following table shows various reclassification and how they are accounted for:

| Original classification | Revised Classification | Accounting treatment |
|-------------------------|------------------------|---|
| Amortised cost | FVTPL | Fair value is measured at reclassification date. Difference between previous amortized cost and fair value is recognised in statement of profit and loss |
| FVTPL | Amortised cost | Fair value at reclassification date becomes its new gross carrying amount. EIR is calculated based on the new gross carrying amount. |
| Amortised cost | FVTOCI | Fair value is measured at reclassification date. Difference between previous amortised cost and fair value is recognised in OCI. No change in EIR due to reclassification |

| Original classification | Revised Classification | Accounting treatment |
|-------------------------|------------------------|---|
| FVTOCI | Amortised cost | Fair value at reclassification date becomes its new amortised cost carrying amount. However, cumulative gain or loss in OCI is adjusted against fair value. Consequently, the asset is measured as if it had always been measured at amortised cost |
| FVTPL | FVTOCI | Fair value at reclassification date becomes its new carrying amount. No other adjustment is required |
| FVTOCI | FVTPL | Assets continue to be measured at fair value. Cumulative gain or loss previously recognised in OCI is reclassified to P&L at the reclassification date. |

2.07 Derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting

Initial recognition and subsequent measurement

The Company uses derivative financial instruments, such as forward currency contracts, to hedge its foreign currency risks. Such derivative financial instruments are initially recognised at fair value on the date on which a derivative contract is entered into and are subsequently re-measured at fair value. Derivatives are carried as financial assets when the fair value is positive and as financial liabilities when the fair value is negative.

Any gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of derivatives are taken directly to profit or loss, except for the effective portion of cash flow hedges (if any), which is recognised in OCI and later reclassified to profit or loss when the hedge item affects profit or loss or treated as basis adjustment if a hedged forecast transaction subsequently results in the recognition of a non-financial asset or non-financial liability.

2.08 Inventories

- Raw materials, components, stores and spares are valued at lower of cost and net realisable value after providing cost of obsolescence, if any. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of raw materials, components and stores and spares is determined on a weighted average basis.
- Work in progress and finished goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes direct materials and labour and proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. Cost is determined on a weighted average basis.
- Traded goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes cost of purchase and other costs in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Cost is determined on weighted average basis.

- iv. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

- v. Stores and spares which do not meet the definition of property, plant and equipment are accounted as inventories.

2.09 Taxes

Tax expense for the year comprises of current income tax and deferred tax.

i. Current Income Tax

Current income tax, assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be paid to or recovered from the taxation authorities in accordance with the Income Tax Act, 1961 and the Income Computation and Disclosure Standards (ICDS) enacted in India by using tax rates and the tax laws that are enacted at the reporting date.

Current income tax relating to item recognised outside the statement of profit and loss is recognised outside profit or loss (either in other comprehensive income or equity). Current tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transactions either in OCI or directly in equity.

ii. Deferred Tax

Deferred tax is provided using the liability method on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilized.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilized. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are re-assessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realized or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside the statement of profit and loss is recognised outside the statement of profit and loss (either in other comprehensive income or in equity). Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or direct in equity.

2.10 Revenue from operations

A. Revenue from contract with customers

Revenue from contracts with customers is recognised when control of the goods is transferred to the customer at an amount that reflects the consideration to which the Company expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods. The Company has generally concluded that it is the principal in its revenue arrangements because it typically controls the goods before transferring them to the customer.

Sale of Goods

Revenue from sale of goods is recognised at the point in time when control of the goods is transferred to the customer, generally on delivery of the goods.

The Company considers whether there are other promises in the contract that are separate performance obligations to which a portion of the transaction price needs to be allocated (e.g., warranties, Sales points). In determining the transaction price for the sale of goods, the Company considers the effects of variable consideration, the existence of significant financing components, non-cash consideration, and consideration payable to the customer (if any).

Variable consideration

If the consideration in a contract includes a variable amount, the Company estimates the amount of consideration to which it will be entitled in exchange for transferring the goods to the customer. The variable consideration is estimated at contract inception and constrained until it is highly probable that a significant revenue reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognised will not occur when the associated uncertainty with the variable consideration is subsequently resolved. Some contracts for the sale of goods provide customers with volume rebates. The volume rebates give rise to variable consideration.

- Volume rebates

The Company provides retrospective volume rebates to certain customers once the quantity of products purchased during the period exceeds a threshold specified in the contract. Rebates are offset against amounts payable by the customer. To estimate the variable consideration for the expected future rebates, the Company applies the most likely amount method for contracts with a single-volume threshold and the expected value method for contracts with more than one volume threshold. The selected method that best predicts the amount of variable consideration is primarily driven by the number of volume thresholds contained in the contract. The Company then applies the requirements on constraining estimates of variable consideration and recognises a refund liability for the expected future rebates.

- Significant financing component

The Company receives short-term advances from its customers. Using the practical expedient in Ind AS 115, the Company does not adjust the promised amount of consideration for the effects of a significant financing component if it expects, at contract inception, that the period between the transfer of the promised goods to the customer and when the customer pays for that goods will be one year or less.

- Warranty obligations

The Company typically provides warranties for general repairs of defects that existed at the time of sale, as required by law. These assurance-type warranties are accounted for under Ind AS 37 Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Contingent Assets. Refer to the accounting policy on warranty provisions.

Services

The Company provides installation, engineering & designing and other services that are either sold separately or bundled together with the sale of equipment to a customer. The services can be obtained from other providers and do not significantly customise or modify the goods.

Contracts for bundled sales of equipment and services are comprised of two performance obligations because the promises to transfer equipment and provide services are capable of being distinct and separately identifiable. Accordingly, the Company allocates the transaction price based on the relative stand-alone selling prices of the equipment and services.

Revenue from installation and engineering & designing services are recognised at point of time upon completion of service.

Revenue from other service contracts are recognised pro-rata over the period of contract as and when service is rendered.

Long term Contracts

The Company recognise revenue when control of the goods or services are transferred to the customer, at an amount that reflects the consideration (i.e. the transaction price) to which the Company is expected to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services excluding any amount received on behalf of third party (such as indirect taxes). An asset created by the Company's performance does not have an alternate use and as per the terms of the contract, the Company has an enforceable right to payment for performance completed till date. Hence the Company transfers control of a good or service over time and, therefore, satisfies a performance obligation and recognises revenue over time. The Company recognise revenue at the transaction price which is determined on the basis of purchase order entered into with the customer. The Company recognise revenue for performance obligation satisfied over time only if it can reasonably measure its progress towards complete satisfaction of the performance obligation. The Company would not be able to reasonably measure its progress towards complete satisfaction of a performance obligation if it lacks reliable information that would be required to apply an appropriate method of measuring progress. In those circumstances, the Company recognise revenue only to the extent of cost incurred until it can reasonably measure outcome of the performance obligation.

The Company uses cost-based input method for measuring progress for performance obligation satisfied over time. Under this method, the Company recognises revenue in proportion to the actual project cost incurred (as against the total estimated project cost. While using cost-based input method, the Company excludes cost that does not contribute to an entity's progress in satisfying performance obligation, such as borrowing cost.

The management reviews and revises its measure of progress periodically and are considered as change in estimates and accordingly, the effect of such changes in estimates is recognised prospectively in the period in which such changes are determined.

Contract balances

Contact asset

A contract asset is the right to consideration in exchange for goods or services transferred to the customer. If the Company performs by transferring goods or services to a customer before the customer pays consideration or before payment is due, a contract asset is recognised for the earned consideration that is conditional.

Trade receivables

A receivable represents the Company's right to an amount of consideration that is unconditional (i.e., only the passage of time is required before payment of the consideration is due). Refer to accounting policies of financial assets – 'financial instruments – initial recognition and subsequent measurement'.

Contract liabilities

A contract liability is the obligation to transfer goods to a customer for which the Company has received consideration (or an amount of consideration is due) from the customer. If a customer pays consideration before the Company transfers goods to the customer, a contract liability is recognised when the payment is made, or the payment is due (whichever is earlier). Contract liabilities are recognised as revenue when the Company performs under the contract

B. Export Benefits

Export benefits arising from Duty Drawback scheme and Merchandise Export Incentive Scheme are recognised on shipment of direct exports. Revenue from exports benefits measured at the fair value of consideration received or receivable.

2.11 Other revenue streams

Interest Income

For all debt instruments measured either at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income, interest income is recorded using the effective interest rate (EIR). EIR is the rate that exactly discounts the estimated future cash payments or receipts over the expected life of the financial instrument or a shorter period, where appropriate, to the gross carrying amount of the financial asset or to the amortised cost of a financial liability. When calculating the effective interest rate, the Company estimates the expected cash flows by considering all the contractual terms of the financial instrument (for example, prepayment, extension, call and similar options) but does not consider the expected credit losses. Interest income is included in other income in the statement of profit and loss.

2.12 Employee benefits

i. Short-term obligations

Liabilities for wages and salaries, including non-monetary benefits that are expected to be settled wholly within twelve months after the end of the period in which the employees render the related service are recognised in respect of employee service upto the end of the reporting period and are measured at the amount expected to be paid when the liabilities are settled. The liabilities are presented as current employee benefit obligations in the balance sheet.

ii. Other long-term employee benefit obligations

Gratuity

Gratuity liability is defined benefit obligation and is provided for on the basis of an actuarial valuation on projected unit credit (PUC) method made at the end of each financial year. The Company's gratuity fund scheme is managed by trust maintained with Insurance companies to cover the gratuity liability of the employees and premium paid to such insurance companies is charged to the statement of profit and loss.

Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through OCI in the period in which they occur. Remeasurements are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset. The Company recognises the following changes in the net defined benefit obligation as an expense in the statement of profit and loss:

- Service costs comprising current service costs, past-service costs, gains and losses on curtailments and non-routine settlements
- Net interest expense or income

Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the Balance Sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through OCI in the period in which they occur. Remeasurements are not reclassified to profit or loss in subsequent periods.

Provident fund and Superannuation fund

Retirement benefit in the form of Provident Fund, ESI and Superannuation Fund are defined contribution schemes. The Company has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the fund. The Company recognizes contribution payable through provident fund scheme as an expense, when an employee renders the related services. If the contribution payable to scheme for service received before the balance sheet date exceeds the contribution already paid, the deficit payable to the scheme is recognised as liability after deducting the contribution already paid. If the contribution already paid exceeds the contribution due for services received before the balance sheet date, then excess is recognised as an asset to the extent that the prepayment will lead to, for example, a reduction in future payment or a cash refund.

Compensated Absences

Accumulated leave, which is expected to be utilized within the next 12 months, is treated as short-term employee benefit. The Company measures the expected cost of such absences as the additional amount that it expects to pay as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the reporting date.

The Company treats accumulated leave expected to be carried forward beyond twelve months, as long-term employee benefit for measurement purposes. Such long-term compensated absences are provided for based on the actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method at the year-end. Actuarial gains/losses are immediately taken to the Statement of Profit and Loss and are not deferred. The company presents the leave as a current liability in the balance sheet, to the extent it does not have an unconditional right to defer its settlement for 12 months after the reporting date. Where company has the unconditional legal and contractual right to defer the settlement for a period beyond 12 months, the same is presented as non-current liability.

iii. Share based payments

Employees (including senior executives) of the Company receive remuneration from the ultimate holding company in the form of share-based payments, whereby employees render services as consideration for equity instruments (equity-settled transactions).

Equity-settled transactions

The cost of equity-settled transactions is determined by the fair value at the date when the grant is made using an appropriate valuation model. That cost is recognised as employee benefits expense in the statement of profit and loss over the period in which the performance and/or service conditions are fulfilled. The cumulative expense recognised for equity settled transactions at each reporting date until the vesting date reflects the extent to which the vesting period has expired and the Company's best estimate of the number of equity instruments that will ultimately vest. The statement of profit and loss expense or credit for a period represents the movement in cumulative expense recognised as at the beginning and end of that period and is recognised in employee benefits expense.

Service and non-market performance conditions are not taken into account when determining the grant date fair value of awards, but the likelihood of the conditions being met is assessed as part of the Company's best estimate of the number of equity instruments that will ultimately vest. Market performance conditions are reflected within the grant date fair value. Any other conditions attached to an award, but without an associated service requirement, are considered to be non-vesting conditions. Non-vesting conditions are reflected in the fair value of an award and lead to an immediate expensing of an award unless there are also service and/or performance conditions.

No expense is recognised for awards that do not ultimately vest because non-market performance and/or service conditions have not been met. Where awards include a market or non-vesting condition, the transactions are treated as vested irrespective of whether the market or non-vesting condition is satisfied, provided that all other performance and/or service conditions are satisfied.

When the terms of an equity-settled award are modified, the minimum expense recognised is the expense had the terms had not been modified, if the original terms of the award are met. An additional expense is recognised for any modification that increases the total fair value of the share-based payment transaction or is otherwise beneficial to the employee as measured at the date of modification. Where an award is cancelled by the entity or by the counterparty, any remaining element of the fair value of the award is expensed immediately through profit or loss.

2.13 Government Grants

Government Grants are recognised at their fair value when there is reasonable assurance that the grant will be received, and all the attached conditions will be complied with.

When the grant relates to an expense item, it is recognised as income on a systematic basis over the periods that the related costs, for which it is intended to compensate, are expensed. When the grant relates to an asset, it is recognised as income in equal amounts over the expected useful life of the related asset.

When the Company receives grants of non-monetary assets, the asset and grant are recorded at fair value amounts and released to profit or loss over the expected useful life in a pattern of consumption of the benefit of the underlying asset.

2.14 Leases

The Company assesses at contract inception whether a contract is, or contains, a lease. That is, if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration.

Where the Company is lessee

The Company applies a single recognition and measurement approach for all leases, except for short-term leases and leases of low-value assets. The Company recognises lease liabilities to make lease payments and right-of-use assets representing the right to use the underlying assets.

(i) Right to use assets

The Company recognises right-of-use assets at the commencement date of the lease (i.e., the date the underlying asset is available for use). Right-of-use assets are measured at cost, less any accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, and adjusted for any remeasurement of lease liabilities. The cost of right-of-use assets includes the amount of lease liabilities recognised, initial direct costs incurred, and lease payments made at or before the commencement date less any lease incentives received. Right-of-use assets are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the lease term and the estimated useful lives of the assets, as follows:

| Right to use assets | Useful Lives estimated by the management (years) |
|------------------------|--|
| Non-Factory buildings | 2 to 5 years |
| Solar plant equipment | 20 years |
| Lease hold land | 99 years |
| Other office equipment | 2 years |

If ownership of the leased asset transfers to the Company at the end of the lease term or the cost reflects the exercise of a purchase option, depreciation is calculated using the estimated useful life of the asset.

The right-of-use assets are also subject to impairment. Refer to the accounting policies in section 2.05 Impairment of non-financial assets.

(ii) Lease liabilities

At the commencement date of the lease, the Company recognises lease liabilities measured at the present value of lease payments to be made over the lease term. The lease payments include fixed payments (including in substance fixed payments) less any lease incentives receivable, variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, and amounts expected to be paid under residual value guarantees. The lease payments also include the exercise price of a purchase option reasonably certain to be exercised by the Company and payments of penalties for terminating the lease, if the lease term reflects the Group exercising the option to terminate. Variable lease payments that do not depend on an index or a rate are recognised as expenses (unless they are incurred to produce inventories) in the period in which the event or condition that triggers the payment occurs.

In calculating the present value of lease payments, the Company uses its incremental borrowing rate at the lease commencement date because the interest rate implicit in the lease is not readily determinable. After the commencement date, the amount of lease liabilities is increased to reflect the accretion of interest and reduced for the lease payments made. In addition, the carrying amount of lease liabilities is remeasured if there is a modification, a change in the lease term, a change in the lease payments (e.g., changes to future payments resulting from a change in an index or rate used to determine such lease payments) or a change in the assessment of an option to purchase the underlying asset.

Where the Company is the lessor

Leases in which the Company does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of an asset are classified as operating leases. Assets subject to operating leases are included in Property, Plant & Equipment. Lease income on an operating lease is recognised in the Statement of Profit and Loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Costs, including depreciation, are recognised as an expense in the Statement of Profit and Loss.

2.15 Segment accounting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the management. The Management monitors the operating results of products and services separately for the purpose of making decisions about resource allocation and performance assessment. Segment performance is evaluated based on profit and loss and is measured consistently with profit and loss in the financial statements. The analysis of geographical segments is based on the locations of customers.

Common allocable costs are allocated to each segment according to the relative contribution of each segment to the total common costs.

Unallocated items include general corporate income, expense, assets and liabilities items which are not allocated to any business segment.

The Company prepares its segment information in conformity with the accounting policies adopted for preparing and presenting the financial statements of the company as a whole.

2.16 Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period. The weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period is adjusted for events such as bonus issue, bonus element in a rights issue, share split, and reverse share split (consolidation of shares) that have changed the number of equity shares outstanding, without a corresponding change in resources.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effect of all potentially dilutive equity shares.

2.17 Borrowing Costs

Borrowing cost includes interest and other costs incurred in connection with the borrowing of funds and charged to Statement of Profit and Loss on the basis of effective interest rate (EIR) method. Borrowing cost also includes exchange differences to the extent regarded as an adjustment to the borrowing cost.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of an asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalized as part of the cost of the respective asset. All other borrowing costs are recognised as expense in the period in which they occur.

2.18 Exceptional Items

Exceptional items are transactions which due to their size or incidence are separately disclosed to enable a full understanding of the Company's financial performance. Items which may be considered exceptional are significant restructuring charges, gains or losses on disposal of investments in subsidiaries and impairment losses/ write down in value of investment in subsidiaries and significant disposal of fixed assets.

2.19 Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents in the balance sheet comprise cash at banks and on hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less, which are subject to insignificant risk of changes in value.

2.20 Foreign currencies

Items included in the financial statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates ('the functional currency'). The Company's financial statements are presented in Indian rupee (INR) which is also the Company's functional and presentation currency.

Foreign currency transactions are recorded on initial recognition in the functional currency, using the exchange rate prevailing at the date of transaction.

Transactions and balances

Transactions in foreign currencies are initially recorded by the Company at its functional currency spot rates at the date the transaction first qualifies for recognition. However, for practical reasons, the Company uses an average rate if the average approximates the actual rate at the date of the transaction.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated at the functional currency spot rates of exchange at the reporting date. Exchange differences arising on settlement or translation of monetary items are recognised in profit or loss. Non-monetary items that are measured in terms of historical cost in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the dates of the initial transactions. Non-monetary items measured at fair value in a foreign currency are translated using the exchange rates at the date when the fair value is determined. The gain or loss arising on translation of non-monetary items measured at fair value is treated in line with the recognition of the gain or loss on the change in fair value of the item (i.e., translation differences on items whose fair value gain or loss is recognised in OCI or profit or loss are also recognised in OCI or profit or loss, respectively).

2.21 Provisions and Contingent Liabilities

General Provisions

A provision is recognised when the Company has a present obligation (legal or constructive) as a result of past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation. These estimates are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates. If the effect of the time value of money is material, provisions are discounted using a current pre-tax rate that reflects, when appropriate, the risks specific to the liability. When discounting is used, the increase in the provision due to the passage of time is recognised as a finance cost.

Warranty Provisions

Provisions for warranty-related costs are recognised when the product is sold or service provided. Provision is based on technical estimates by the management based on past trends. The estimate of such warranty-related costs is revised annually.

Restructuring Provisions

Restructuring provisions are recognised only when the Company has a constructive obligation, which is when a detailed formal plan identifies the business or part of the business concerned, the location and number of employees affected, a detailed estimate of the associate costs, and an appropriate timeline, and the employees affected have been notified of the plan's main features.

Contingent liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond the control of the company or a present obligation that is not recognised because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognised because it cannot be measured reliably. The Company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements.

Provisions, contingent liabilities, contingent assets and commitments are reviewed at each balance sheet date.

2.22 Fair value measurement

The Company measures financial instruments at fair value at each balance sheet date.

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value measurement is based on the presumption that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability takes place either:

- In the principal market for asset or liability, or
- In the absence of a principal market, in the most advantageous market for the asset or liability.

The principal or the most advantageous market must be accessible by the Company.

The fair value of an asset or liability is measured using the assumptions that market participants would use when pricing the asset or liability, assuming that market participants act in their economic best interest.

A fair value measurement of a non-financial asset takes into account a market participant's ability to generate economic benefits by using the asset in its highest and best use or by selling it to another market participant that would use the asset in its highest and best use.

The Company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data are available to measure fair value, maximising the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorized within the fair value hierarchy, described as follows, based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement as a whole:

Level 1- Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2- Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable

Level 3- Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable

For assets and liabilities that are recognised in the financial statements on a recurring basis, the Company determines whether transfers have occurred between levels in the hierarchy by re-assessing categorization (based on the lowest level input that is significant to fair value measurement as a whole) at the end of each reporting period.

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities on the basis of the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as explained above.

2.23 Preference Shares

Preference shares are separated into liability and equity components based on the terms of the contract. On issuance of the preference shares, the fair value of the liability component is determined using an incremental borrowing rate of the Company. This liability is classified as financial liability measured at amortised cost (net of transaction costs) until it is extinguished on redemption.

The remainder of the proceeds is allocated to the conversion option that is recognised and included in equity net of tax effect. The carrying amount of the conversion option is not remeasured in subsequent years.

2.24 Non-current assets held for sale

The Company classifies non-current assets as held for sale if their carrying amounts will be recovered principally through a sale rather than through continuing use. Actions required to complete the sale should indicate that it is unlikely that the decision to sell will be withdrawn. Management must be committed to the sale expected within one year from the date of classification.

The criteria for held for sale classification is regarded met only when the assets is available for immediate sale in its present condition, subject only to terms that are usual and customary for sales of such assets, its sale is highly probable; and it will genuinely be sold, not abandoned. The Company treats sale of the asset to be highly probable when:-

- The appropriate level of management is committed to a plan to sell the asset,
- An active programme to locate a buyer and complete the plan has been initiated (if applicable),
- The asset is being actively marketed for sale at a price that is reasonable in relation to its current fair value,
- The sale is expected to qualify for recognition as a completed sale within one year from the date of classification, and
- Actions required to complete the plan indicate that it is unlikely that significant changes to the plan will be made or that the plan will be withdrawn.

Non-current assets held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount and the fair value less costs to sell. Assets classified as held for sale are presented separately in the balance sheet.

Property, plant and equipment once classified as held for sale are not depreciated or amortised.

2.25 Changes in accounting policies and disclosures

New and amended standards

The Company applied Ind AS 116 Leases for the first time. The nature and effect of the changes as a result of adoption of this new accounting standard is described below.

Several other amendments apply for the first time for the year ending 31 March 2020, but do not have an impact on the financial statements of the Company.

Ind AS 116 Lease

Ind AS 116 supersedes Ind AS 17 Leases including its appendices (Appendix C of Ind AS 17 Determining whether an Arrangement contains a Lease, Appendix A of Ind AS 17 Operating Leases-Incentives and Appendix B of Ind AS 17 Evaluating the Substance of Transactions Involving the Legal Form of a Lease). The standard sets out the principles for the recognition, measurement, presentation and disclosure of leases and requires lessees to recognise most leases on the balance sheet.

Lessor accounting under Ind AS 116 is substantially unchanged from Ind AS 17. Lessors will continue to classify leases as either operating or finance leases using similar principles as in Ind AS 17. Therefore, Ind AS 116 does not have an impact for leases where the Company is the lessor.

The Company adopted Ind AS 116 using the modified retrospective method of adoption, with the date of initial application on April 01, 2019. The Company elected to use the transition practical expedient to not reassess whether a contract is, or contains, a lease at April 01 2019. Instead, the Company applied the standard only to contracts that were previously identified as leases applying Ind AS 17 and Appendix C of Ind AS 17 at the date of initial application. The Company also elected to use the recognition exemptions for lease contracts that, at the commencement date, have a lease term of 12 months or less and do not contain a purchase option (short-term leases), and lease contracts for which the underlying asset is of low value (low-value assets).

The effect of adoption of Ind AS 116 is as follows;

Impact on balance sheet:

| Particulars | March 31, 2020 |
|---------------------|------------------|
| Right-of-use assets | ₹ 864.31 million |
| Lease liability | ₹ 119.20 million |

Impact on Statement of Profit and Loss:

| Particulars | March 31, 2020 |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------|
| Rent expense is lower by | ₹ 9.99 million |
| Other expense is lower by | ₹ 4.95 million |
| Finance cost is higher by | ₹ (6.48) million |
| Depreciation expense is higher by | ₹ (12.29) million |

Appendix C to Ind AS 12 Uncertainty over Income Tax Treatment

The Interpretation addresses the accounting for income taxes when tax treatments involve uncertainty that affects the application of Ind AS 12 and does not apply to taxes or levies outside the scope of Ind AS 12, nor does it specifically include requirements relating to interest and penalties associated with uncertain tax treatments. The Interpretation specifically addresses the following:

- Whether an entity considers uncertain tax treatments separately
- The assumptions an entity makes about the examination of tax treatments by taxation authorities
- How an entity determines taxable profit (tax loss), tax bases, unused tax losses, unused tax credits and tax rates
- How an entity considers changes in facts and circumstances

The Company has to determine whether to consider each uncertain tax treatment separately or together with one or more other uncertain tax treatments. The approach that better predicts the resolution of the uncertainty should be followed. In determining the approach that better predicts the resolution of the uncertainty, an entity might consider, for example, (a) how it prepares its income tax filings and supports tax treatments; or (b) how the entity expects the taxation authority to make its examination and resolve issues that might arise from that examination. The Appendix did not have an impact on the financial statements of the Company.

Amendments to Ind AS 19: Plan Amendment, Curtailment or Settlement

The amendments to Ind AS 19 address the accounting when a plan amendment, curtailment or settlement occurs during a reporting period. The amendments specify that when a plan amendment, curtailment or settlement occurs during the annual reporting period, an entity is required to:

- Determine current service cost for the remainder of the period after the plan amendment, curtailment or settlement, using the actuarial assumptions used to remeasure the net defined benefit liability (asset) reflecting the benefits offered under the plan and the plan assets after that event.
- Determine net interest for the remainder of the period after the plan amendment, curtailment or settlement using: the net defined benefit liability (asset) reflecting the benefits offered under the plan and the plan assets after that event; and the discount rate used to remeasure that net defined benefit liability (asset).

An entity then determines the effect of the asset ceiling after the plan amendment, curtailment or settlement. Any change in that effect, excluding amounts included in the net interest, is recognised in other comprehensive income. The amendment did not have an impact on the financial statements of the Company.

2.26 Significant accounting judgements, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the Company's financial statements requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities, and the accompanying disclosures, and the disclosure of contingent liabilities. Uncertainty about these judgement, assumptions and estimates could result in outcomes that require a material adjustment to the carrying amount of the asset or liability affected in future periods.

Judgements

In the process of applying the Company's accounting policies, management has made the following judgements, which have the most significant effect on the amounts recognised in the financial statements.

Leases

The Company determines the lease term as the non-cancellable term of the lease, together with any periods covered by an option to extend the lease if it is reasonably certain to be exercised, or any periods covered by an option to terminate the lease, if it is reasonably certain not to be exercised. The Company has several lease contracts that include extension and termination options. The Company applies judgement in evaluating whether it is reasonably certain whether or not to exercise the option to renew or terminate the lease. That is, it considers all relevant factors that create an economic incentive for it to exercise either the renewal or termination. After the commencement date, the Company reassesses the lease term if there is a significant event or change in circumstances that is within its control and affects its ability to exercise or not to exercise the option to renew or to terminate.

Estimates and assumptions

The key assumptions concerning the future and other key sources of estimation uncertainty at the reporting date, that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year, are described below. The Company based its assumptions and estimates on parameters available when the financial statements were prepared. Existing circumstances and assumptions about future developments, however, may change due to market changes or circumstances arising beyond the control of the Company. Such changes are reflected in the assumptions when they occur.

(a) Taxes

Uncertainties exist with respect to the interpretation of complex tax regulations, changes in tax laws, and the amount and timing of future taxable income. Given the wide range of business relationships and the long-term nature and complexity of existing contractual agreements, differences arising between the actual results and the assumptions made, or future changes to such assumptions, could necessitate future adjustments to tax income and expense already recorded. The Company establishes provisions, based on reasonable estimates. The amount of such provisions is based on various factors, such as experience of previous tax audits and differing interpretations of tax regulations by the taxable entity and the responsible tax authority.

Such differences of interpretation may arise on a wide variety of issues depending on the conditions prevailing in the respective domicile of the companies.

(b) Gratuity benefit

The cost of defined benefit plans (i.e. Gratuity benefit) is determined using actuarial valuations. An actuarial valuation involves making various assumptions which may differ from actual developments in the future. These include the determination of the discount rate, future salary increases, mortality rates and future pension increases. Due to the complexity of the valuation, the underlying assumptions and its long-term nature, a defined benefit obligation is highly sensitive to changes in these assumptions. All assumptions are reviewed at each reporting date. In determining the appropriate discount rate, management considers the interest rates of long-term government bonds with extrapolated maturity corresponding to the expected duration of the defined benefit obligation. The mortality rate is based on publicly available mortality tables for the specific countries. Future salary increases and pension increases are based on expected future inflation rates for the respective countries. Further details about the assumptions used, including a sensitivity analysis, are given in note 30.

(c) Fair value measurement of financial instrument

When the fair value of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded in the balance sheet cannot be measured based on quoted prices in active markets, their fair value is measured using valuation techniques including the Discounted Cash Flow (DCF) model. The inputs to these models are taken from observable markets where possible, but where this is not feasible, a degree of judgement is required in establishing fair values. Judgements include considerations of inputs such as liquidity risk, credit risk and volatility. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect the reported fair value of financial instruments.

(d) Impairment of Financial assets

The impairment provisions of financial assets are based on assumptions about risk of default and expected loss rates. The Company uses judgement in making these assumptions and selecting the inputs to the impairment calculation, based on Company's past history, existing market conditions as well as forward looking estimates at the end of each reporting period.

(e) Impairment of non-Financial assets

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's CGU's fair value less cost of disposal and its value in use. It is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or company's of assets. Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount.

In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining fair value less costs of disposal, recent market transactions are taken into account. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used. These calculations are corroborated by valuation multiples, or other fair value indicators.

(f) Provision for expected credit losses of trade receivables and contract assets

The Company uses a provision matrix to calculate ECLs for trade receivables and contract assets. The provision rates are based on days past due for groupings of various customer segments that have similar loss patterns (i.e., by geography, product type, customer type and rating, and coverage by letters of credit and other forms of credit insurance).

The provision matrix is initially based on the Company's historical observed default rates. The Company will calibrate the matrix to adjust the historical credit loss experience with forward-looking information. For instance, if forecast economic conditions (i.e., gross domestic product) are expected to deteriorate over the next year which can lead to an increased number of defaults in the manufacturing sector, the historical default rates are adjusted. At every reporting date, the historical observed default rates are updated and changes in the forward-looking estimates are analysed.

The assessment of the correlation between historical observed default rates, forecast economic conditions and ECLs is a significant estimate. The amount of ECLs is sensitive to changes in circumstances and of forecast economic conditions. The Company's historical credit loss experience and forecast of economic conditions may also not be representative of customer's actual default in the future. The information about the ECLs on the Company's trade receivables and contract assets is disclosed in Note 37.

(g) Warranty provision

Warranty Provisions are measured at discounted present value using pre-tax discount rate that reflects the current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. Warranty provisions is determined based on the historical percentage of warranty expense to sales for the same types of goods for which the warranty is currently being determined. The same percentage to the sales is applied for the current accounting period to derive the warranty expense to be accrued. It is adjusted to account for unusual factors related to the goods that were sold, such as defective inventory lying at the depots. It is very unlikely that actual warranty claims will exactly match the historical warranty percentage, so such estimates are reviewed annually for any material changes in assumptions and likelihood of occurrence.

(h) Useful life of property, plant and equipment

The Company uses its technical expertise along with historical and industry trends for determining the economic life of an asset/component of an asset. The useful lives are reviewed by management periodically and revised, if appropriate. In case of a revision, the unamortised depreciable amount is charged over the remaining useful life of the assets.

(i) Revenue from contracts with customers

The management assessed that bank balances, trade receivables, trade payables, short term borrowings and other current liabilities approximate their carrying amounts largely due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.

The fair value of the financial assets and liabilities is included at the amount at which the instrument could be exchanged in a current transaction between willing parties, other than in a forced or liquidation sale. The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair values:

1. The fair values of the interest-bearing borrowings and loans are determined by using DCF method using discount rate that reflects the Company's borrowing rate as at the end of the reporting period. The own non-performance risk as at 31 March 2020 was assessed to be insignificant.
2. Long-term receivables/payables are evaluated by the Company based on parameters such as interest rates, risk factors, individual creditworthiness of the counterparty and the risk characteristics of the financed project. Based on this evaluation, allowances are taken into account for the expected credit losses of these receivables.

Fair value hierarchy

The Company uses the following hierarchy for determining and disclosing the fair value of financial instruments by valuation technique:

Level 1: quoted (unadjusted) prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities

Level 2: other techniques for which all inputs that have a significant effect on the recorded fair value are observable, either directly or indirectly

Level 3: techniques that use inputs that have a significant effect on the recorded fair value that are not based on observable market data

The Board of Directors reviews and agrees policies for managing each of these risks which are summarized as below:

(a) Market Risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market prices. Market prices comprises three types of risk: currency rate risk, interest rate risk and other price risks, such as equity price risk and commodity price risk. Financial instruments affected by market risks include loans and borrowings, deposits and foreign currency receivables and payables. The sensitivity analysis in the following sections relate to the position as at March 31 2020. The sensitivity of the relevant Profit and Loss item is the effect of the assumed changes in the respective market risks. This is based on the financial assets and financial liabilities held as of March 31, 2020.

(i) Foreign Currency Risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in foreign exchange rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in foreign exchange rates relates primarily to the Company's operating activities (when revenue or expense is denominated in foreign currency). Foreign currency exchange rate exposure is partly balanced by purchasing of goods from the respective countries. The Company evaluates exchange rate exposure arising from foreign currency transactions and follows established risk management policies.

Foreign currency risk sensitivity

The following tables demonstrate the sensitivity to a reasonably possible change in USD, EUR and other exchange rates, with all other variables held constant. The impact on the Company profit before tax is due to changes in the fair value of monetary assets and liabilities. Foreign currency exposures recognised by the Company that have not been hedged by a derivative instrument or otherwise are as under:

(ii) Interest Rate Risk

Interest rate is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company's exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates primarily to the Company's long term debt obligation at floating interest rates. The Company's borrowings outstanding as at March 31, 2020 comprise of fixed rate loans and accordingly, are not exposed to risk of fluctuation in market interest rate.

The Company is exposed to credit risk from its operating activities (primarily trade receivables) and from its financing activities, including deposits with banks, foreign exchange transactions and other financial instruments.

(i) Trade Receivables

Customer credit risk is managed by each business unit subject to the Company's established policy, procedures and control relating to customer credit risk management.

An impairment analysis is performed at each reporting date on trade receivables by lifetime expected credit loss method based on provision matrix. The maximum exposure to credit risk at the reporting date is the carrying value of each class of financial assets. The Company does not hold collateral as security. The Company evaluates the concentration of risk with respect to trade receivables as low, as its customers are located in several jurisdictions and industries and operate in largely independent markets.

(ii) Financial instruments and cash deposits

Credit risk from balances with banks and financial institutions is managed by the Company's treasury department in accordance with the Company's policy. Investments of surplus funds are made in the risk free bank deposits. The performance obligation is satisfied over a period of time. The Company uses cost based input method for measuring progress for performance obligation satisfied over time.

40 The outbreak of Coronavirus (COVID -19) pandemic globally and in India is causing significant disturbance and slowdown of economic activity. COVID-19 is significantly impacting business operation of the company, by way of interruption in production, supply chain disruption, unavailability of personnel, closure / lock down of production facilities etc. On 24th March 2020, the Government of India ordered a nationwide lockdown to prevent community spread of COVID-19 in India resulting in significant reduction in economic activities. The Company's business activities fall under essential services category and therefore could be continued to an extent during the lockdown. The Company has assessed the recoverability and carrying values of its assets comprising property, plant and equipment; intangible assets; trade receivables, inventories and other assets as at the balance sheet date using various internal and external information up to the date of approval of these financial statements. The Company has assessed the impact of this pandemic on its business operations and has made detailed assessment of its liquidity position for future years. The Company has performed sensitivity analysis on the assumptions used and based on current estimates expects the carrying amount of these assets will be recovered and no material adjustment required in the financial statements. The situation is changing rapidly giving rise to inherent uncertainty around the extent and timing of the potential future spread of the COVID-19 and its impact on the Company's business operations. The Company will continue to closely monitor any material changes to future economic conditions.

41 As per the Transfer Pricing Rules of the Income Tax Act, 1961 every company is required to get a transfer pricing study conducted to determine whether the transactions with associated enterprises were undertaken at an arm's length basis for each financial year end. Transfer pricing study for the transaction pertaining to the year ended 31 March, 2020 is currently in progress and hence adjustments if any which may arise there from have not been taken into account in these financial statements for the year ended 31 March, 2020 and will be effective in the financial statements for the year ended 31 March, 2021. However, in the opinion of the Company's management, adjustments, if any, are not expected to be material.

42 ASSETS CLASSIFIED HELD FOR SALE

In previous year, the Company in its board meeting decided to sell a part of Plant and Machinery which was originally acquired to manufacture the brakera at Vadodra location and which was not used by the company for its operations. In current year, the same has been sold off.

| | (₹ in Millions) | |
|---|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Plant and Machinery including capital work in progress | - | 44.42 |

43 During the year, the Company has incurred loss of ₹ 392.24 million, which has aggregated total accumulated losses of ₹ 3,587.10 million as at March 31, 2020 and has resulted in substantial erosion of Company's net worth. Though all these factors lead to material uncertainty on Company's assumption to continue on going concern basis, however management believes that there are sufficient mitigating factors for e.g. future cash flow projections, availability of working capital facilities and also borrowings of the Company are from group company which may be deferred depending upon Company's liquidity position. Basis this, the management believes that the Company is expected to have sufficient cash flows to meet its obligations for next twelve months and does not anticipate that it will not be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of business. Accordingly, these financial statements have been prepared on going concern basis.

44 The figures have been rounded off to the nearest millions of rupees upto two decimal places. The figure 0.00 wherever stated represents value less than ₹ 10,000/-.

45 The comparative figures have been regrouped/ rearranged wherever considered necessary to make them comparable with current year numbers.
