11. MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

ECONOMIC & BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

Economic headwinds encountered during 2013 continued to hurt growth during the period under review. There was visibility of intent in removing blockades to growth in terms of policy pronouncements and schemes announced from time to time. We are yet to see the impact of this at the ground level and continue to hope for a turnaround in the manufacturing segment that is key to your Company's prospects.

The index of industrial production (IIP) languished in negative to marginally positive levels during the period and steel consumption continued to be low. Paucity of funds and poor overall business sentiments were dampeners coming in the way of capital investments and projects. Despite relatively favorable trends on commodity and oil prices, the overall business environment remained challenging due to a combination of domestic and global issues.

Key drivers for your Company's prospects including Steel growth remained negative to flat through the year. Power and infrastructure segments suffered from policy and funding issues. Execution of policies especially kick starting investments on infrastructure could create the much needed impetus for manufacturing segment growth.

To sustain and expand its presence in various product segments and across locations, the Company launched new products in both consumables and equipment businesses. These have been well received in the market.

Your Company continued to focus relentlessly on productivity and costs. The management has been reviewing capacities in the light of current and projected demand to realign capacities and facilities wherever necessary. The Company has initiated a project for shifting certain operations from its Plant at Khardah to its other Plants. It is expected that this would enable achieve significantly improved levels of capacity utilization and costs. The Company has also been working on initiatives to right size the organization with a view to achieving flexibility and global productivity levels.

OUTLOOK, OPPORTUNITIES AND THREATS

The Business outlook appears relatively positive for the medium term if the policy changes and infrastructure spends take effect. We also bank on improved liquidity and lower financing costs for customers to achieve better turns on working capital and improved margins. The short term outlook is getting increasingly harder to predict as there are multiple interwoven elements including many that are not localized to India.

A favorable tax regime and implementation of GST can have significant changes in the way businesses work on supply chain and logistics with potential short term disruptions during the transition phase. In summary, execution by the Government is key and even if a part of the promises translate to actions, there would be reasonably positive implications for the economy and the Company.

Our new product launches and a potentially leaner organization would augur well for our sales and profitability. We are targeting to grow our service activities to cushion the impact of any sustained difficulties in the manufacturing segment.

Margins and working capital are expected to be under strong pressures with over capacities, aggressive pricing and credit terms by competitors.

RISKS AND CONCERNS

Risks arising from delayed implementation of Government policies, exchange rate risks from a weaker rupee and global trends on oil prices can have a significant impact on the short term profitability. Competition from unorganized players with local advantages can have an impact especially on mass market products in Consumables. There are also potential industrial relations related risks given the current restructuring of capacities. Increasing legal and statutory requirements bring compliance risks including local requirements in locations that we operate in.

INTERNAL CONTROL SYSTEMS AND THEIR ADEQUACY

The Company operates in an environment where internal controls are continuously evaluated by Management and by the Internal auditors. The scope and coverage for Audits are drawn up based on detailed discussions including feedback on concerns from previous year. Findings from internal audits are reviewed regularly by the Management and by the Audit Committee of Directors and corrective actions and controls put in place wherever necessary. The Company is also subjected to reviews and audits as part of listing requirements in the USA of its Holding Company. These reviews help supplement the Company's efforts in strengthening internal controls.

The reviews by Internal Auditors are scheduled and cover the various manufacturing and office locations. The scope of their work includes review of controls on accounting, statutory and other compliances and operational areas in addition to reviews relating to efficiency and economy in operations.

The Company being a subsidiary of Colfax Corporation is bound to comply with the requirements of Sarbanes Oxley Act (SoX). For reasons of independence and accountability, we have engaged our internal auditors to help draw up the documentation and process requirements on Internal controls. We have been reviewing gaps in internal controls and addressed these through remediation processes as prescribed under SoX.

It is expected that our efforts as above would help us greatly in complying with the framework under Internal Controls on Financial Reporting, which is mandated from the next financial year.

FINANCIAL PERFORMANCE OF THE COMPANY

INCOME AND EXPENDITURE

Net Sales (Including Service Income) grew by 1.4% on a comparable basis in a small but significant reversal of declining sales trends witnessed from 2011. This was achieved in an extremely challenging environment. Relatively better performances in the R & M business and Exports that were aided by a weakening Rupee, helped in softening the impact of declines in all other product groups.

Other income was higher on a comparable basis by about 29.3% due to increase in dividend income from mutual funds, redemption gains on mutual funds and foreign exchange gains. Cash surpluses were deployed in debt and liquid funds.

Material costs as a percentage to sales increased from 63.5% to 64.7% due to a combination of poorer product mix, increases in steel costs and price pressures, especially on mass market products.

Overheads including employee costs were higher at 26.2% of Net Sales and Service Income as against 24.7% in 2013 on a comparable basis. The increases were primarily on account of;

- Employee costs higher by 5% on a comparable basis driven by retirement benefits costs increases based on actuarial valuations.
- Higher costs on transportation outwards and sales promotion expenses in line with changes in terms of trade and customer mix.

Depreciation was lower by 2% as compared to 2013 with reduced capital expenditure and aging Plants. The Company has continued to provide for Depreciation at rates aligned to the erstwhile Schedule XIV of the Companies Act, 1956. The rates are different from those recommended in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013. The decision to continue with the same rates as before is based on a technical evaluation of useful life of assets.

BALANCE SHEET

The Company weathered a difficult year with a focus on fundamentals and efficiencies. Despite strong pressures on working capital, the company closed the year with healthy cash flows and prudent deployment of resources on capital expenditure.

Capital Expenditure was about Rs.741 Lakhs as against 932 Lakhs in 2013 and projects with productivity enhancements and Quality improvements were prioritized to conserve resources.

Current Investments and Cash grew by 14.2% over 2013 due to internal accruals amidst strong pressures on working capital.

Inventories were lower by about 12% in value terms due to strong improvements in supply chain and forecasting process. Measured in terms of days to sales, Inventory fell from 52 days in 2013 to 45 days in 2014-15.

Trade receivables were up from 23 days in 2013 to 36 days. This is reflective of higher sales to end customers and increases in credit cycles to trade.

Notes to the financial statements for the period from January 1, 2014 to March 31, 2015

(All amounts are in lakhs of Indian rupees, unless otherwise stated)

1. Company Overview

ESAB India Limited ("the Company") was incorporated on November 10, 1987 and commenced its business operations in July 1988. The Company is engaged in the business of welding consumables i.e. welding electrodes, copper coated wires, flux cored wires and welding fluxes and of welding equipment i.e. welding machines and cutting equipment.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

a) Basis of Preparation of Financial Statements

The financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in India ("Indian GAAP"). The Company has prepared these financial statements to comply in all material respects with the Companies (Accounting standards) Rules 2006, as amended, specified under the Companies Act, 1956, read with General circular 8/2014 dated April 4, 2014 issued by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs. The financial statements have been prepared on an accrual basis and under the historical cost convention. The accounting policies adopted in the preparation of financial statements are consistent with those used in the previous year.

b) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Indian GAAP requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of revenues, expenses, assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent liabilities, at the end of the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on the management's best knowledge of current events and actions, uncertainty about these assumptions and estimates could result in the outcomes requiring a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets or liabilities in future periods.

c) Tangible fixed assets

Fixed assets, are stated at cost, net of accumulated depreciation and impairment losses, if any. The cost comprises purchase price, borrowing costs if capitalization criteria are met and directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for the intended use.

Subsequent expenditure related to an item of fixed asset is added to its book value only if it increases the future benefits from the existing asset beyond its previously assessed standard of performance. All other expenses on existing fixed assets, including day-to-day repair and maintenance expenditure and cost of replacing parts, are charged to the statement of profit and loss for the period during which such expenses are incurred.

Gains or losses arising from de-recognition of fixed assets are measured as the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset and are recognized in the statement of profit and loss when the asset is de-recognized.

Fixed assets acquired but not put to use as at the balance sheet date are classified as Capital work-in-progress. Advances paid towards acquisition of fixed assets are disclosed under capital advances.

d) Depreciation on tangible fixed assets

Depreciation on fixed assets is calculated on a straight-line basis using the rates arrived at based on the useful lives estimated by the management, or those prescribed under the Schedule XIV to the Companies Act, 1956, whichever is higher. The Company has used the following rates to provide depreciation on its tangible fixed assets.

Particulars	Rate of depreciation
Buildings	1.63% - 3.34%
Plant & Machinery	4.75% - 25.00%
Furniture and fixtures	6.33%
Vehicles	16.67%
Leasehold Land	Over the period of the lease. (99 years)

All fixed assets individually costing Rs 5,000 or less are fully depreciated in the year of purchase.

e) Intangible fixed assets and amortisation

Intangible assets are stated at cost of acquisition. The intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortization and impairment losses, if any.

A summary of amortization policies applied to the Company's intangible assets is as below:

Technical know-how fees and computer software are amortized on a straight-line basis over a period of 6 years and 4 years respectively.

f) Impairment of tangible and intangible fixed assets

The Company assesses at each reporting date whether there is an indication that an asset may be impaired. If any indication exists, or when annual impairment testing for an asset is required, the Company estimates the asset's recoverable amount. An asset's recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's or cash-generating unit's (CGU) net selling price and its value in use. The recoverable amount is determined for an individual asset, unless the asset does not generate cash inflows that are largely independent of those from other assets or groups of assets. Where the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount, the asset is considered impaired and is written down to its recoverable amount. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining net selling price, recent market transactions are taken into account, if available. If no such transactions can be identified, an appropriate valuation model is used.

The Company bases its impairment calculation on detailed budgets and forecast calculations which are prepared separately for each of the company's cash-generating units to which the individual assets are allocated. These budgets and forecast calculations are generally covering a period of five years. For longer periods, a long term growth rate is calculated and applied to project future cash flows after the fifth year.

Impairment losses including impairment on inventories, are recognized in the statement of profit and loss. After impairment, depreciation is provided on the revised carrying amount of the asset over its remaining useful life.

An assessment is made at each reporting date as to whether there is any indication that previously recognized impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased. If such indication exists, the Company estimates the asset's or cash-generating unit's recoverable amount. A previously recognized impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognized. The reversal is limited so that the carrying amount of the asset does not exceed its recoverable amount, nor exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation, had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognized in the statement of profit and loss unless the asset is carried at a revalued amount, in which case the reversal is treated as a revaluation increase.

g) Operating lease

Leases, where the lessor effectively retains substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the lease term, are classified as operating leases. Operating lease payments are recognized as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Initial direct costs incurred specifically for an operating lease are deferred and charged to the Statement of profit and loss over the lease term.

h) Investments

Investments which are readily realisable and intended to be held for not more than a year from the date on which such investments are made classified as current investments. All other investments are classified as non current investments.

On initial recognition, all investments are measured at cost. The cost comprises purchase price and directly attributable acquisition charges such as brokerage, fees and duties. Current investments are carried in the financial statements at lower of cost and fair value determined on an individual investment basis. Long-term investments are carried at cost. However, provision for diminution in value is made to recognize a decline other than temporary in the value of the investments.

On disposal of an investment, the difference between its carrying amount and net disposal proceeds is charged or credited to the statement of profit and loss.

i) Inventories

Raw materials, components and stores and spares are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost of raw materials, components and stores and spares is determined on a first in first out basis.

Work-in-progress and finished goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes direct materials and labour and a proportion of manufacturing overheads based on normal operating capacity. Cost of finished goods includes excise duty. Cost is determined on a first in first out basis.

Traded goods are valued at lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost includes cost of purchase and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Cost is determined on a first in first out basis.

Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

j) Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized to the extent that it is probable that the economic benefits will flow to the Company and the revenue can be reliably measured. The following specific recognition criteria must also be met before revenue is recognized:

Sale of goods:

Revenue from sale of goods is recognized when all the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have been passed to the buyer, usually on delivery of the goods. The company collects sales taxes and value added taxes (VAT) on behalf of the government and, therefore, these are not economic benefits flowing to the Company. Hence, they are excluded from revenue. Excise duty deducted from revenue (gross) is the amount that is included in the revenue (gross) and not the entire amount of liability arising during the year.

Income from services:

Incomes from services are recognised on the basis of cost-plus method in accordance with the specific terms of the contract with the customer.

Interest

Interest income is recognized on a time proportion basis taking into account the amount outstanding and the applicable interest rate. Interest income is included under the head "other income" in the statement of profit and loss.

Dividend

Dividend income is recognized when the company's right to receive dividend is established by the reporting date.

Export Benefits

Export Benefits are recognised on export of products / on availment of benefits, as applicable.

k) Foreign exchange transactions

Initial recognition

Foreign currency transactions are recorded in the reporting currency, by applying to the foreign currency amount, the exchange rate between the reporting currency and the foreign currency at the date of the transaction.

Conversion

Foreign currency monetary items are reported using the exchange rate prevailing at the reporting date. Non-monetary items, which are measured in terms of historical cost denominated in a foreign currency, are reported using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction. Non-monetary items, which are measured at fair value or other similar valuation denominated in a foreign currency, are translated using the exchange rate at the date when such value was determined.

Exchange differences

All exchange differences arising on settlement / conversion of foreign currency transactions are recognized as income or expenses in the period in which they arise.

l) Retirement and other employee benefits

Retirement benefit in the form of provident fund and pension (contribution scheme) is a defined contribution scheme. The Company has no obligation, other than the contribution payable to the provident fund. The Company recognizes contribution payable to the provident fund scheme and pension scheme as expenditure, when an employ renders the related service. If the contribution payable to the scheme for service received before the balance sheet date exceeds the contribution already paid, the deficit payable to the scheme is recognized as a liability after deducting the contribution already paid. If the contribution already paid exceeds the contribution due for services received before the balance sheet date, then excess is recognized as an asset to the extent that the pre-payment will lead to, for example, a reduction in future payment or a cash refund.

The Company operates two defined benefit plans for its employees, viz., gratuity and pension. The costs of providing benefits under these plans are determined on the basis of actuarial valuation at each year-end. Separate actuarial valuation is carried out for each plan using the projected unit credit method. Actuarial gains and losses for both defined benefit plans are recognized in full in the period in which they occur in the statement of profit and loss. The Company has funded this with Life Insurance Corporation of India ('LIC').

Accumulated leave, which is expected to be utilized within the next 12 months, is treated as short-term employee benefit. The Company measures the expected cost of such absences as the additional amount that it expects to pay as a result of the unused entitlement that has accumulated at the reporting date.

The Company treats accumulated leave expected to be carried forward beyond twelve months, as the long-term employee benefits for measurement purposes. Such long-term compensated absences or provided for based on the actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method at the period-end. Actuarial gains/losses or immediately taken to the statement of profit and loss and or not deferred. The Company presents the leave as a current liability in the balance sheet, to the extent it does not have and unconditional rights to deferred its settlement for 12 months after the reporting date. Where Company has the unconditional legal and contractual right to defer the settlement for a period beyond 12 months, the same is presented as non-current liability.

Expenses incurred towards voluntary retirement scheme are charged to the statement of profit and loss immediately

m) Income taxes

Tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current income-tax is measured at the amount expected to be paid to the tax authorities in accordance with the Income-tax Act, 1961 enacted in India. Deferred income taxes reflect the impact of timing differences between taxable income and accounting income originating during the current year and reversal of timing differences for the earlier years. Deferred tax is measured using the tax rates and the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognized for all taxable timing differences. Deferred tax assets are recognized for deductible timing differences only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized. In situations where the company has unabsorbed depreciation or carry forward tax losses, all deferred tax assets are recognized only if there is virtual certainty supported by convincing evidence that they can be realized against future taxable profits.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset, if a legally enforceable right exists to set-off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred tax assets and deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

At each reporting date, the Company re-assesses unrecognized deferred tax assets. It recognizes unrecognized deferred tax asset to the extent that it has become reasonably certain or virtually certain, as the case may be, that sufficient future taxable income will be available against which such deferred tax assets can be realized.

n) Contingent liabilities

A contingent liability is a possible obligation that arises from past events whose existence will be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events beyond the control of the Company or a present obligation that is not recognized because it is not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation. A contingent liability also arises in extremely rare cases where there is a liability that cannot be recognized because it cannot be measured reliably. The Company does not recognize a contingent liability but discloses its existence in the financial statements.

o) Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share are calculated by dividing the net profit or loss for the period attributable to equity shareholders by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the period.

For the purpose of calculating diluted earnings per share, the net profit or loss for the year attributable to equity shareholders and the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period are adjusted for the effect of all dilutive potential equity shares.

p) Provisions

A provision is recognised when an enterprise has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. Provisions are not discounted to its present value and are determined based on best estimate required to settle the obligation at the balance sheet date. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

Warranties

Provisions for warranty-related costs are recognized when the product is sold. Provision is based on historical experience. The estimate of such warranty-related costs is revised annually.

q) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents for the purposes of cash flow statement comprise cash at bank and in hand and short-term investments with an original maturity of three months or less.

r) Segment reporting

The Company's operating businesses are organized and managed separately according to the nature of products and services provided, with each segment representing a strategic business unit that offers different products and serves different markets. The analysis of geographical segments is based on the areas in which major operating divisions of the Company operate. Common allocable costs are allocated to each segment according to the relative contribution of each segment to the total common costs. Unallocated items include general corporate income and expense items which are not allocated to any business segment.

The Company prepares its segment information in conformity with the accounting policies adopted for preparing and presenting the financial statements of the Company as a whole.
