“We are at frontlines of COVID 19 testing and our team is working with a deep sense of urgency and commitment to make sure that patients and doctors get reliable diagnosis as early as possible. The Pandemic has put the diagnostic industry at the cusp of a dynamic shift and established pathology chains like us are set to benefit and cement leadership position. Additionally, as business returns to normal, the momentum will shift in favour of COVID capable labs with customers increasingly choosing trusted brands that offer quality, safety, and reliability. Increased engagement with government and regulatory authorities has opened new avenues and possibilities in the future.

Digital transformation, a growing test menu, and a relentless pursuit of superior customer experience has made Metropolis stronger in our core markets even as we acquire market share in other geographies. We will continue to put quality, safety, and hygiene at the core of patient service.”
